No League, Thanks Be.
Remember the Kellogg Pact?
Russia's Jewish State.
The Prince Likes Beer.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

WITH a war apparently starting between China and Russia, this country may congratulate itself on being out of the League of Nations.

The League will not be able to tell us what part we must play in war, what men and money we must supply.

The League may even hesitate about establishing a blockade against American goods. If we were in the League, we should be expected to acquiesce in that arrangement as a matter of course.

THIS nation has no diplomatic relations with Russia.

Russians and Chinese have been our friends in the past. Russia has proved her friendship practically.

But because foolish boy bankers in Wall Street bought bonds from the Czar and Kerensky, when a baby might have known better, and because new Russia won't pay, our government refuses to recognize the Russian government. We ought to be offering our services as peacemakers. Having no diplomatic relations with Russia we must keep out.

A war between China and Russia would be bitter.

China announces her intention of stopping Russian propaganda in China, and wiping out Russian Communist theories. That, not the railway seizure, caused the Russian outbreak.

If Russia conquers China, which is entirely probable, and Communism is forced upon China, there is no knowing what chaos may be produced in that country, not suited to Bolshevist experiment.

REMEMBER the Kellogg pact, beautiful document, that was to prevent war? Russia and China both signed that Kellogg pact. Now watch how beautifully it does not work.

To prevent wars between nations, Britain and the United States, with the co-operation of other nations if possible, should make themselves so powerful in the air and under water, that nations preparing to fight would obey orders when told not to fight.

A POLICEMAN can stop fights between boys or men, because they know that the policeman has a club and a revolver.

He couldn't stop the fight by pulling out any beautiful peace pact, or pink paper, or by reciting, "Let dogs delight to bark and bite."

RUSSIA plans a great independent Jewish state in Siberia, on the banks of the Amur River, to be known as the "Jewish Soviet Socialistic Republic." The state will use its own language, laws and customs, with substantial financial help from Moscow.

THAT proposed state is on fertile, beautiful land in Siberia, not the Siberia of moving pictures and the novels, it is bigger than France, about as big as Texas, with great agricultural and mining possibilities.

That "made to order nation" might prove more powerful and prosperous than the attempt now making in Palestine.

THE Prince of Wales drank a glass of beer to the health of 200 workmen who wished him good luck when he opened the London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine in Goal street.

The Prince, who wished them "good luck" in return, is genuinely democratic, and may inherit a taste for beer.

An earlier Prince of Wales, in Shakespeare's "Henry IV," asks: "Doth it now show vilely in me to desire small beer?"

IT was Rockefeller money, by the way, $2,000,000 of it, that made possible that fine health building in London.

BRITISH "Shell" Oil Company, powerful enough to compete even with the Rockefellers, begins a selling campaign in New York right under the nose of Standard Oil. It starts with a heavy advertising campaign, which will not break the hearts of newspaper publishers.

Britain's plan, if they can get American money in no other way, to come here and get it, seems intelligent.

THE convention of governors declined Mr. Wickersham's invitation to concentrate on prohibition and divide enforcement with the Federal government.

The governors feel that if the United States and its President can attend to prohibition, to the exclusion of almost all other public business, the governors of the states should occupy themselves with other important matters.

THE prohibition question, barring drastic legislation, will remain for years and probably generations a permanent sore spot.

Bootlegging, distilling, speakeasies will continue financing organized crime and official bribery to the tune of hundreds of millions a year. All the talking, all the commissions won't end that. The country may as well become reconciled to it, while modern business, like a man who knows that he has an inoperable cancer, does the best it can under the circumstances.

BRITAIN intends to discontinue regulating automobile speed except for trucks, which will be limited to twenty miles an hour. The new law will say "go as fast as you like" and punish you severely for reckless driving and any mistake harmful to others.

France permits you to go as fast you please, except in towns and villages. But if you hurt anybody, you go to jail.

THE Canners League of California, Preston McKinney, vice president, has arranged with peach growers to pay $80 a ton for peaches, and has contracted for

HOME RUN KING OUT OF GAME INDEFINITELY

Slugger Pulls Muscle in Leg; Huggins Worried, Refuses To Admit Star Is Through

International News Service.

CLEVELAND, O., July 20.—Babe Ruth, famous home run slugger, who pulled a muscle in his leg during a game at Detroit last Wednesday, will be out of the New York lineup for the remainder of the Yankee-Indian series, and perhaps indefinitely, Miller Huggins, Yankee pilot, revealed today.

The Babe was forced to retire from yesterday's game between the Yanks and Indians when, for the second time this week he pulled his left leg muscle, causing him to limp preceptibly.

Although Huggins expressed concern over the Babes' condition, he refused to predict that his ace home run hitter was at the end of his rope as far as his playing career was concerend.

MELILLO ALSO OUT

ST. LOUIS, July 20.—(AP.)—Oscar Melillo, second baseman for the St. Louis Browns was injured in batting practice before yesterday's game with Washington and it was announced he will be out for the game probably for two weeks. One of Chad Kimsey's fast balls struck Melillo's right hand and split the little finger.

PIRATES FACING BIG TEST

NEW YORK, July 20.—First place is at stake for the Pirates today as they go to battle with the Giants in an eventful doubleheader. The Cubs and the Robins also are scheduled to play two games in Brooklyn, the Pirates leading the Bruins by one game before the fun commences.

Burleigh Grimes is ready to fling one of the games in the interest of the Buccos, despite his short rest period. Heinie Meine will get the slab ticket in the other game.

The Bushwhackers wil go into action again without the services of Pie Traynor, clever captain, who is back in Pittsburgh nursing his ailments. The departure of Pie was a heavy blow to the Pittsburgh players, but they are determined to carry on in a fighting manner.

Harvey Firestone Pneumonia Victim

PLEAS OF WIFE CITED IN SUIT FOR DIVORCE

Brookline Husband Charges Drink Parties and Abuse Forced Him to Leave Mate

A letter asking her husband's forgiveness is part of a bill of particulars in the divorce suit filed in Common Pleas Court by Eugene J. Driscoll, 721 Woodbourne avenue, Brookline, against Mrs. Lucille Driscoll, 2904 Knowlson avenue, Pittsburgh.

The husband says he was compelled to leave his wife last March 30 because she drank continually and went out with an unnamed building contractor. He says she frequently called him vile names and said she hated him "worse than a snake."

TALKED IN SLEEP, CLAIM

Once, he said, the doorbell rang at 3 a. m. and he found his wife on the porch so intoxicated that she fell into the living room when he opened the door. She was ill for two days, he says, and kept calling for "Jack" in her sleep. He says she told him he was kidding himself if he thought his money was keeping her, and said she could get all the money she wanted.

The following is part of the letter he says she wrote after he left her:

"My Darling Sweetheart:"

"I'd give anything if we were back in the little house on the hill together. It is terribly lonely for me and I think of you all the time. I don't ask you to believe me, Gene, but I love you from the bottom of my heart. I would like to ask for forgiveness, but I know you never will. Mary Norma saw a coupe like yours and said 'there is my daddy's car, mother.' She wants to know when her daddy is coming home.

"LIFE WRECKED"

"My life is wrecked and I wish I were dead. Men are going home to their wives as I write here by the window, but I have no one coming home to me. Gene, forgive me and write me a letter and tell me what to do and how to do it.

"Your sweetheart, LUCILLE."

After Driscoll had filed his suit, the wife petitioned for alimony and counsel fees, claiming that her husband makes $300 a month. Judge Frank P. Patterson made an order on him to pay $25 counsel fees and $10 a week for his wife's support pending trial of the divorce suit.

DENIES SHE'LL WED SALM

BADEN, Germany, July 20.—(INS.)—Mrs. H. H. Rogers, who was recently divorced from her multimillionaire New York husband by the Dutch courts at Utrecht, today indignantly denied a report that she might marry her former son-in-law, Count Salm Von Hoogstraeten.

"That is stupid," said Mrs. Rogers. "In fact, it's hardly worth denying."

A similar denial was recently issued in London by Count Salm, the divorced husband of Millicent Rogers, daughter of Mrs. H. H. Rogers.

MOTHER BURNS BOY'S HANDS

UNIONTOWN, Pa., July 20.—Alleged to have attempted to cure her 7-year-old son, Matthew, of thievery by holding his hand over a gas fire until his shrieks could be heard by the neighbors, Mrs. Caroline Paletta, of Mill street, arraigned today before Alderman Matt Allen, was given her choice of 30 days in jail or paying a fine of $25 and costs. She paid the fine and costs.

Complaints had been made to Humane Officer Walter Brown by neighbors. Mrs. Paletta is said to have admitted the act, saying it was the only sure way of curing the theft habit.

King Progresses, Report in London

SLAYERS BLAME 'HEX EVIL EYE'

KALAMAZOO, Mich., July 20.—(INS.)—Professing a horror of witchcraft, Eugene Burgess, 53, and his wife, Pearl, in custody for the "hex" hammer murder of Mrs. Etta L. Fairchild, 76, today clung to their ingenuous explanation that they were compelled to kill the aged widow "because she was putting a spell on all of us with her evil eye."

Burgess admitted, according to statements authorities said were obtained from him and his wife, that he beat Mrs. Fairchild on the head with a hammer as she sat at a table after having had supper with them.

"Yes, I killed her," Burgess said calmly to Chief of Police Carney. "It had to be done. She could kill anyone with a look. She could give you any kind of disease with her evil eye. Why, she has killed more than a hundred people, including her husband."

TELLS OF KILLING

Mrs. Burgess declared that Mrs. Fairchild was "beginning to kill Mr. Burgess."

"She was working on him,"

Mrs. Berger remained at his bedside and read newspapers to him.

BOTH ARMIES MASSED ON BORDER

International News Service.

Hope that war between Soviet Russia and China will be averted by "Peace Steps" undertaken in concert by the United States, England and France, has been greatly strengthened during the past 24 hours, according to prevailing belief in Washington, Paris and London today.

Official denial was issued in Moscow of the unconfirmed press report that Soviet troops had crossed the Manchurian frontier and seized the Manchurian towns of Manchuli and Pogranitchnaya.

ARMIES MASS AT BORDER

According to the latest cable and radio dispatches of International News Service, powerful Soviet and Chinese armies have been massed along the Siberian-Manchurian frontiers, but that there has been no fighting at any point.

Soviet airmen in military planes are patrolling long stretches of the Manchurian border.

It is reported by International News Service that many civilians have fled from sections of western and northern Manchuria where troop movements had indicated the possibility of future fighting.

Japan has adopted a policy of "watchful waiting."

CHINA AFFIRMS PACT

SHANGHAI, July 20.—(AP.)—China has not forgotten the Kellogg anti-war pact to which it is signatory, C. T. Wang, foreign minister of the Chinese republic, said today. He added, however, "any move on the part of the Soviet to place troops within Manchuria will be viewed by the Chinese people and government as an act of war."

The foreign minister, who left at 1 p. m. for Nanking to confer with President Chiang Kai Shek, declared:

"The situation is serious. However, it is not to be interpreted that we have abandoned hope for a peaceful settlement.

"China does not desire to invade Russian territory, however. She has been forced to take precautionary measures as the attitude and intentions of the Soviet have not yet been clearly indicated, despite the fact the Soviet is a signatory to the Kellogg pact as well as China."

Lucky Bucks—New Money for Old

By ONE BUCK.

"Whoof! Folks, I'se tired—what I mean. But virtue, etc., is always rewarded, and I've gotten my reward today, all right.

In comes Manuel Lazear, triumphant, with Lucky Buck No. A61147935E. I bought some soap from him in a Wilkinsburg drug store only last Monday—remember? I told you about him—and he had the wisdom to hang on to that there bill until today, when he had time to come in and pick 'em up. It did my heart good to see this fine young man paid for his watchfulness, folks.

But—here's a funny one. Eight days ago by the clock, I scattered Fortunate Simoleon No. R69318923B way out in McKeesport. Now I liked that bill—something about it made me want it back. Did it come? It did. Today it strayed home to papa in the claws of Harry Ancel, 1325 Forbes street.

Ancel, it seems, runs a news stand at Fifth and Liberty. Some unknown gent drags it in to Ancel and buys a Sun-Telegraph; Ancel brings it to me, and I adds it to my great big happy family of returned bucks.

The family's getting big—six yesterday and five Thursday. Miss Isabel Stevenson, 15, almost saw one of my now-famous Lucky Bucks pass out of her life. She wisely decided, however, to check her dough with the numbers in the Sun-Telegraph.

Well, folks, she checked it and collected. Isabel lives in Verona—216 W. Railroad avenue—and received the money from her grandfather, for whom she was to pay a bill. She splits with him.

Anna K Gray, 406 North Graham street, returned home last night with four bucks in bills. Her mother told her to tally them with those in the Sun-Telegraph. She did, and thanks me because she now has 24 rocks.

Anna is lucky, and her mother is wise—a good combination anywhere, folks.

Then there's Jim Marino, 582 Brushton avenue, just found one of these Elusive Suskins in his breeches pocket.

Martha Schwenning is another fortunate person. Lucky Buck No. A59023655E added to her joy of life yesterday.

By the way, friends, some of you hotel and telephone people wanta watch these smackers' numbers. You'll be caught napping, if you don't watch out.

TAX CUT HOPES HIT BY MOUNTING FEDERAL COSTS

BUDGET NEAR 4 BILLION MARK

Survey Shows Huge Rise In Sums Paid from Normal Receipts; Navy May Cut

WASHINGTON, July 20.—(AP.)—Political observers today regarded the result of a White House investigation of probable increases in government expenditures during the next four years as practically blotting out any likelihood of an early recommendation from the administration for further tax reduction.

The estimates submitted to the White House by the various government agencies after a study of congressional appropriations and other mandatory obligations indicate an increase of approximately $300,000,000 in that period, with additional expenditures authorized for the Army and Navy, public works, postal deficit and farm relief accounting for much of the rise.

PASS FOUR BILLIONS

If it materializes, the increase is expected to raise the total of government expenditures out of ordinary receipts above the $4,000,000,000 level for the first time since the relaxation of heavy war expenses. The total reached $3,848,463,189 in the last fiscal year, and the increase for the current year is estimated at $91,800,000.

The estimates leading to the 300,000,000 increase figure include $150,000,000 for farm relief, and $139,800,000 for the army, Navy, public works and postal deficit. Extension of aviation activities, new cruiser construction and capital ship replacements provide the basis for the prospective increase charged to the Navy, but this is subject to a decrease in the event of a naval reduction agreement.

AVIATION DEMANDS

Aviation expansion also figures in the Army increase estimates, together with rebuilding of quarters, while the rise in postal deficits, threatening to continue, is attributed to lower rates, increased wages and decreased hours of employment.

While there is hope that the increase indicated for the Navy may be cut down through international agreements, the opposite is true with respect to public works expenditures, which include rivers and harbors improvements, flood control, Boulder Canyon dam construction, the public building program and public roads.

explained the mate. "She was starting to make his heart beat fast.

"He had to kill her or be killed. She threatened to kill us all if we didn't let her come and live with us."

After he knocked her unconscious with a hammer blow, dealt when he crept up behind her as she sat at the dinner table, Burgess, according to his story, dragged the widow into the parlor and "finished her with the hammer and a piece of lead pipe."

BODY FOUND IN CISTERN

Mrs. Fairchild, a widow for more than 20 years, was a resident of an institution for the aged near the Burgess home. She was a frequent visitor at the Burgess house, but never was welcomed, neighbors said.

The body, wropped in a rug and weighted with the hammer, a length of lead pipe and a block of cement, was found in a cistern at the rear of the Burgess residence.

Police also are holding Burgess' son and daughter, Bennett, 27, who is married, and Eugenia, 17.

Mrs. Burgess declared that Mrs. Fairchild had cast an evil spell upon Eugenia, making her ill.

The Fairchild widow was described by friends as devoutly religious and a firm believer in faith healing. But, they insisted, she never pretended to possess psychic or supernatural powers.

ALASKA FLIER LOSING TIME

NEW YORK, July 20.—(AP.)—Captain Ross G. Hoyt informed army officials here that he would resume his New York-Alaska round trip flight today from Vanderhoff, B. C. where he made a forced landing.

He left Mitchel Field, N. Y., at 2:38 p. m. eastern daylight time, Thursday in an attempt to fly the total 8,469 miles to Nome, Alaska, and return in 75 hours and 40 minutes elapsed time.

A telegraph from Captain Hoyt yesterday said he had been forced to land at Vanderhoff because of a fuel shortage created by headwinds.

His landing interrupted a flight from Edmonton, Alberta, to White Horse, Yukon, a distance of 1,090 miles. Vanderhoff is less than half way from Edmonton to White Horse.

The layover at Vanderhoff will add about 12 hours to the elapsed time unless he succeeds in flying ahead of schedule on the return flight. The schedule called for four one-hour refueling stops each way and a six-hour layover at Nome, with a total of 61 hours 40 minutes in the air.

The reference in this column was to growers and canners in southern California who have not yet agreed on a price for the crop.

BRITAIN PLANS TO QUIT RHINE

LONDON, July 20.—(INS.)—Although no definite decision upon Allied evacuation of the Rhineland will be taken until after the second reparation conference next month, the British war office has completed plans for the withdrawal of the British occupational forces, it was learned today. This conference will discuss the political aspects of the reparation settlement effected in Paris.

All the war office plans for evacuation have been drawn up, whether it be speedy or gradual. It warns the Cabinet that there are many questions of compensation to be cleared up and that a speedy exit would leave endless claims to be settled with the utmost difficulty afterwards.

In all probability the decision of the cabinet will be that evacuation shall begin and proceed gradually about the middle of September. But even this outcome is liable to change in the event of the French agreeing to fall in with the British views on the final settlement of reparations.

POWERS PRESS CHINO-RUSS PEACE MOVE

United States Secretary of State Stimson to remind the Moscow government of its duties as a signatory of the Kellogg anti-war pact.

"Unless the Chinese government commits a war like act we shall stand loyally by the pact," he said.

M. Rudzutak said:

"Despite China's present provocative attitude, her violation of the treaty vesting equal control of the Chinese Eastern Railway in us, and her repeated invasions of the rights of Soviet citizens, we shall not take any military action against her unless China invades our territory and forces us to take defensive measures.

"When we solemnly signed the Kellogg pact, it was not a gesture. We believe intensely in peace. The Kellogg pact is one of the best means of enforcing it. Mr. Stimson need not remind us of our adherence to that pact."

RUSS CROSS BORDER

SHANGHAI, July 20.—(AP.)—French consular authorities here today stated they had received an official report from the French consul at Harbin, Manchuria, that Russian troops had crossed the Manchurian border at the eastern end of the Chinese Eastern Railway.

STIMSON GOES TO CAPITAL

LURAY, Va., July 20.—(INS.)—Secretary of State Stimson hurriedly left President Hoover's mountain camp on the Rapid River near here today for Washington because of the crisis between China and Russia over seizure by the Chinese government of the Chinese Eastern Railway.

Stimson was in conference with President Hoover for quite awhile last night and he decided that it would be best for him to be at his desk to take care of any matter that may develop from his proposal yesterday to Great Britain, France and Japan to co-operate with the American government in an attempt to have the two disgruntled nations peacefully settle their controversy.

League Powerless; Russia Not Member

PARIS, July 20.—(AP.)—European chancelleries and League of Nations circles today watched the Chinese-Russian crisis with keen anxiety, alleviated with the knowledge Aristide Briand and the U. S. Secretary of State Stimson, successor to Frank B. Kellogg, apostles of world peace, had the matter in hand.

Hope grew that the exertions of M. Briand and Col. Stimson would succeed in preventing the two countries resorting to war.

The League of Nations held itself in readiness to do anything possible for the sake of peace, but for it the situation was delicate, China alone being a member of the Geneva organization.

League officials apparently still believed time for automatic intervention had not arrived, and that any immediate action looking for League investigation would have to come from either China or Japan.

SOVIET RECOGNITION

WASHINGTON, July 20.—(INS.)—A new campaign for American recognition of the Soviet republic will be started in Congress as the result of the action of Russia in indicating her intention to abide by the Kellogg-Briand peace pact and the State Department's appeal to both Russia and China to maintain peace in the Far East, it was predicted today.

WILL FORGERY CHARGED

Witnesses' signatures to a will purporting to have been executed in Baltimore, Md., will be questioned as forgeries when the case of the two wills of Christ H. Wisser, wealthy McKeesport business man, is resumed in Orphans Court Monday.

The Baltimore instrument has been declared by a handwriting expert to bear the forged signature of the testator, and revelations of collusion have been hinted at in the testimony to be offered next week.

Wisser's $350,000 estate was halted in its distribution under the will, offered by Attorney W. F. Petty and ordered to be probated, when a second will, said to have been written in Baltimore and signed there by Wisser, was brought forth by a Baltimore attorney. The handwriting expert also declared the signatures of the two witnesses had been written by the same person. The case was adjourned until Monday, after several hours were spent yesterday in arguing legal points in the case.

U. S. LEGION DRAWN INTO DEBT TILT

French Deputy Defends Vets In Fight for Approval of Pact; Action Tonight Seen

By FREDERIC K. ABBOTT
International News Service.

PARIS, July 20.—The American Legion was dragged into the debate on Franco-American war debt ratification in the Chamber of Deputies today.

The violent battle between the reservationist and anti-reservation factions is expected to come to an end some time tonight with a vote upon the ratification measure.

During the discussions Deputy Planche declared that the International Combatants Congress in Warsaw in 1926 adopted resolutions that war debts were a matter of justice and therefore open to dispute if found unjust.

DEFENDS LEGION

"The American Legion, however, never adopted that resolution," cried Deputy Marcel Heraud, of Paris, leaping to his feet and pounding his desk for emphasis. "Their constitution forbids their mixing in politics. But every member of the American Legion is a good friend of France. They are the best ambassadors of the French cause. They are the only Americans who really understand us.

"I refuse to sit in the chamber and hear this fine body of men slandered."

The chamber after a night session, adjourned until 2 o'clock this afternoon It is expected to sit until 7:30, then take a recess until 9:30.

Adherents of the anti-reservationist faction were confident Premier Poincare will be victorious in his demand that the Mellon-Berenger war debt agreement would be ratified by the chamber, but that reservations would not be written into the text of the ratification measure.

It is anticipated there will be reservations, but that they will be adopted separately and independently and not made a part of the bill ratifying the war debt accord.

CHARGE POINCARE FEINT

The reservationists wanted conditions written into the war debt agreement specifying that France would pay to the United States only so long as Germany paid reparations to France.

Doctors attending Premier Poincare declared his condition is satisfactory, but that he needs a rest. They were unable to say when they would permit the Premier to appear in the chamber. He has been suffering from exhaustion.

Poincare's political enemies, who have been making the debt ratification issue a vehicle for their enmity, circulated gossip that the Premier was not really sick but "was afraid to face the music on the floor of the chamber."

'Abandoned' Field Has Gas Producer

DryLaw Ruins Dance, Dean Of Masters Declares

Dancing lost much of its grace and refinement with the advent of prohibition and hip flasks.

That is the viewpoint of the oldest active dancing master in America, Fred W. Kehl, of Coral Gables, Fla., "daddy" to members of the Dancing Masters of America, who will open a four-week normal school, of which he is principal, in Webster Hall on Monday morning.

"Prohibition certainly has injured dancing to a certain degree," Kehl said today. "I conducted public dances for 40 years. Then it was possible to refuse admission to any person who appeared to have indulged in liquor. With the hip flask, objectionable actions begin after the dancer has been in the ballrooom long enough to use part of the flask. The class of attendance has changed accordingly, and this class has forgotten the grace and refinement of dancing. I gave up this endeavor 10 years ago, because I admire the dance too much to see it abused."

"Daddy" Kehl, who has taught dancing for 50 years, introduced a new version to the barn dance in 1906, using the scottische for the basis. Previous to that, he had given teachers an American folk dance. This year he will introduce a college step for the fox trot.

Mr. Kehl has attended every convention for 37 years and has served his organization in every office.

MOON ROCKET INVENTOR SEIZED FOR BLACKMAIL PLOT

ARREST ENDS STUDENT'S DREAMS

Tried to Extort $15,000 From Woman to Finance His Scheme, Police Charge

International News Service.

LANCASTER, Pa., July 20.—"To avoid destruction of the pool: Procure 10 $100 bills and 10 $50 bills. Place them with this note in an envelope. Seal it. Be on the trolley platform between 15 minutes past 10 and 15 minutes of 11 Friday morning. Give the envelope to a messenger. . . This is, to put it plainly, blackmail."

A sordid, commonplace blackmail plot? So police believed until, digging beneath the surface today, they uncovered an amazing story of heartbreaking effort on the part of a 19-year-old college boy embryo scientist to build a rocket that would take him to the moon—an effort that seemed destined never to be completed—until, in the very nadirs of black despair, he hit upon a blackmail plot to procure the necessary finances for his scientific expedition.

STUDENT IN JAIL

And, because the plot failed, Thomas Mitchell, a student at Franklin and Marshall College, was in jail here today, bitterly contemplating the wreckage of his shattered dreams of fame and scientific achievement.

Mitchell freely confessed, police said, to sending the anonymous letter to Mrs. H. B. Griffiths, wealthy owner of Rocky Springs Park, an amusement park near here, in which he threatened to blow up the swimming pool if the $1,500 was not forthcoming.

The plot was frustrated when a youth, whose identity police refuse to disclose because they believe him innocent of any complicity in the blackmail scheme, met Mrs. Griffiths at the trolley station and asked for an envelope which, he said, was to be delivered to him. Police took the youth into custody and obtained from him the name of Mitchell as his employer.

WORKED FOR TWO YEARS

Mitchell has been trying to construct a rocket to reach the lunar planet for two years, police say. Once he narrowly escaped death when chemicals exploded as he was trying to concoct a formula for motive power.

"Mitchell's rocket" — ironically compared by Mitchell with "Fulton's folly"—is 150 feet in length, cylindrical in shape and has a gently blunted nose. Four power discs, each containing eight combustion cylinders, were to be attached to the sides of the rocket. The discs would provide the motive power to reach the moon, and then be thrown into reverse to retard the speed so that the rocket would not collide with the planet.

DRY RAIDERS NAB SEVEN

Federal agents and police raided six buildings last night, arrested seven persons and confiscated a large quantity of illegal liquors, they reported.

A 100-gallon still, 1,000 pounds of sugar, 20 barrels of mash and 110 gallons of whisky were reported seized in a garage at 1609 Bedford avenue, and Thomas J. Rosa was arrested.

Sixteen gallons of malt and 1,487 pints of beer were reported found in a garage in the rear of 6526 Deary street. No one was in the place at the time.

In a raid on a house at 151 Elma street, the agents said they found 60 half-pint bottles of moonshine, and arrested George Murray and Albert J. Reddinger. In a raid on a restaurant at 2137 Elmore street they arrested Thomas Montgomery and Solomon Mosby, and confiscated a gallon of moonshine; they said. Louis Volpe was arrested when the agents raided a house at 136 Middle street. The agents said they found 56 barrels of mash and four gallons of moonshine.

Four North Siders were held for court on charges of violating the Snyder Act, in North Side Police Court. Police testified they found stills or booze in the places. The four were Same Luca, of 1016 Pennsylvania avenue; Eugene Davis, of 206 West Ohio street; Sam Bolana, of 18 Hamilton street, and Peter Kinas, of 2844 Preble avenue.

SHIP, MISSING, SEEN ADRIFT

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—(INS.)—A curtain of mystery that has hidden the fate of the Danish training ship Kobenhavn since last December lifted for a moment today. From the bleak Antarctic word came to San Francisco by radio that the wreck of the missing five-master, largest sailing ship in the world, had been seen drifting past the desolate Island of Tristan da Cunha.

But whether the 45 cadets aboard the Kobenhavn and the 15 members of the crew escaped or perished was not told.

Inhabitants of the island, southwest of the southern tip of Africa, reported that on January 21, a month after the Kobenhavn disappeared, they saw it drifting, apparently a derelict, with the jigger mast broken off. No sign of life was visible from shore.

PLAN FUNERALS OF BLAST DEAD

While officials of the Aluminum Company of America were cooperating today with federal, state and county officials in investigating the cause of the fatal blast in the Logans Ferry plant Thursday night, plans were made for the funerals of the seven victims of the explosion.

Five injured men are still in the Citizens General Hospital, New Kensington, and it was stated that one is in a critical condition and may die.

DUST CAUSED BLAST

That the explosion was caused by the ignition of dust was definitely determined today. Officials of the operating, engineering and research departments of the Aluminum Company conducting the investigation declared they were anxious to learn every contributing cause in order to guard against similar accidents in the future and to provide against this danger in other plants in course of erection.

At the hospital early today it was said that G. Mauros, of 730 Fourth avenue, New Kensington, was in a critical condition, while the condition of G. M. Scogalis, of 1029 Fourth avenue, and of J. Hronrs, of 411 Tenth street, New Kensington, was reported as serious. All were suffering from burns.

TRIPLE FUNERAL

East Kensington firemen will conduct funeral services tomorrow night for Andrew Kutzman, 60, at the home. He was president of the fire department of that community.

Triple services will be held tomorrow in St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church for Joseph Larios, 30, of 1713 Fourth avenue; Bartolo Lopez, 31, of 969 Second avenue, and G. Gallardo, of the same address, all Spaniards.

CALHOUN FREED ON CHARGE OF LAND FRAUD

Statute of Limitations, Lack of Evidence, Cause Case to Be Dismissed

Charges of false pretense against John C. Calhoun, former superintendent of police here, were dismissed by Justice of the Peace George B. Shields, of Wilkinsburg, last night for lack of evidence and on the ground that the alleged offense came beyond the statute of limitations.

Calhoun, superintendent under the Magee administration, and now chief of police of Hamilton, O., was accused of fraudulently selling 500 acres of Florida land to Thomas Beltz, of 717 North Beatty street. Beltz alleged that Calhoun never had held a deed to the property, situated near Panama City, Bay County, Florida.

ACCEPTS $17,000

E. C. Nordyke, of 723 Ridge avenue, North Side, corroborated Beltz's claim that Calhoun had accepted $17,000 for he land and had given a receipt. He testified he had been unable to find a deed in Calhoun's name in Bay County.

Calhoun exhibited receipts to show that he had held an option on the land and had sold it on that basis, although he did not have a deed. Florida laws were quoted to show that this transaction had been legitimate in that state.

VOUCH FOR CALHOUN

Councilman Robert Alderdice, several city detectives and Harry R. Lean, city commissioner of Panama City, testified that Calhoun had not remained out of Pennsylvania to take advantage of the statute of limitations, as Beltz alleged. They testified that the defendant had been in Pittsburgh several times each year since the transaction.

Mayor Vetoes Sum For Use in Suit Against Him

MILWAUKEE, July 20.—(AP.)—Mayor Daniel Hoan has vetoed a resolution calling for the appropriation of $3,500 to be used in bringing suit against him for $20,000.

The $20,000 represented profits in the sale of Army and Navy food supplies following the World War. The city claims the money on the ground that the city employes were used to operate the market at which the goods were sold.

The resolution is expected to be passed over the mayor's veto.

In the accident, Mrs. Madge Talbert, 38, of 941 Savannah avenue, Wilkinsburg, was seriously injured. Mrs. Talbert is in the Mercy Hospital.

Investigation by state highway patrolmen and Constable Philip Urbani, of Heidelberg, who arrested drivers of two trucks which figured in the crash, showed that Mrs. Miller's car, a small roadster, was wedged between one of the trucks and a pole along the side of the road. The crash occurred about 100 yards from a short curve out of which the trucks, one towing the other, were just emerging. Mrs. Miller's car struck the second truck.

George P. Gardner, 22, and George Langland, 20, both of Washington, drivers, were held under bond pending the coroner's inquest.

Mrs. Miller was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Boehm, of Ellenboro, W. Va. Beside her husband and father, she leaves a son, Charles K. Miller, of Dormont; four sisters, Mrs. J. G. Dawson, of Parkersburg, W. Va., Mrs. D. R. Watson, of Butler, Mrs. O. K. Wigner, of Ellenboro, and Mrs. Roy Cain, of Oklahoma, and one brother, Paul Boehm, of Iowa.

Cudahy, Kansas City meat packer, was held for trial in Superior Court on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated. At his preliminary hearing in Municipal Court, Cudahy offered no defense. His young wife, to whom he was married about three weeks ago in Riverside, Cal., sat beside Cudany at counsel table. Before the marriage she was Muriel Evans, screen actress. Cudahy was released on $5,500 bail.

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., July 20.—James Shant, of Koppel, makes the best moonshine in Beaver County.

Ohio Monument To Mark Morgan Raid Site

STEUBENVILLE, O., July 20.—This city, where resided Maj. Daniel McCook and his eight sons, who enlisted in the Civil War, is interested in the bill passed by the Ohio Legislature authorizing $3,000 for erection of a monument at Portland, Meigs County, where 66 years ago—July 20, 1863—Union soldiers prevented Morgan's raiders from escaping via the Ohio River. McCook was fatally wounded in that fight.

ARTILLERYMEN BACK HOME

The One Hundred and Seventh Field Artillery Regiment, of Pittsburgh, returned early today in two trains from Camp Thompson, Mt. Gretna, where it spent two weeks in the annual military maneuvers of the Twenty-eighth Division.

The guardsmen, numbering 900, detrained at the East Liberty station of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and marched to the Armory at Emerson and Alder streets, led by Col. Eric Fisher Wood, commander.

The guardsmen this year were put through some of the most strenuous military programs ever given them, and won considerable praise from regular army men who attended the camp as official observers.

OIL FIRM HEAD DIES IN CRASH

Robert T. Banfield, 56, of 5712 Baum oulevard, president of the Banfield Oil and Grease Company, Union street, Etna, was killed yesterday when his automobile was sideswiped by another car in the William Penn highway, near Burke's Glen, according to a report made to the coroner.

Two nieces of Banfield, Mrs. Lillian Voelker, 33, of 3823 Woolslayer street, and Miss Carrie Saling, of 2040 West Main street, Ligonier, were treated for bruises and lacerations at the Columbia Hospital, and then were taken home. Banfield was pronounced dead at the hospital.

The accident occurred a few miles beyond Wilkinsburg, the nieces said. An automobile moving in the opposite direction sideswiped Banfield's car as it rounded a curve, and he was thrown out of the car, they said, suffering a fractured skull.

John Bauer, of 1150 Jancey street, was the driver of the other machine, police said. State troopers of Greensburg are making an investigation.

Banfield left for Greensburg yesterday, accompanied by Mrs. Voelker. They stopped at Ligonier and were joined by Miss Saling.

Banfield, a widower, has been in business for the past seven years. Prior to that time he was connected with the Carnegie Steel Corporation.

Make Your Name Vibrate, Play the Film Star's Game

FOLKS, here's one on The Editor. He's got a deep, dark secret, and he just can't keep it any longer. At least he's going to give you a tip about it.

You all will remember that it was Louella O. Parsons, famous motion picture writer and critic, who first gave you the now-famous 18-Day Diet in her Sunday column in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

Louella O. Parsons.

Miss Parsons has got something brand new of a different character, but probably just as interesting. She is going to tell you all about it in her column tomorrow in the Sun-Telegraph. It's a fad among the movie stars in Hollywood. All of them are doing it. Doing what?

VIBRATING THEIR NAMES.

You will certainly want to VIBRATE YOUR NAME after you read Miss Parsons' column on Sunday. The editor VIBRATED HIS NAME the minute he got the article. Some of the movie stars seem to think that NAME VIBRATION holds the key to personality, fame and fortune. That maybe, or maybe not, but it's a great game. Watch for Miss Parsons' column tomorrow and if you plan to be away, make arrangements in advance to get your copy of the Sun-Telegraph.

Incidentally, Miss Parsons' article reveals the REAL names of a lot of movie stars known to us all by different names.

CANADA ASKS U. S. AID OWN RUM BAN

Urges American Law Rule Over Small Craft to Put Lid on Liquor Smuggling

TORONTO, July 20.—(AP.)—The Toronto Globe published the following dispatch from Ottawa today:

Canada has indicated to the United States a method by which the illegal importation of Canadian liquor into the republic may be curtailed. Conversations with Washington are proceeding, but no definite conclusion has been reached.

It is understood the Canadian government is prepared to refuse clearances to liquor-laden vessels bound for the U. S. provided the navigation laws of the republic are amended with respect to vessels under five tons which comprise the majority of liquor carriers on the Detroit River.

BOATS FROM U. S.

Nearly 100 per cent of the boats carrying liquor and the persons engaged in the traffic are from the U. S. The present U. S. navigation law regarding registration, enrollment or licensing does not apply to vessels under five tons, whereas in Canada every vessel irrespective of size and whether carrying cargo or not is obliged by law to report when leaving for a foreign port, and also when returning. Heavy penalties are provided for failure to comply with this law.

It is felt by the dominion authorities that if the U. S. passed such an amendment there would be a control over the movement of the small craft which is now lacking.

AWAIT NEW LAWS

The dominion officials also believe it would be futile to refuse clearances from Canada until the United States does pass such legislation, as the motor boats and other small vessels carrying liquor would be able to take on cargo at any cove along the great lakes or the Detroit River and cross to the U. S. side without reporting to the Canadian customs officers or obtaining clearances.

It is suggested here that the rum running traffic can be dealth a knockout blow by concurrent legislation at Washington and Ottawa.

CARNEGIE STEEL GOLFERS DINE

An informal dinner last night brought to a close the annual outdoor frolic of the Operating Department Golf Association of the Carnegie Steel Company at the Chartiers Heights Country Club. L. C. Bihler, assistant to the president and traffic manager of the Carnegie Steel Company, was toastmaster.

The outing was attended by about 300 executive heads of railroads and industrial concerns of the country. In the afternoon Roy J. Wensley, engineer of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, demonstrated a "big brother to Televox." A toy train, running about the speakers' table, started, stopped and reversed at the command of the operator.

A golf tournament, with 72 foursomes, and a putting contest for non-golfers featured the program in the afternoon.

Bits of Theatrical News Combined With Stories About Photoplay Figures

CONTRAST HELPS IN COMEDY SUCCESS, SAYS DIRECTOR CITING HAROLD LLOYD

By DOROTHY HERZOG

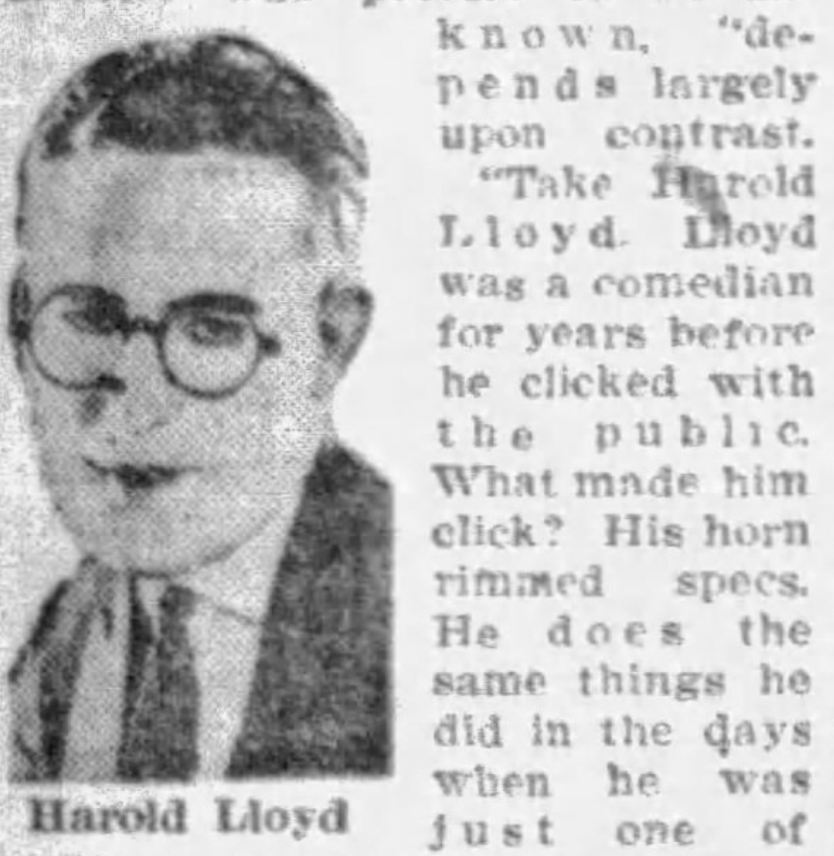
(Copyright, 1929, by Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, July 20.

HE'S a director. And he has plenty kesker-say. Plenty. He savvies the psychology of comedy better than many individs who earn their do-re-me by laughs. But he's modest. Too modest. He doesn't want to be quoted on what follows. This bureau respects his request, but feels he should receive credit. If he changes his mind, will he please write?

At all events, the conversation had to do with comedy.

"A comedian's success," said the director who prefers to be unknown, "depends largely upon contrast.



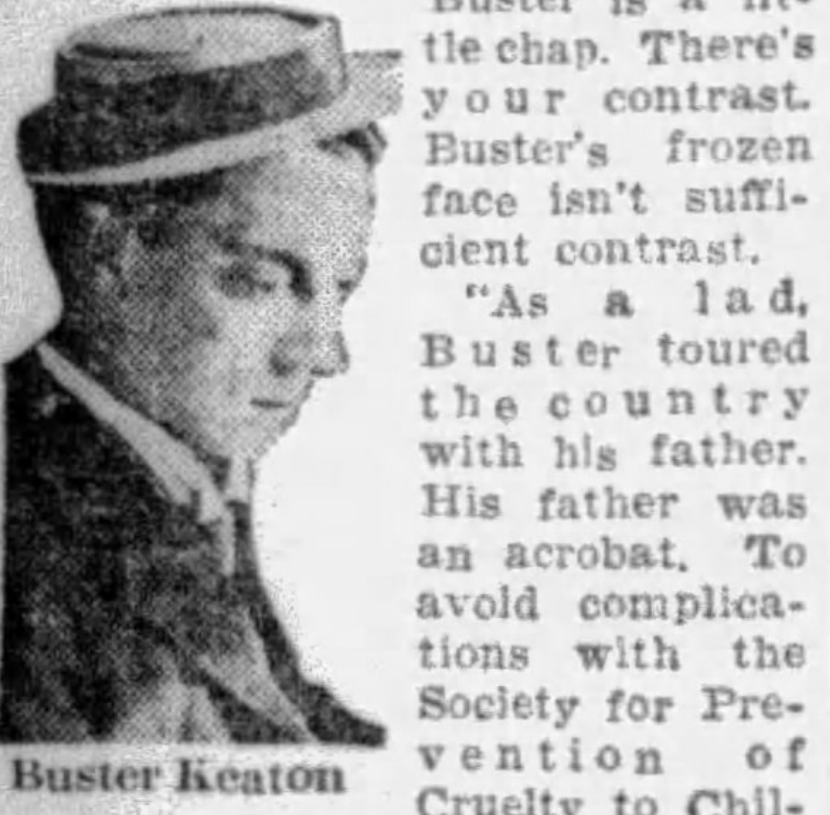
Harold Lloyd

"Take Harold Lloyd. Lloyd was a comedian for years before he clicked with the public. What made him click? His horn rimmed specs. He does the same things he did in the days when he was just one of many comiks. But the glasses lend the contrast. They make doubly ridiculous his speedy antics."

"And then, there's Harry Langdon," he went on to comment. "Langdon is one of our finest comedians. Yet he flopped in five reelers. And why? Because there was no contrast. He depended entirely upon himself. In his successful Mack Sennet days, he starred in two-reel comedies that emphasized plot as contrast. He was handled shrewdly. He missed this when he went out for himself. So he flopped."

Arbuckle Once Keaton Contrast

"TAKE Buster Keaton, as another example. When Buster came to Hollywood, originally, he played with Fatty Arbuckle. Arbuckle is a big man. Buster is a little chap. There's your contrast. Buster's frozen face isn't sufficient contrast.



Buster Keaton

"As a lad, Buster toured the country with his father. His father was an acrobat. To avoid complications with the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children, and to frustrate efforts on their part to prohibit Buster working in the act at night, Mr. Keaton had him make up on the stage like a man. Buster was little, clever and solemn. There was the contrast. The Keaton act leaped to headline heights. When Buster was grown, however, the contrast was gone, and the act wasn't as big as formerly.

"Charlie Chaplin is a beautiful example of contrast. His shabby clothes, his baggy trousers, derby hat, cane, turned up shoes, small mustache, his wistfulness versus the subtlety and entertaining qualities of the story make for contrast and sustained popularity.

"A comedian cannot play straight and remain popular. He must have contrast—whether it be clothes, story, a big man bullying a small man, et ceteram."

Star's Mother Has Restaurant

VIRGINIA BROWN FAIRE, Flick leading fem, has opened a restaurant in Hollywood which her mother is managing. 'Tis yclept the cafe X'Alexandro and specializes in Italian dishes. Virginia's mother is Italian born, so she knows her culinary national arias. I hear tell that at the cafe's debut the entire Regular Club, of which Virginia is a member, put in an appearance, numbering: Marion Nixon, Jeanette Loff, Sally Eilers, Alyce Mills, Florence Gilbert, Duane Thompson, Isabel Johnson and others.

Wedding Episode In New Movie Operetta

The big wedding scene of Jeanette MacDonald and Maurice Chevalier in "The Love Parade," which is being directed in Hollywood by Ernst Lubitsch, has been filmed with 300 players, including 80 beautiful girls.

The cast of "The Love Parade," a musical operetta, also includes Lupino Lane, Lillian Roth, Edgar Norton, Lionel Belmore, Albert Rocardi, Carlton Stockdale, Eugene Pallette, Russell Powell, Anton Vaverka, Albert De Winton, and William von Hardenburg.

Guy Bolton, who did the libretto, has signed a long term contract with Paramount and will leave Hollywood immediately for a short European trip before continuing his work at the West Coast Studios.

Two adopted natives of Whittier—a lil' town some 30 miles east of Hollywood—have sold their lovely homes and are moving back to the colony after an absence of several years. To wit: Frank Lloyd and his family; Adela Rogers Hyland and hers. Frank's wife has been none too well of late and he feels the responsibility of a large house rests too heavy on her domestic shoulders. As for Adela, she too, returns to Bev Hills to live in one of the two houses involved in the deal for her Whittier mansion.

Marceline Day In "Tanned Legs"

SCREENALITIES: Frank Mayo, erstwhile screen hero, is in town with his wife, they having motored across country from New York. Um, made it in eight days, which is nifty road hittin'. Frank looks swell and mebbe may return to the silver sheet. He and Mrs. Mayo returned recently from a year's jaunt in merrie England. Incidentally, they celebrate their first anniversary on August 25 . . . Marceline Day has moved her grease paint paraphernalia over to the RKO lot. She's to make heroine hey-dey in George Seitz's reeler, "Tanned Legs." . . .Gus Edwards is to be Harry Richman's caddy in 18-hole round of golf. Gus has never been on a links and is curious to see what the game is all about. "I'm not old enough to take it up yet," he winks . . .Harry Green is among the first to be signed for Paul Whiteman's flick, "King of Jazz." He'll decorate some of the legit chuckles . . .There's a hound dawg workin' in Eddie Buzzell's flick, "Little Johnny Jones." . . Said H. D. has a disconcerting way—for the cameraman—of suddenly lazying into a scene in which he isn't wanted, dropping and promptly going to sleep. He's slipped in any number thusly. Showing he isn't as crazy as he could be. Mebbe Rin-Tin-Tin wised him up. . .Mary Pickford is no mean shakes when it comes to exeking. She okehs every picture of herself, and usually of Doug, that goes from her production office into the open spaces of print. .Norma Talmadge is among the few stars who doesn't like cards . . Matty Kemp came to town 'tother day. Um, Matty has gone, Catalina. . . And —that's all.

Will Rogers Says

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., July 20.

The governors of all the states gathered together in Connecticut to show how far apart they are. Mr. Wickersham sent a letter to them, and like everything that a highly educated man writes, nobody could understand what he meant.

They don't know from it if he is wet, dry, damp, repeal, enforce, endure, modify, or let bad enough alone. They have tried to ask him "what he meant" and he can't tell 'em.

The letter has had one astounding outcome, it's made Senator Caraway, a Democrat, and Senator Borah, a dissolutionist, both see a thing the same way; they agree that Wickersham is all wet.

Yours, WILL.

Ambitious

Sally Blane, prominent little miss of RKO pictures, whom you see here all dressed up in a chic sport frock,, retains an old-fashioned ambition. She wants to be a housewife in real life.

FORBES GETS OLD ROLE AGAIN

Gus A. Forbes, who acted the role of Perrisard, the attorney, in the revival of "Madame X" in New York, will portray the same role in the George Sharp presentation of that play in the Pitt next week.

"A Man's Map," sound synchronized film starring William Haines, comes Monday to the Penn screen. It is heralded as presenting "a slice of Hollywood life."

A dismal spot in the jungle-matted heart of the African East Congo forms the setting for the all-talkie, "A Dangerous Woman," which will be offered in the Aldine next week. Baclanova heads the cast.

BUDDY ROGERS' FILM

Charles (Buddy) Rogers, supported by Mary Brian and June Collyer, will appear on the Stanley screen next week in "River of Romance."

"College Love," with George Lewis, will be presented in the Harris and Sheridan Square next week. It is a talk film of campus life.

Eddie Dowling's "The Rainbow Man," song and talk picture, will be offered next week in the Liberty and Colonial.

NEW PICTURES TODAY

"On With the Show," talk, song and color production, opens on the Grand screen today.

Ohio Drys Have Man Fired for Using Girls

STEUBENVILLE, O., July 20.—In the role of special dry investigator, John Cole, former state inspector, who was dropped for using girl decoys in liquor cases at Lancaster, O., reappeared here, taking part in raids by deputy sheriffs, led by Norman Bedford, new state inspector for this district.

Cole is now employed by the Ohio Anti-Saloon League, with collection of evidence against prohibition violators as his special mission, according to Sheriff William Yost. Yost said Cole would participate in raids by county and state officers, but would not make arrests.

GIRL TROUBLE

THE phrails I thought I couldn't live without
Have either wedded or have grown too stout;
The phemme I used to pet in 7B
Is doing handstands in a comedy.

The lass I went around with in my teens
Is wrecking Mr. Underwood's machines.
My Ziegfeld folly pal in '21
Has seven lovely daughters—and a son.

I chuckle when I think of those I wooed,
For in those puppy-love days I was crude.
I guess those Used-to-Be's thought I was green,
Yet, you can bet I knew my crepe-de-chine.

In spite of all the maids I could have had,
I haven't any reason to be sad.
A certain Someone thinks I'm a wow—
The "heart" with whom I'm making whoopee now.

OF ALL THINGS

NATE LEIPSIG, you probably know, is the world's greatest magician, yet he couldn't produce what a stranger accomplished, but that's ahead of our story. While traveling with Mrs. Leipsig, from Calgary to Vancouver for the Orpheum Circuit some time ago, they chatted with a fellow passenger who told of his extensive traveling. "How far north do you go in Canada?" asked Mrs. L.

"To Prince Rupert," said the traveler.

"How strange!" ejaculated Mrs. Leipsig. "I have a brother there who runs a shoe shop. I haven't seen him since I was a little girl."

"Is your maiden name Schreider?" queried the man.

"Yes, how do you know?"

"I know your brother. But he isn't at Prince Rupert any more. He's at Vancouver now, next door to the Orpheum Theater."

GIRL TROUBLE

HE is better described as being mad about anything that walks in skirts, and at a party the other night he talked of nothing else. As the dawn came up and he prepared to go, a lady cornered him and said: "Now, listen. We've been together for at least six hours and all you've talked about was women!"

"What else is there to talk about?" was the retort that stumped the crowd.

THEY WON'T LET UP

A foreign newspaper discusses Arthur Schreiber, the stowaway, who flew to Spain recently. The paper states: "Master Schreiber has returned home to the United States. It is learned he took back a saxophone. May the nice young man come to Europe again, and again."

A FORM OF CRITICISM

He is a noted songwriter and his sensational song successes have made him wealthy. Books have been written about his phenomenal rise and there have been several magazine tales in his honor. But he has his critics, even as you and a columnist. When the show, to which he contributed the score, recently failed to excite the reviewers because his music was too reminescent of his former hits, a rival song builder got a titter by observing: "Well, it's too bad. He made a mistake this time. He stole from himself."

PASSE FANCIES

UKES . . . Five dollar couvert charges. . . . Bob-haired Bandits . . . Peaches Browning . . . Mah Jong . . . Lon Chaney gags . . . "Ask Me Another?" . . . Sheiks . . . Harry Thaw's escapades, Greenwich Village, and the Charleston.

THE PITY OF IT

It was in one of the third-rate speakeasies. She was attired in smart apparel and her manner was very Park avenue. In fact she dwells in that tony sector and is the estranged frau of a financier. As the Paramount clock registered 5 a. m. she was bending her elbow for the steenth time. "Why do you get so plastered? asked a native Broadway reporter.

"Just because," she just-becaused.

"But your daughter, your lovely daughter, does she know?"

"Certainly," was the retort devastating, "th'ass the only thing I've contributed to her welfare. She sees me drunk like this and it disgusts her—so she hates the very sight of the stuff."

EAVESDROPPED

Take it fom John K. Winkler, the author of "John D.: A Portrait in Oils," who would have you believe that he overheard the following gab in a Fifty-first street speakeasy:

He: Shay, baby, you might ash well marry me.

She. Why, baby, tell baby, why? He don't like the shame places, shame drinks and shame people?

She: Shure, baby, ab-sho-looly!

He: Ten less git married, baby, we might ash well wear out together.

AS IF YOU DIDN'T KNOW

VIOLA SHORE epigrams that you're the master of the woman you don't desire and the slave of the one you do.

TYPES I'M GLAD I'M NOT

The pill who shrieks at mystery plays . . . The frankfurther who winds up his feeble fables with: "You should have heard the other feller tell it" . . . The sap who can't make a bow tie . . . The chump who always dismisses people who roast him with: "I don't care what they say about me, so long as they mention my name!" . . . The herring who won't budge from the subway door when you are trying to get in or out . . . People who show you their bridgework . . . And the canary who stuffs his ears with his fingers when a gun is displayed in a moving picture.

SIMILE

As tiresome as a nice girl who brags about it.

ADD MEAN CRACKS

JACK DONAHUE would have you believe that he knows a Tiller girl who had her face lifted so often she can't point her toe.

ORIGIN

To hear Johnny O'Connor, the author of "Broadway Racketeers," explain it, the widely employed expression, "On the make," is underworldese, chiefly used by pickpockets. Pickpockets, says O'Connor, call themselves "cannons," thus, should you hear that a "cannon mob was riding the shorts, on the make," you will know that some of the boys are riding the crosstown cars (shorts) on business bent, their particular business being known as "stretching the leather." Incidentally, the chap who does the actual lifting of the pocketbook from the victim's pocket is known as the "wire."

However, "on the make" is now the college boy's pet expression, as the co-eds will tell you.

The 18-Day Diet Again

In response to an unabated flood of requests, the Sun-Telegraph is reprinting in daily installments Hollywood's 18-day diet, first presented to Sun-Telegraph readers by Louella O. Parsons, motion picture critic and writer.

THIRTEENTH DAY

Breakfast—One-half grapefruit, melba toast, coffee; lunch, 1 egg, 1 slice toast, grapefruit; dinner, broiled steak, lettuce, celery, grapefruit, coffee.

Melba toast is made by cutting white bread very thin—less than one-fourth inch—toasting it very slowly in oven under low fire until crisp and toasted all the way through and then buttering it as desired.

(The fourteenth day's installment of the diet will be published Sunday.)

2 Overcome by Fire In Hotel Sherman

CHICAGO, July 20.—(AP.)—Two women were overcome by smoke, dozens of guests were driven into the street and traffic was temporarily tied up along Randolph and Clark streets late yesterday when fire broke out in a grease chute leading from one of the kitchens at the Hotel Sherman.

Miljan Has Role In Menjou Picture

John Miljan has one of the chief supporting roles in Adolphe Menjou's first all-talking picture, "Fashions in Love." Miljan plays the young chemical engineer of Hermann Bahr's famous play, on which the Menjou starring vehicle is based.

Miljan's most recent role was in the Paramount talking-singing "Innocents of Paris," which stars Maurice Chevalier. In "Fashions in Love" he joins a supporting cast which includes Fay Compton, noted English stage star. Victor Schertzinger directed.

Miljan until recently was under contract to Warner Brothers and has appeared in practically all of their talking productions. Before he started his film career in 1923 he played in stock in every part of the United States, in such cities as New York, Denver, Cleveland, Richmond, Philadelphia, Binghampton, Boston, Superior, Hoboken, Oakland and Ogden.

Girl Friend

Anita Page is one of Hollywood's most popular candidates for sweetheart roles. Her latest gesture in this direction is as William Haines' girl friend in "Speedway," now being filmed in Hollywood.

Hysterical Tears Foreign to Clara Bow

Clara Bow doesn't believe in temperament. She has never deliberately torn up a piece of wardrobe or stamped upon an unoffending make-up case.

Hysterical tears are utterly foreign to her unless she has to shed them before the cameras and she has yet to walk off a set in a towering rage, with a scene unfinished.

"I would feel foolish if I did any of those things," she confided. "I don't believe in that sort of temperament for myself.

"Of course, there are times when I feel like exploding. Everyone has those moments. For example, the golf player who breaks his best driver after slicing for the eighteenth successive time.

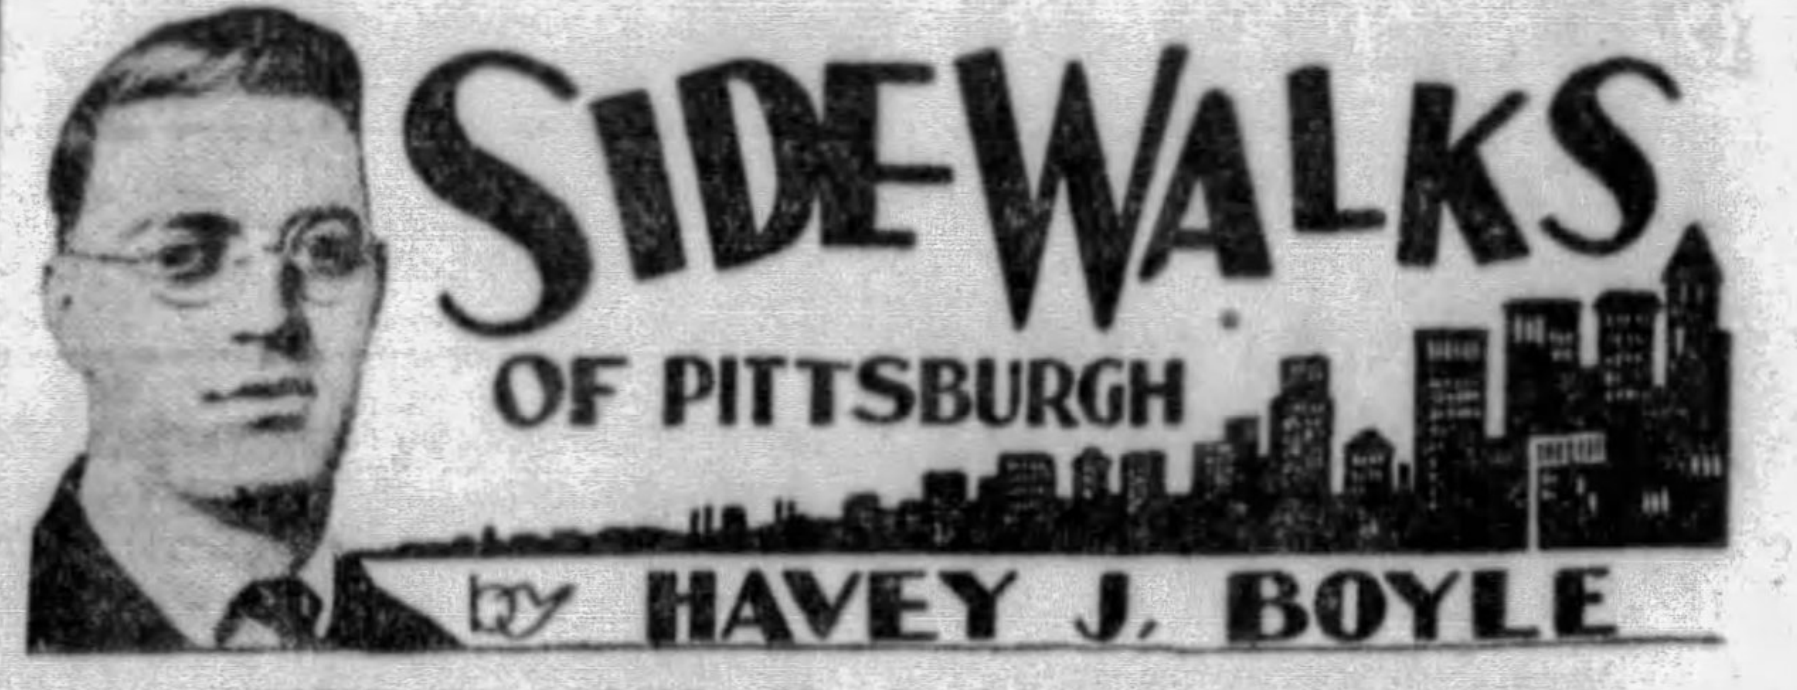
"Blue, moody spells are the nearest approach to temperament I allow myself and I can't help them. Fortunately, they do not come when I am at work. The enthusiasm of work is a tonic that will banish them at any time.

"After a hard day on the set or between pictures I am sometimes terribly depressed. But temperament, as it is popularly understood, has never bothered me."

Kennywood Keeps Free Aerial Show

Danny Nirella's "Kennywoodians" remain as the regular dance orchestra, playing afternoon and evening, in Kennywood Park. "Maids of the Air," a free act with seven young women doing stunts on a unique rigging high in the air over the lake, also continues as the park's current outdoor spectacle.

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH



by HAVEY J. BOYLE

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Mr. Boyle's copy is arriving daily. In this and subsequent columns, he records his impressions of Paris.)

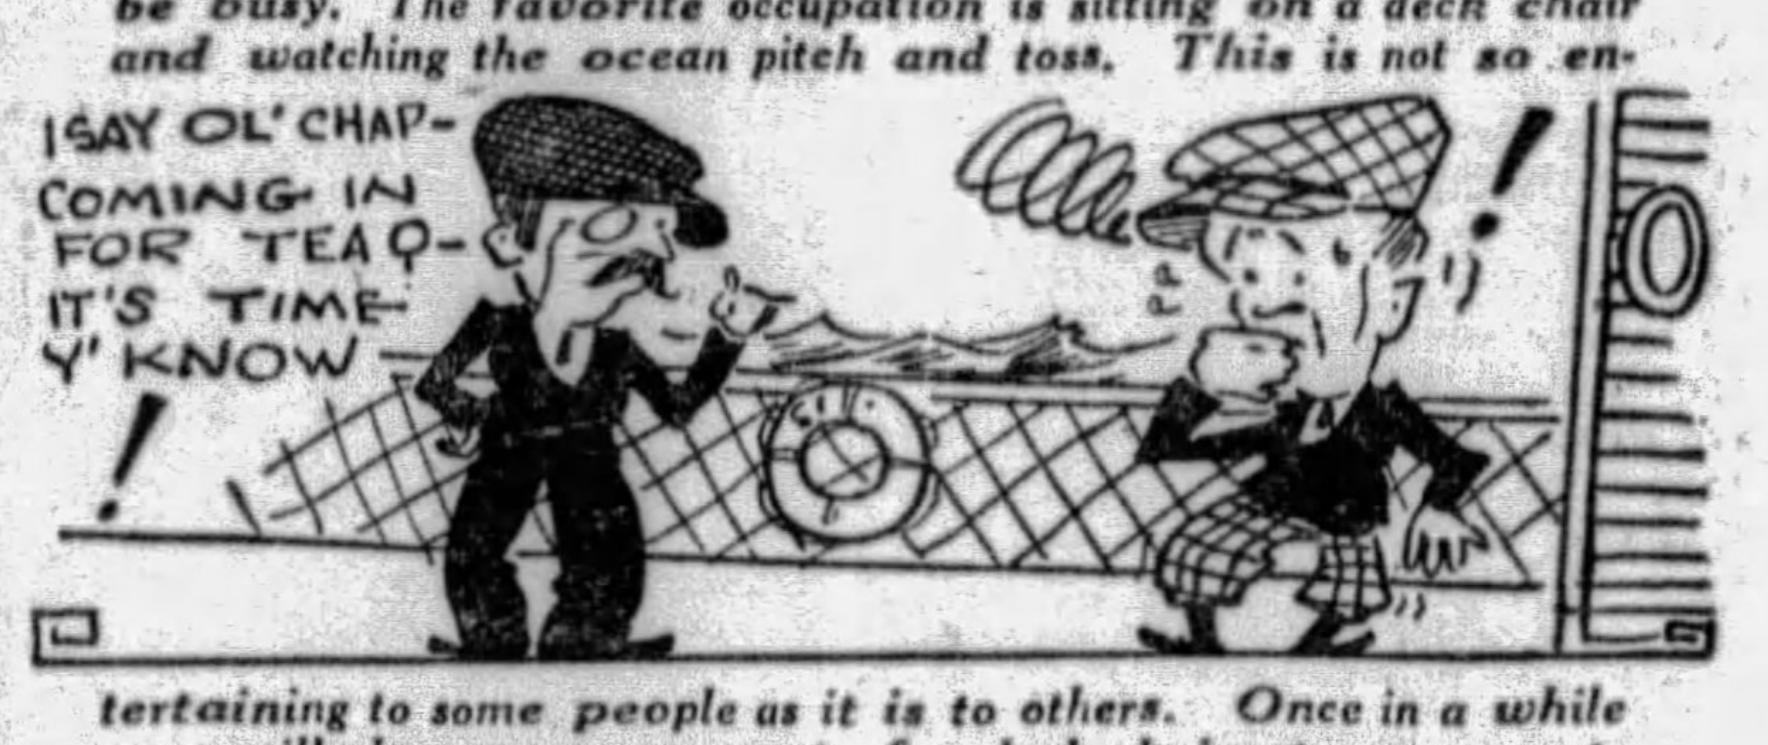
PARIS, France.

THE ship was not long in leaving port once the fruit baskets were all loaded. It appears that you can't go abroad without a basket of fruit, decorated with a large red bow. Also, there are many tears. The folks on the pier stand and wave tear-stained handkerchiefs while the folks on the decks of the departing steamer wave back equally wet kerchiefs and everybody seems to be having the same amusement observed when the happy bride cries in the arms of her weeping mother, who is also happy.

Once the ship gets out of sight of the pier, the voyagers turn to their cabins to adjust themselves to a week or so in a sphere where sky and water form the only scenery.

* * *

There is always something to do aboard ship and while no one save the help have any work to do, everyone seems to be busy. The favorite occupation is sitting on a deck chair and watching the ocean pitch and toss. This is not so entertaining to some people as it is to others. Once in a while you will observe an occupant of a deck chair stagger over to the railing ever so slowly and make a bow of a kind. After that he totters along the deck to reach the confines of his cabin. They hope to die, but they know they won't. That's the sad part of it.



I SAY OL' CHAP—COMING IN FOR TEA?—IT'S TIME Y' KNOW—!

* * *

INASMUCH as I am writing this aboard ship and there are still a few days to go, I don't want to do any boasting, but I did show up for dinner on the night that we ran through a storm and had quite a few of the boys and girls hanging on the ropes. But I mustn't go too far in gloating, for as I write, I'm on the top deck, the boat is rolling sidewise, the ocean endwise, and the stool I'm sitting on is one of those loose-seated affairs once the favorite of undertakers. But so far so good.

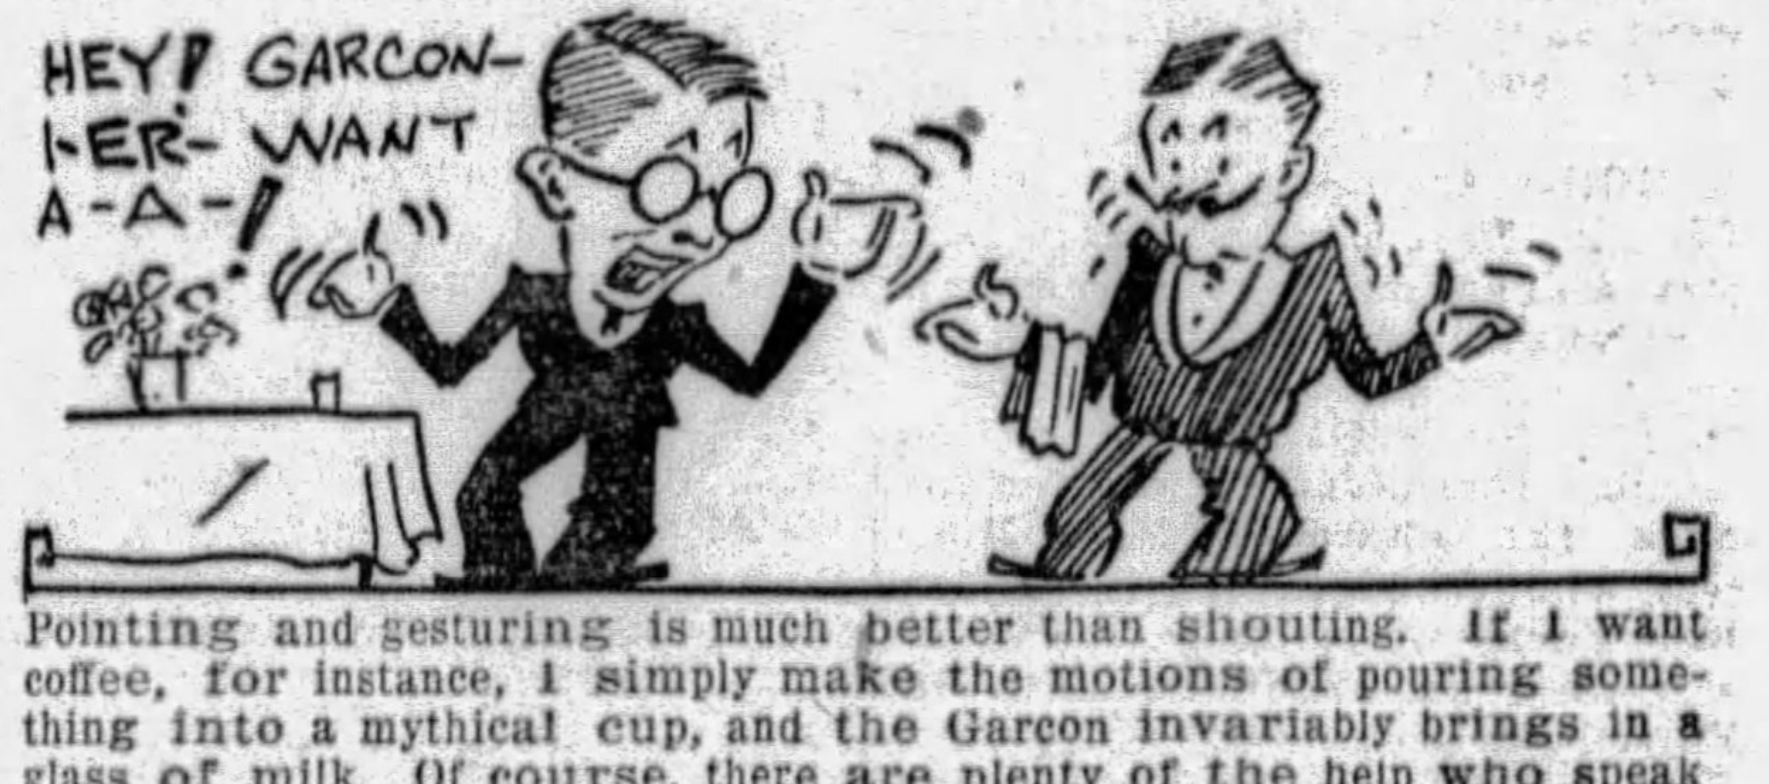
* * *

Before we sailed, Clayland T. Morgan, a steamship man, arranged for pictures of the various passengers leaving. There seemed to be more cameramen than passengers, although on this boat the sailing list numbers more than 900.

This, veteran tavelers tell you, is the height of the season, and from the conversations I've had with various passengers aboard it appears that you're a kind of outcast if it happens to be your first trip. I have apologized four or five times now to passengers who are making their tenth trip. They excused me in a half-hearted way.

* * *

SINCE this is a French operated boat all the sailors and stewards and waiters speak French very well, but have a hard time understanding my English. This situation brings about the pointing and shouting method of instructions or requests. It is a peculiarity of most people that when they aren't understood they shout their words in the hope that the noise will somehow penetrate into the minds of the listeners and make the meaning clear.



HEY! GARCON—I-ER—WANT A-A—!

Pointing and gesturing is much better than shouting. If I want coffee, for instance, I simply make the motions of pouring something into a mythical cup, and the Garcon invariably brings in a glass of milk. Of course, there are plenty of the help who speak English well, but it isn't nearly so much fun dealing with them as it is in gambling with the boys who haven't the slightest idea of what you're talking about.

* * *

Another peculiarity of ocean travel is that most everyone is sort of hoping the other fellow gets sick. Make a suspicious move, such as wiping your forehead with your handkerchief, and 10 people will rush up eagerly to ask how you are feeling, hoping for the worst. Others who never get sick, like to stand near a brother who may be slipping, and then deplore the way the ship is rocking, and predicting that the ocean will get much rougher in an hour or so.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Mrs. Rea on Liner Going To Europe

THIS vicarious vacationing is rather tantalizing, isn't it? We hear about the summer plans of so many local folks and they sound so intriguing that city life is inclined to sour a little. The really generous soul is of course, always glad to hear about other peoples' good times without a trace of envy creeping in, so perhaps not all of us are entirely generous.

Did you know that shortly after she had christened the Pittsburgh Pioneer Scout, the amphibian biplane, Mrs. Henry R. Rea, of "Farmhill," Sewickley Heights, left for New York and sailed last night on the Olympic for Europe? I'm not sure just how long Mrs. Rea intends to remain abroad, but apparently she has no intentions of spending any part of the summer at Southampton, where she is usually to be found at this time of year.

I hear, also, that the William Louden Rowes, of Kentucky avenue, are expecting to spend the next 10 days with Mrs. Rowe's aunt, Mrs. Wallace H. Rowe, at her summer home in Watch Hill. Mr. and Mrs. Rowe are going to be at the Ocean House, at Watch Hill, all during August. Another visitor at the Hill lately is John Hess, who has been the guest of his sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Jones III.

Speaking of Watch Hill, I understand that the Harry Darlingtons, the A. Rex Flinns and the William S. Moorheads are listed among the 50 guests which Mrs. George R. Nichols, of Chicago, will entertain tonight at the Misquamicut Golf Club dinner dance. Mrs. Nichols is having as her honor guests Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Wing, of Providence and Narragansett Pier, who are visiting her.

Mrs. Simon Patterson has established her children at "Red Top," Watch Hill, and has returned to Pittsburgh to spend a short time before returning to the Hill for August. She expects to go East again about July 28, I believe. And Mrs. Harry Darlington and Mrs. Rex Flinn are both back at the colony after spending several days here in Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Thomas H. Eddy will arrive at the Hill about the first of the month to be at her summer home, "Samoset," for the remainder of the summer. And Mrs. William Reed Thompson, of Northumberland street, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Oliver Read, there.

* * *

AMONG the many who are going Europe-wards soon are Mrs. Alexander Stuart Hunter and her daughter, Miss Laetitia Hunter, of Fifth avenue. They expect to sail for England late in the month. Mrs. Hunter's son and his bride, the Alexander Hays Hunters, who were married in May in New York, are in Italy at present and they are expected here in Pittsburgh early in September. They will live at the Hunter home until the senior Mrs. Hunter returns from abroad, and then they will occupy the house they have taken in Sewickley.

Miss Hunter is visiting in the East just now, and her brother, Joseph Hunter, of Rye, N. Y., has been the guest of his mother for the last week. He has just left for a ranch in Wyoming, where he will spend a month.

Several of the coming winter's debutantes have gone East, I hear. Harold H. Robertson, of the Park Mansions, formerly of Sewickley, has gone to his summer home at Blue Hill, Me., with his daughter, Sylvia, who will come out next season. They took with them two other debutantes, Susan Potter O'Neil, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey O'Neil, of Sewickley, and Caroline Crittenden, daughter of the William Jackson Crittendens, of Shields, who will visit them for a while.

ANOTHER party to be given for the Marchesa Dusmet de Smours, of Rome, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. James B. Oliver, of Shields, is the luncheon at which Mrs. Frank B. Semple, Jr., of Edgeworth, will be hostess. The affair will be given on Monday in the Allegheny Country Club.

Little Marion Templeton and Margaret Lyon, carrying bouquets of roses which they afterwards presented to Mrs. Weyand, preceded the bride and bridegroom of a quarter century up the aisle of the church. Mrs. Beryl Rosser playing the Lohengrin wedding march. A program was carried out in the social room of the church, with Vincent Hooper as master of ceremonies. The church orchestra played, Walter F. Mitchell, president of the board of trustees, spoke, Mrs. Lillian Fink gave solos; a quartet composed of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Thomas, Mrs. Fink and T. C. Templeton, sang; the Rev. Dr. John W. Watson brought the good wishes of the Concord Presbyterian Church and Dr. Albert N. McConnell, on behalf of the congregation and friends, presented Dr. and Mrs. Weyand with a silver tea service.

Copeland Sees Bankruptcy Of Homes in New Tariff

WASHINGTON, July 20.—(AP.)—Characterizing the House tariff bill as the "most iniquitous" ever proposed, Senator Copeland, (Dem.) New York, declared that if the bill is enacted as written, it will carry the average family to the verge of bankruptcy.

In his statement he asserted that the sugar schedule alone, unless modified, "will add millions of dollars" to the cost of maintaining the American household; that unless the Republicans admit "the large percentage of unemployment that now exists and can hitch the proposal to increase tariff duties to the depression in our industrial life, they are lost."

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., July 20.—Boards of education of Bethesda, Belmont and Goshen townships have been called by County Superintendent George M. Pogue to meet with the Belmont County Board of Education Monday at 2:30 to consider the recommendation of the State Department of Education that the schools of the three districts be consolidated.

The boards will be called upon to act on a $10,000 appropriation from the state school rehabilitation fund offered by the state toward a new high school building. A building costing at least $120,000 will be needed. The merger would do away with 10 one-room schools and reduce the teaching personnel by five, thereby effecting a saving of $1,000 a year.

The department's recommendation includes a report that part of the Bethesda High School building is 53 years old and says that, while Belmont's is only 14 years old, it is needed for grade uses.

NEW YORK, July 20.—The first leg of our journey was completed last night when we arrived in New York on time, despite leaving Pittsburgh 20 minutes late. It was a delightful journey, particularly the trip over the mountains. The Horseshoe Curve had a thrill for each of us.

At Altoona friends of the Boy Scouts were at the station with gifts of cakes and candy, which we greatly enjoyed.

When we arrived at the Pennsylvania Station in New York we were taken directly to the liner Samaria, which will be our home for the next week. There, as guests of the Cunard line, we were served supper. The thrill of a first meal aboard an ocean liner had no appreciable effect upon our appetites.

We took in Broadway after dark, and went to Roxy's Theater. Eddie Downes, a Pittsburgh lad and former Boy Scout, greeted us at the playhouse. He is appearing on the program in a street scene.

Eagle Scout James McDonough, a Princeton student, conducted us on a great trip over New York, after which we returned to the Samaria ready to sail for Liverpool and the Jamboree.

COME TO CHURCH

The Church Is the Meeting Place of God and His People

SERMONETTE

"A Halo of Chalices Surrounds the World"

By REV. JAMES R. COX, Old St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church, Seventeenth Street and Liberty Avenue

REMEMBER that thou keep Holy the Sabbath Day. This injunction of God to mankind is one of the commandments given to Moses on Mt. Sinai.

The Church, according to Catholic belief, is the representative of God's authority on earth and has a right to say how we shall observe this commandment of God. Christ said of the Church, "He that heareth you, heareth me."

The Catholic Church obliges her children, under pain of grievous sin, to assist each Sunday and Holy Day, at the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass. The faithful are remarkably obedient to the voice of the church in this regard in every part of the world. The manner in which they attend mass is a source of great edification to the people of every religious belief.

What is the Mass? The answer to this question explains why Catholics crowd their churches from sunrise until noon in every part of the world, on Sundays and Holy Days.

In the sixth Chapter of St. John's Gospel you will find that Christ promised a bread to His followers, and if they ate of that bread they would never taste death. The bread Christ promised was His own body and blood "My flesh is meat indeed, and my blood is drink indeed, Jn. 6, 54. At the Last Supper Christ kept the promise made in the sixth Chapter of St. John. He took bread in His Sacred Hands and blessed and broke and gave to His disciples and said, "Take ye and eat; this is my body, which shall be delivered for you. This do for the commemoration of me." In like manner, also, the chalice, after he had supped, saying: "This chalice is the new testament in my blood. This do ye, as often as you drink, for the commemoration of me. For as often as you shall eat this bread, and drink from the chalice, you shall show the death of the Lord until He come." St. Paul—1 Cor. 11, *24-25-26.

We Catholics believe that the Last Supper is the Eternal Supper and all the faithful partake and will continue to partake of the body of the Lord until the end of the world, through the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass, at which, through the power of God, bread and wine are changed into the Body and Blood of Christ on every altar in every part of the world, by every priest who reads Mass.

The Holy Sacrifice of the Mass, instituted by Christ, at the Last Supper, fulfills the ancient prophecy of Malachias 1-11, which says: "For, from the rising of the sun, even to the going down, My name is great among the Gentiles, and in every place there is sacrifice, and there is offered to My name a clean oblation; for My name is great among the Gentiles, saith the Lord of Hosts."

Where in the world today is there a sacrifice offered to God from the rising of the sun to the going down thereof, outside the Catholic Church? The ancient sacrifices of the Jews were discontinued with the destruction of the temple at Jerusalem. Uncivilized people offer sacrifice once in a great while, but in the Catholic Church, in some part of the world, at every moment of the day, there is a Mass being offered and we can truthfully say, there is a halo of golden chalices surrounding the world—East, West, North and South—in every place there is sacrifice, and there is offered to God a clean oblation, which is Christ, the Son of God, the second person of the Blessed Trinity.

While we may be pleased with the large numbers who assist at Mass in every part of the world, nevertheless we feel certain that if a canvass were made in all the parishes of the world we would find that there are millions who wilfully neglect their obligations. Millions who fail to show their appreciation of the divine benefits heaped upon them by a God infinitely generous.

The Churches teach love of God and man. It is love of God and man that has brought to the universe all the blessings that we enjoy. Therefore, if we are to continue to progress in peace and love, we must learn the lessons of peace and love where they are taught.

Go to Church. If you are faithful to your obligations you will help to bring about the Fatherhood of God and Brotherhood of Man.

DEMAND BRISK FOR RAILROAD STOCKS

Lackawanna Opens at New Peak as Does New York Central—Reading Yields

NEW YORK, July 20.—(AP.)—A brisk demand for railroad shares featured the opening of today's brief session of the stock market.

Lackawanna opened 2⅝ points higher at 154½, a new high record, and New York Central showed an initial gain of nearly a point at 240⅞, also a new top. Opening gains of a point or so also were made by Consolidated Gas, Montgomery Ward and American Can. Reading and Canadian Pacific yielded 1 and 1½ points, respectively.

Unconfirmed reports that the Interstate Commerce Commission would soon present a revised plan of railroad consolidations, attracted fresh interest to the carrier stocks. New high records for the year, or longer, were established in the early trading by St. Paul common, Erie common, Southern Pacific and Delaware & Hudson. New York Central extended its gain to nearly 5 points by touching a new peak at 244⅝.

Steel shares, which were in brisk demand in the closing part of yesterday's session, again were turned over in large volume. United States Steel common moved up to a new high at 209½ and Bethlehem crossed 120 for the first time since the "war bride" days. Bethlehem directors meet Thursday, and are expected in Wall street to declare an extra dividend of $1 on the common. Republic, Central Alloy and Colorado Fuel advanced a point or two.

International Telephone resumed its advance by touching a new high at 213½ for the present issue. Bendix Aviation, which is reported to have profited through its General Motor affiliations, crossed 96 to a new high; International Harvester, Lambert and General Electric also were strong.

Motors were again under selling pressure. One block of 10,000 shares of General Motors changed hands at 69, off fractionally, and within a point of the year's low.

Foreign exchanges opened firm, with sterling cables slightly higher at $4.85 1-16.

FIND GAS NEAR BENTLEYVILLE

BENTLEYVILLE, Pa., July 20.—Gas and oil leases in Fallowfield Township, near the Bentleyville borough line, are at a premium as a result of the striking of a gas gusher on the I. N. Casson farm. The initial flow registered 2,500,000 cubic feet daily. The flow may be increased by drilling deeper. At present prices the daily output of the well is worth about $1,500.

Oil in paying quantities has been struck in the district in wells intended for gas. Geologists examining the region declare evidence indicates that a large oil deposit may be uncovered by subsequent drilling.

BLAW KNOX IN NEW HIGH GROUND

Stock Spurts in Local Market; Steel Propeller Holds Near Best Levels

A sharp upurn in Blaw Knox Company featured the trading on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange during the short weekend session today.

The steady accumulation of the stock which has been in progress all week had its reflection in a spurt of several points, carrying the issue to a new high record price. Mild profit-taking, which made its appearance at the high levels, was well absorbed. On the current movement, which has been in progress several days, the stock has advanced approximately 10 points, making good on a "tip" which circulated the financial district at the time the swing got under way. The company's earnings are reported to be running at a record rate and profits for the current year will establish a new top, it is said in quarters hich usually are informed on the Blaw Knox activities. Business, both domestic and foreign, has been expanding at a rapid rate and the new affiliations made during the past two years are beginning to demonstrate their earning power. One factor influencing the company's earnings at this time is the extensive construction of aircraft hangars in which field Blaw Knox is one of the dominating interests.

Standard Steel Propeller sold again at the high figure established in yesterday's market and displayed a firm tone at the new levels. Aluminum Goods opened with a large fractional advance and absorbed moderate offerings easily.

The fuel issues were firm, but displayed no disposition to break out of the price territory in which they have been fluctuating since the middle of the week.

Glass stocks were firm to strong with Pittsburgh Plate selling at 72 on the opening as against last night's close at 71¼. Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt continued to drag and was handled again at 26, to which level it sagged yesterday.

Why Money Hasn't Run Wild; Bankers Expect Stock Rise

By B. C. FORBES

HAD Wall Street bankers been as rapacious as sometimes pictured, you would have seen call money this month rise to 25 or 30 per cent.

Almost $100,000,000 new loans have had to be provided in one day. On such ocasions the 20 per cent rate touched towards the end of March would have been far passed had not certain bankers made preparations to come promptly to the rescue. As it was, 12 per cent was the high charge, with the exception of a few loans late one afternoon at 15 per cent.

IT would be incorrect to say that there has been a "money pool." Nor have there been frequent meetings of bankers to cope with the emergency created by the wholly abnormal demands imposed by the July first settlements, the July 4 demands, the heavy government settlements, and the strain imposed by the issuance of the new currency.

As far as can be learned, Charles E. Mitchell, head of the nation's largest bank, has taken the lead on this occasion, as he did on the last occasion, in seeing that the stock market was supplied with loanable funds. The job, however, has been too big for any institution to wrestle with singlehandedly. Certain other leading banks have co-operated in preventing the outbreak of serious trouble.

The strain is now entirely over. Day to day rates may continue relatively high until the first week of next month. After that, the money market may become easier all round.

CHARLES E. MITCHELL, incidentally, is regarded as the hardest working banker in New York. His pet aversion is commuting. I have heard him say that nothing is more demoralizing for a busy man than to have to keep "his watch in his hand" during the afternoon lest a train or a boat be missed. He once told one of his commuting friends who was fidgeting late one afternoon, "If I were in Hades, I would refuse to commute even to Heaven."

Mitchell's solution of the hot-weather problem is this: His boat takes him from the city every evening down Long Island Sound. The moment anchor is dropped, he plunges into the water. Another swim before breakfast puts him in fettle for the day. The boat brings him back to the city in the morning. Week-ends he usually spends at his Southampton home.

On his annual business trips to Europe, he comes near killing his huskiest secretary, so much ground does he cover every day. Yet he returns "all rested up." Meeting new minds, visiting new places, encountering new experiences instead of fatiguing him, refresh him.

If there were more money in boxing than in banking, Mitchell could take to the ring. He constantly keeps himself as hard as nails.

GOOD farm prices would be the very best guarantee of continued prosperity during the balance of the year.

BECAUSE a man calls himself a "banker" is no reason why he shouldn't go to jail when he illegally takes other people's money. Ruin has befallen many hundreds of unfortunates in New York who deposited their savings with Clark Brothers, who illegitimately did business as "bankers." Several millions of dollars apparently have gone, leaving many penniless.

That they were hopelessly bankrupt must have been absolutely clear to the members of the firm before they closed their doors. For continuing to take others' money under these circumstances, they have been indicted. Not the slightest mercy should be shown them on conviction.

This is not the only concern in the United States masquerading as some kind of banking firm although not bankers in the real sense of the term. Such concerns should be even more severely dealt with than fake stock promoters, because the former cloak themselves with an appearance of respectability.

Our courts have been far too lenient with scoundrels who have fleeced the unwary on one pretext or another. Taking another's money dishonestly constitutes stealing. And the place for thieves is behind the bars. The Clarke Brothers scandal should stir the authorities not only in New York, but all over the country, to put swindlers out of business.

IN the highest financial circles the stock market lately has been looked upon with less misgiving. Many look for still higher quotations in the fall.

TRAFFIC GROWS AT LESSER RATE

Post-War Freight Business Expansion Slower Than in Period Preceding Conflict

WASHINGTON, July 20.—In spite of the large expansion of freight business during the war, and the business activity of recent years, the rate of growth of railway freight traffic since 1914 has been substantially less than in the corresponding period of years immediately preceding the war. The Railway Age calls attention to a highly interesting study of the growth of freight business in the years 1900 to 1928, which recently has been submitted to the Interstate Commerce Commission by Dr. M. O. Lorenz, director of its Bureau of Statistics.

FALLS 50 PER CENT

"In the 14 years ending with 1914 the average annual growth of freight business was 10.5 billion ton miles, and in the 14 years ending with 1928, 10.2 billion ton miles," says the Railway Age. "The absolute growth having been slightly less in the second than in the first period, the relative growth was, of course, much smaller. The increase in freight business in the years 1900-1914 was about 100 per cent, and in the years 1914-1928 only about 50 per cent.

"No less significant are the statistics relating the growth of traffic to the increase of population. In 1900 ton miles per capita were 1,860, and in 1914 they were 2,947, an increase of 1,087, or 58 per cent. In 1928 ton miles per capita were 3,635, or 688 more than in 1914, an increase of only 23 per cent.

FREIGHT AND AUTOMOBILE

"The most gigantic single change in American industry during the period covered has been the development of the automobile industry. This has given the railways a large amount of freight business but has caused them to lose a large amount of passenger business. The question has been debated a good deal as to which effect on the railways has been the more important. Doctor Lorenz gives some interesting figures bearing on this question. In 1928 the Class I roads received $194,111,044 for the carrying of passenger automobiles and auto trucks and parts, including tires, and Doctor Lorenz estimates that they received $322,000,000 in revenues from carrying materials entering into the manufacture of motor vehicles and materials used in road building.

PASSENGER REVENUE

"There is, then,' he says, "a total of 516 million dollars of railroad freight revenue resulting from the growth of the automotive industry.' He estimates that if passenger business had increased since 1915 as it did in an equal period previously, 'the passenger revenue of 1928 would have been 1,516 millions of dollars, as compared with the estimated revenue of 904 millions, a decline of 612 millions. Thus the net reduction in gross revenue from these factors is 96 million dollars per annum."

"The foregoing facts are cited, not in any attempt to show that the development of the automobile industry has been undesirable—which, of course, would be absurd—but to call attention to the effects that may be produced upon the railways by diverting traffic from them. The diversion of passenger business from them has deprived them of large earnings, with the result that they require higher freight and passenger rates to enable them to earn a fair return than they would have required if they had not lost this business.

WATERWAYS UNNEEDED

"The facts that freight business is not growing relatively or even absolutely as rapidly as it did before the war, and that shortages of transportation have been virtually unknown for six years, show that if waterways were needed at times before the war to 'relieve' the railways, they are not needed now, and that devolpments before the war afford little or no evidence that they will be needed in future. The question as to the desirability of the deveolpment of waterways hinges entirely upon whether this policy will reduce the total costs of transportation that will have to be paid by the American public. The more traffic the railways are given the more economically they will be able to handle each unit of it. To whatever extent the development of waterways diverts from the railways traffic that they otherwise would have a chance to handle, it will tend to make higher than they otherwise would be the rates that must be paid upon the traffic actually handled by rail, for the same reason that the losses of passenger business since 1920 have made and still make the rates needed by the railways higher than they otherwise would have been."

SKILLED HELP IMPORTS GROW

Contract Waivers Asked On Foreign Artisans Number 100 a Month

WASHINGTON, July 20.—One accompaniment of the high state of American industrial activity is the increasing import of human technical skill. That comes directly under observation of government offices, since the hiring abroad of foreigners for employment in the United States is a technical infraction of the immigration laws, which ban import of contract laborers. The statute provides, however, for a waiver of the contract labor clause in the case of highly and particularly skilled artisans, and professional people.

"There seems to be a very definite connection between the numbers of requests we get to allow the hiring abroad by American enterprises of such people and the state of business," remarked Harry E. Hull, commissioner general of immigration, who considers the requests and allows the permissions. "Right now, the number going through is rather large, possibly about 100 a month.

OIL REFINERIES DEMAND

"American oil refineries are especially active in asking the contract waivers, for technicians they are employing in connection with the modifications of petroleum utilization methods. These are scientists, in the main. Then we are getting a steady stream of applications for men who intend to come here to install machinery and appliances, and remain for only brief periods, while they teach personnel already here to conduct the operations.

"Each application for permission to hire these specialists abroad is considered on its merits, and investigated sufficiently to make sure that they belong to recognized learned professions, or that their specialized skill cannot readily be duplicated here."

About the next important financial decision to come out of the Interstate Commerce Commission will be the settlement of the Great Northern-Northern Pacific consolidation proposal. That issue has been hanging fire within the commission since late last year, and curiously enough the long delay is giving some of the participants grounds for hoping for an approval of the project. In point of mileage of road affected, this is by far the most ambitious scheme for railroad consolidation raised in the United States, since the two lines, with the Burlington, which they control, operate more than 25,000 miles of trunk line sprawled over the entire western half of the continent. They reach from the Canadian line to the Gulf of Mexico, and from a point east of Chicago through contemplated extensions actually into San Francisco.

MERGER OPPOSED

This contemplated merger has drawn more opposition than has marked the procedure of some other railroad joining plans. Certain of the communities affected, and the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific, a competitor of the two Northern roads, fought the design through all hearings the commission allowed, while there was also a dissenting minority of stockholders arrayed in opposition.

These objections established the early impression that the chances of getting the commission's approval for the plan were rather dubious. Still, the very delay to decide is now held up as pretty good evidence that a portion, at least, of the commission membership would like to see the plan go through, or are not willing to allow its immediate rejection.

As a preliminary to presenting the plan to the commission, assenting stockholders who constituted holders of perhaps 80 per cent or more of the outstanding shares in the Northern Pacific and Great Northern, deposited their certificates with trustees to await the commission's findings. The stock market promptly differentiated in price between certificates of deposit for shares and undeposited shares. That difference has widened out with recent outbursts of strength in railroad stocks, and now the majority certificate holders find their deposited securities worth as much as $5 or $6 per share less than free stock.

GLASS TRADE PROSPECTS GOOD

Expect Present Slow Market To Show Decided Upturn In Last Part of Year

Demand for all kinds of flat glass is just about holding its own ground, says the National Glass Budget. Before long, however, changes are anticipated. It is natural to expect an improvement in the window glass market from now until the end of the year and a small gradual decline in the amount of plate glass consumed by the automobile industry.

Manufacturers of window glass have been and are at present dissatisfied with the volume of business so far this year. The best posted men in the business anticipate that there will be a decided improvement in the number and size of orders to be booked during the last five months of the year. Quite a quantity of glass has been shipped from manufacturers' warehouses in the past six months. The greater part of the glass moved was on old blanket orders entered late in last year and during the first two months of this one. Undoubtedly this glass will have soon found its way into the trade and jobbers in turn will have to replenish their stocks for late summer and fall requirements.

HOPEFUL OF BETTER TURN

Although disappointed that demand is as low as it is at present, manufacturers are still hopeful that there are better days ahead for them. Keeping in mind the fact that there is a decline in residential building and that jobbers earlier in the year carried stocks that were about 25 per cent higher than customary for that season of the year, producers hold to the opinion that demand should develop to that extent that the stocks in manufacturers' warehouses, as well as the small production, would be required to take care of the demand of the trade during the last few months of the year.

If any change has taken place in the rolled and wired glass situation it is that business placed with the manufacturers shows a slight falling off. Other conditions in the market for these products are seasonable. An improvement in demand is almost assured later on account of the large amount of big structures that are being erected in many of the prominent cities.

Demand for plate glass has held up remarkably well this year and indications are that there will be a fair volume of business placed with the manufacturers. It is not believed, however, that increased business from the jobbing and mirror trades will equal the decline in demand that can naturally be expected from the automobile trade.

The Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company placed its large works at Ford City, Pa., back into operation the first of the week. This plant has been modernized at a tremendous cost. It is understood that no expense was spared in installing equipment that would aid in the production of the finest quality of plate glass.

BOTTLE BUSINESS HOLDING UP

Manufacturers of bottles and containers are well pleased with the way demand is holding up for their products. The volume of business in evidence is above the average for the middle of the year as there has been no noticeable letdown in new business for bottles used in the bottling trade.

The worst feature in connection with these branches of the glass industry is that prices are too low to provide a justifiable profit for the firms engaged in the business. Factories as a general rule are operating at a fair rate of capacity.

DEMAND FOR FLINT WARE

Flint glass factories report a fair volume of business. It is rather unusual for the demand for lighting glassware to hold up as well as it is at present. Many new designs in both lighting and table glassware will be introduced in the trade. Some very attractive ones have already made their appearance.

During this and the following month production of flint glassware will be curtailed to some extent. Some plants were closed down entirely while the workmen were given their vacations. Other plants are operating with a curtailed force.

Foreign Copper Market Strong

NEW YORK, July 20.—Buying of copper for foreign account, according to early advices, was heavy. Estimates place initial sales today at over 2,500,000 pounds at 18.30 cents a pound, c. i. f. Hamburg. Later cables were expected to show an even better tonnage contracted. Sales on Friday totaled over 2,500,000 pounds. Domestic inquiry was reported as improving. The price here was firm at 18 cents a pound, delivered Connecticut valley.

Week's Failures Show Decrease

NEW YORK, July 20. — The number of commercial failures in the United States declined sharply this week, totaling 376 against 440 in the previous week, says R. G. Dun & Company. The number of defaults a year ago was 426. Except for a slight increase in the south, all sections had fewer insolvencies this week than last. The south alone showed an increase for the same period of 1928.

PLAN TO SNARE U. S. SEEN BY M'FADDEN

House Leader Regards Device As Attempt to Entangle America in European Strife

By MERRTLE STANLEY RUKEYSER.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Louis T. McFadden, chairman of the House Committee on Banking and Currency, regards the proposed International Bank as another service to entangle America into European internal affairs.

Expressing the traditional American policy of continued aloofness, Mr. McFadden said:

"Unless I can be shown otherwise, it seems to me that the proposed bank is nothing more or less than another move by some European and International banking agencies to drew us into just such an entanglement as we have repeatedly expressed our determination to avoid."

In laughing his attack on the mechanism which the young committee at the recent Paris conference proposed, Mr. McFadden, who is a Pennsylvania banker as well as a legislator, pointed out in the Saturday Evening Post, that "if the conditions under which the egg was laid are subject to either criticism or suspicion, its contents, when subjested to dispassionate examination, are even more so.

REPLACES EFFICIENT PLAN

"The proposed bank is obviously a machine to be created to replace one that is regarded as working efficiently under the Dawes plan. This is the transfer committee of S. Parker Gilbert, an American, recognized as a reparations expert of exceptional ability and foresight, and his associates. The committee has done and can do, its job perfectly well as long as Germany, by exports or by borrowing, can provide the foreign exchange necessary for the payment of the reparation annuities. If Germany cannot do this as the reparation settlement provides, no establishment of a new machine will enable the annuities to be transferred. The committee has in fact wasted its time too long on thinking out a new machine, when the machine already existing was quite efficient.

. . . The Secretary of State, after due conference with President Hoover and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, rendered the American people a genuine service in making it known that the government would not knowingly permit our Federal Reserve System to become involved in any such international venture."

EMPHASIZES BREACH

Mr. McFadden's statement emphasized the breach between Washington and Wall street on the question of an international bank. The sponsorship of the bank idea by Owen D. Young, chairman of the General Electric Company, J. P. Morgan and Thomas W. Lamont, leaves no doubt of its support in the financial district.

The emphatic statement by Secretary Stimson is just another evidence of political control of Federal Reserve policy.

New York State, in two recent failures, has had evidence of weakness of the banking law.

The significance of the City Trust Company failure was that the safeguards of the banking law could be vitiated by unworthy administrators. The former banking commissioner, a political appointee, out of friendship to the deceased president of the defunct trust company, winked at plain violations of the law and good banking. Such a failure of personel in a crucial position results from a policy of making appointments to jobs requiring outstanding personal fitness on the basis of political recommendations. Instead of consulting Tammany Hall or the Republican State Committee, as the case may be, the governor should make a habit of inviting recommendations for financial jobs from the New York State Bankers' Association. President Hoover has established a fine precedent in judicial appointments of making public the names of sponsors.

LAW LOOPHOLE SHOWN

The Clarke Brothers' failure emphasized loopholes in the laws which give exemption from state supervision to private banking firms. Apparently, the unwillingness to put teeth into the law is ascribable to reluctance to interfere with the vested rights of influential private banking firms in Wall street. The latter type is, however, of a distinctly different class, and discrimination could be continued.

The rapid recovery in wheat and other grain prices comes before the farmers in the Central West and Northwest, have disposed of their crops, and accordingly the earlier fears concerning the possibility of depreciated farm purchasing power are no longer warranted. The comeback in farm prices as the most distinctly favorable development in recent weeks and helps to generate optimism.

The growing attitude of caution toward stock prices is ascribable almost entirely to the swiftness with which quotations advanced since early in June—and not to any adverse economic trend outside the market place.

BOND MARKET ATTRACTING BUYERS

Bankers Again Stressing Favorable Opportunity for Selecting Investments

NEW YORK, July 20.—Despite the apathy which has reigned supreme for the past year in the market for investment bonds representative investment bankers continue to stress the attractiveness of sound issues.

While the Dow-Jones bond average recently established its low level on the decline and the index number for June has established another downward step, from a practical standpoint the decline for the past two months has been negligible and investors having purchased standard issues at prevailing prices throughout this period may consider, from the opinions of the best authorities, that they have made good purchases. As a matter of fact the most prominent bankers began stressing the advisability of buying bonds toward the latter part of last year, but these advices have been particularly prevalent in the past few months.

INSTITUTIONS BUYING

With the exception of institutional activity, however, the bond market has proved a dull affair and the great army of individual investors has taken lightly the well directed suggestions of bankers.

A majority of the seasoned issues appearing on dealers' offering sheets at present are issues acquired in the market at what were regarded attractive levels. Of course some represent recent underwritings of that house in particular or underwritings in which the house was a participant in the distributing syndicate. Since volume of bond underwriting involving issues without speculative features has been conducted in conservative amount in the past few months, it is true that most of these issues have been outstanding for some time. In this way investment houses which have acquired securities during uncertain periods, either for the security concerned or for the bond market as a whole, pass on these holdings to customers at a fair profit when the horizon has definitely cleared.

MUNICIPAL OFFERINGS

Municipal offerings are much in evidence at present by those houses with whom such financing is a specialty. The municipal market occupies relatively the same position as the general bond market in that it is at its low point on the decline. The present is believed particularly attractive for large investors to make commitments in long term municipal bonds as these issues are selling at their lowest prices in years. In addition to activity in other sections of the bond market, the large insurance companies are credited with substantial purchases of standard municipal obligations in recent weeks.

FOREIGN SECURITIES

Granting that the principal activity in the bond market recently has been in stock privilege issues it is noticeable that in July offering circulars these issues occupy a modest position. In numerous cases bonds are offered with convertible or other stock privileges of no current value, but which ultimately may become so. Another conspicuous feature of recent lists is the recommendation of various standard foreign bonds, all of which are distinctly attractive from a yield standpoint. Furthermore, the recent reparation accord has served to cement the confidence of American investors at large in foreign bonds. It is apparent that increasing interest is being displayed in bonds of the stronger governments, political divisions and corporations.

BANKERS' BILL VOLUME UP

NEW YORK, July 20.—Total volume of dollar acceptances on June 29 was $1,113,049,246, a gain of $5,880,394 over the May 31 volume and $86,883,951 higher than the volume for the corresponding date in 1928, American Acceptance Council reports.

Greatest gain is in credits based on goods stored abroad or shipped between foreign countries. This volume increased $20,789,968 during the month and is now within $3,500,000 of the highest level reported. Import credits remained at about the same total as in May, but export credits declined $12,900,000 to $368,000,000, the lowest point since September, 1928.

Domestic shipments took only $14,000,000, while warehouse secured credits declined $7,300,000 to $87,814,000, a loss that was almost exactly absorbed by a gain in credits to create dollar exchange.

It is significant that this year's increased use of banker' acceptance credits for seasonal requirements came fully two months ahead of 1928, when the lowest total was reached on August 31, at $952,000,000.

"A considerable part of the average increase in acceptance financing since the first of the year, as well as the growing volume at this time, is largely the result of the prosperous condition of business in this country and the tremendous production records that have been set up in the major industries, resulting in unusually large credit demands, also the careful adjustment of rates to keep acceptance credit costs attractive to borrowers, has been a strong influence in maintaining our dollar acceptance prestige," Acceptance Council report states.

Kreuger & Toll Buys Foreign Shares

LONDON, July 20.—The Financial Times understands that the persistent buying of the shares of the Telefon Aktiebolaget Ericcson, listed on the Stockholm Bourse, has been for the account of Kreuger & Toll.

It is understood that Kreuger & Toll is desirous of securing control of this concern as the combination would strengthen the position of both groups in the negotiations with foreign governments needing loans and willing to grant concessions in exchange. Telefon Aktiebolagat Ericcson has telephone concessions and factories in many countries, including Argentina and Mexico.

Last Half Prospects of Motors Cause Heavy Market Tone.

ON the basis of the showing made by the Hudson Motor Car Company, for the second quarter and the first half of the year, it appears that Motor Company profits in both periods will show up favorably as a whole. Hudson earned $3.79 a share for the quarter and the equivalent of $6.65 a share for the half year. This compared with $3.14 a share in the second quarter of 1928, and with $5.77 a share for the six months ended June 30, last year. Motor stocks, however, continued to display a heavy tone, presumably for the reason that interest now centers in their prospects for the final six months rather than in the results of the half year recently ended.

Both General Motors and Chrysler broke below 70, while Packard got under 130 and most of the other automobile stocks were correspondingly lower. There were insistent reports in the street that important interests were selling these stocks and this led to the circulation of many new rumors with regard to the seriousness of the let-up in motor demand. The outlook for the September period is somewhat uncertain. Aside from the actual sales resistance which many companies are meeting, operations in many plants are being curtailed because of preparations for new models and this is creating a more or less general feeling of apprehension over the immediate outlook.

NOW that the time is approaching when it is apparent buying of the red metal will be revived on an increased scale, the copper share list is being carefully scanned by market students. Miami Copper, according to many, appears to have excellent possibilities. Selling currently around 72 it is paying a dividend of $4 annually and yielding nearly 10 per cent. Prospects are that 1929 returns will prove the greatest in the company's history. Costs, it is estimated, will average about 10½ cents a pound for the full year, whereas the net cost per pound of copper produced in 1928 was 11.9 cents a pound. At the same time it is predicted that at the close of the present year the net cost will have been reduced to approximately 10 cents a pound which augrs well for 1930.

One of the most popular stocks at the moment is Standard Brands and the gossipers in eight out of 10 Wall street houses believe that the stock can be held for 100. That would be equal to $250 a share for Fleischmann which is selling at a record high of nearly 100 In the not too disttnt future Standard Brands will probably make good the present prediction of 100 but not before much of the present enthusiasm for the issue will have been forgotten. Acquisitions will be made from time to time to its products and it already looms up as a formidable competitor of the Comprehensive General Foods Company, formerly the Postum Company. Gold Dust with its First National Bank sponsorship would be a logical additional unit.

THE street hears that a large block of the Floating Supply of Delaware, Lackawanna and Western has been taken out of the market by an outstanding investment trust and that an announcement in connection with this purchase may be made shortly. While the stock of Lackawanna has moved up sharply in the past two weeks, generally the upward swing was heretofore attributed to reports of increased earnings in addition to greater general appreciation of the O'Fallon decision as it affected Lackawanna.

Although Columbia Graphophone has been subjected to considerable selling pressure over the course of recent weeks, the stock's followers continue to sound an optimistic note and in more than one quarter quiet accumulation is still under way. For the time being, perhaps, Columbia has about discounted recent favorable developments, but several large blocks of stock that were acquired at substantially lower levels are being left untouched in the certainty that levels well above those of the present will ultimately be realized.

Atlantic Enters New York State

CORNING, N. Y., July 20.—(AP.)—Purchase of the eight storage plants and 70 service stations of the Mohassey Brothers Oil Corporation by the Atlantic Refining Company of Philadelphia, was announced here today by Dayton Mohassey, president of the local corporation. This was said to be the first move of the Atlantic Refining Company to acquire storage and selling facilities in the state of New York.

WANTS BEACON LIGHTS IN PARKS

Banker Says Advertising Planes Flying Low Over Crowds Disturb Concerts

NEW YORK, July 20.—Beacon lights placed near concert fields have been suggested by Col. R. Potter Campbell, investment banker and president of American Cirrus Engines, Inc., Belleville, N. J. Col. Campbell suggests this as a solution for the problem raised by night-flying planes advertising various articles by illuminated signs on their wings.

"I am convinced that both the firms operating these planes and the companies which they are advertising do not wish to antagonize that large portion of the New York public which attends summer concerts in Central Park, the Lewisohn Stadium and other outdoor affairs where a loud noise overhead is naturally detrimental to full enjoyment," continued Col. Campbell. "I deplore the attitude of one of these airplane companies in its answer to the conductor's complaint that its pilots would continue to fly over the concert places at night and, if any further protests were made, would open their mufflers even wider than at present.

AIRMEN'S DIFFICULTIES

"However, it is obvious to anyone familiar with flying that it is difficult for a pilot sweeping in great circles over the city to distinguish the dimly-lit Lewisohn Stadium or Central Park Mall where concerts are being held. Even if all the lights were on, a pilot could not quickly pick them out. Accordingly, it seems a feasible suggestion that either the city or the concert managements install two or more beacons at corners of the field, which could be seen by the advertising plane pilot, enabling him to avoid this section. Such beacons would be lighted only during the two or three hours in which the music is being played and could be of less power or differently arranged than the landing field lights around the airports in the vicinity of New York so that air mail or private airplane pilots would not confuse them. Of course, they would only be used on clear nights, as these are the only times the advertising planes can be assured of good visibility from below.

"GOOD WILL" ELEMENT

"I do not believe that failure to bring their message to the 10,000 or so persons who attend concerts nightly during the summer season in this city would mean any diminuation in the appeal of this novel method of advertising. Rather, studious avoidance of the areas where their noise is disturbing or flying slightly higher over such areas than the approximately 2,000 feet now maintained would, in my opinion, create sufficient good-will for the advertising companies and the plane firms to create this slight disadvantage."

There are great possibilities in advertising by airplane, particularly over the great cities of the world, according to Col. Campbell, and thus equitable solution of the present problem in New York is of considerable importance in guiding similar advertising ventures already begun or contemplated in this country and abroad.

Transamerica Buys Los Angeles Bank

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—Purchase of the Pacific National Bank of Los Angeles by Transamerica Corporation was today announced by the latter company. Pacific National has eight branches and is the largest of the unit banks in Los Angeles. It has resources in excess of $17,000,000, invested capital of $2,500,000 and deposits of $12,500,000. It was established in 1925. E. M. Smith of Emsco Brake Lining Company, will continue as president.

Terms of the purchase have not been announced, but it is believed here that merger will be effected by means of exchange of stock.

Member of I. C. C. Offers Rail Program

NEW YORK, July 20.—(AP.)—The New York Times today says a plan for consolidating the country's railroads into great transportations systems has been devised by Claude R. Porter, member of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The commission was directed to prepare such a plan under the Transportation Act of 1920, and Mr. Porter, it was said, has submitted his plan to his colleagues.

Details of the consolidation network that Mr. Porter has devised are secret, and are not expected to be revealed until the commission is prepared to hold public hearings on it.

Mr. Porter believes that his plan or another plan should be put forth without delay by the commission, not necessarily as a final solution of the consolidation problem but as a basis on which a solution would be based.

Mr. Porter would have the commission announce its plan before starting hearings on four merger plans which have been submitted to it by large railroads. Under his plan of action the railroads would then be called upon to show cause why their schemes should not be made to conform with that of the commission. This, Mr. Porter believes, would save time and prevent disputes.

AMERICAN CAR IN FAVOR ABROAD

United States Supplies 48 Per Cent of Autos Now in Use in Foreign Countries

WASHINGTON, July 20.—The vast predominance of the automotive industry of the United States and Canada in the world is pointed out by the Department of Commerce. Practically nine of every 10 cars in the world today are American made.

Of a grand total of 32,028,500 automobiles in world circulation, 28,551,500 or more than 90 per cent were manufactured in the United States. This figure includes 24,567,000 passenger cars, over 91 per cent of the world total, and 3,984,500 trucks, almost 80 per cent.

Almost every other automobile outside the continental United States and Canada is American-made; of the 6,336,843 cars in foreign countries about 2,881,000 or 45 per cent, came from the United States. Of the total passenger cars those of American make number 2,231,600 or 48 per cent, and of trucks and busses 639,380 or 38½ per cent.

HUGE INDUSTRY

That the world is rapidly becoming motorized is shown by comparing world registration figures of a relatively recent year with the present: At the end of 1922, it is estimated that there were registered 14,618,944, less than half the number in operation on January 1, 1929. The increase in continental United States during that same period was 12,390,068, or more than 100 per cent since 12,239,853 were being operated at the end of 1922, and 24,629,921 at the end of 1928. At the same time, the increase in use of automobiles in the world, excluding continental United States, was 5,019,572, or 210 per cent over the 1922 total of 2,379,091.

The automobile industry in the United States outranks all other manufacturing industries. Automobiles also rank first in exports of manufactured products from the United States. Exports alone from the United States and Canada nearly equal the combined production of the rest of the world.

RAPID EXPANSION

Thus it is not difficult to understand why the United States and Canada support such a large majority of the world's motor cars. Just as our manufacturers build and export more automobiles than the rest of the world combined, we also are the world's heaviest consumer. At the beginning of 1929, the automobiles circulating in the United States and Canada numbered 25,691,751, or over 80 per cent of the world total—a proportion that includes 82.7 per cent of the world's passenger cars and 66.4 per cent of its trucks and buses.

Farrell Silent On Columbia Reports

NEW YORK, July 20.—(AP.)—James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel Corporation, refused to comment on a report from San Francisco that his company might purchase the Columbia Steel Company.

The report said that the sale might be effected next week when Herbert Fleishacker, a director of the Anglo & London Paris National Bank of San Francisco; R. W. Kinney, chairman of the Columbia executive committee, and L. F. Rains, vice president and general manager, arrive here from the Pacific coast. It is understood that they will confer with Mr. Farrell regarding the sale, which said to depend on the acceptance of a definite offer made to Columbia interests by the Steel corporation.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—(AP.)—The Bulletin said yesterday that sale of the Columbia Steel Corporation here to the United States Steel Corporation may be consummated in New York next week.

The newspaper said it was rumored Columbia has been offered a minimum price of $20 for Columbia Steel common stock.

State Approves Indiana Cutoff

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 20.—(AP.)—The State Highway Department has announced definite plans for the construction of 30 miles of concrete highways under the provisions of the Wheeler-Flynn act. The total cost will approximate $1,330,000. A shorter route over improved roads from Indiana to Pittsburgh will be provided under one of two approved projects for Armstrong County, which is allocated $368,378 for highways. This plan will close a four-mile gap between Shady Plain and South Bend, and make it possible to cut off five miles over the William Penn route.

CITY'S RETAIL TRADE FIRM

Retail trade continues in very fair volume for this period of the year, with sales of seasonable merchandise stimulated by favorable weather conditions as well as through extensive advertising and clearance sales, says R. G. Dun & Company's Weekly Review. The jobbing trade continues quiet as a whole, although averaging somewhat ahead of a year ago, and some fall orders are being placed. There is a fair demand for building materials, while the lumber trade is reported rather quiet. Jobbers of groceries and provisions report sales in moderate volume.

With steel plants operating at close to capacity, and at a rate much higher than normal for this period of the year, industrial operations as a whole will average considerably better than last year. While a slight falling off is reported in the demand for plate glass, production continues at close to capacity, and prospects continue encouraging. A slight improvement is noted in the demand for window glass but the situation in that line is much less satisfactory than in the plate glass line. Production of electrical and radio equipment continues very fair for this season of the year, with prospects for fall viewed with considerable optimism. The production of crude oil continues at a record rate and prices paid for Pennsylvania grades were reduced 2 cents a barrel this week.

The bituminous coal situation shows no particular change, production being at a slightly lower rate and the demand disappointing. Prices for Western Pennsylvania grades of run-of-mine coal are practically unchanged and quotations per net ton are as follows: Steam coal, $1.25 to $1.75; coking coal, $1.50 to $1.75; gas coal, $1.65 to $1.75; steam slack, 80c to 90c, and gas slack, $1.00 to $1.10.

N. Y. Transit Oil Deliveries Expand

Crude oil deliveries by New York Transit Company in the first 15 days of July averaged 10,000 barrels daily, compared with deliveries of 8,234 barrels a day in like period a year ago. Deliveries in the first six months averaged 6,907 barrels daily, against 6,144 barrels in like period last year.

Runs from wells averaged 1,010 barrels a day in first 15 days of this month, compared with 777 barrels daily in corresponding period a year ago, and runs for the first six months averaged 976 barrels daily, against 759 barrels in first six minths of 1928.

ROUND TABLE OF BUSINESS

INDIANA MAY TAKE OVER PAN PETE

Offer Expected to Be Made On Basis of 16 Indiana for 15 of Pan American Co.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Standard Oil Company of Indiana is expected to offer shortly an exchange of stock to Pan American Petroleum and Transport Company on the basis of one and one-fifth shares of Standard Oil Company of Indiana for each share of Pan American.

An exchange is also expected to be made by Pan-American for stock of the Lago Oil and Transport Corporation, possibly in the ratio of one share of Pan-American for two of Lago.

SENSATIONAL GROWTH

In pointing out the growth of its stock transfer department, Standard Oil Company of Indiana states that stock in the company could have been purchased in 1911 for $3,855 a share, which is worth at present, market quotations about $53,000. This calculation takes into consideration stock dividend payments of 2900 per cent on April 2, 1912, 150 per cent on December 15, 1920, 100 per cent on December 28, 1922, and 50 per cent on February 16, 1929.

"During this period," the company states, "such stockholders also received a total of $20,032.50 in cash dividends.

STOCK DIVIDENDS

"The 2900 per cent stock dividend of April 2, 1912, increased the number of shares outstanding to 300,000. On August 31, 1912, the company paid its first dividend, amounting to $900,000, to approximately 4,700 stockholders. Since then there has been a prodigious increase, as evidenced by 55,285 stockholders having participated in the cash and stock dividends declared to stockholders of record February 16, 1929, the cash dividend amounting to $15,691,336.09. These figures are exclusive of stock distributed to participants in the second employes stock purchasing plan."

In April of the current year 13,209 certificates of stock of the company were issued. In the same month of 1917, the most readily accessible records, 584 certificates were issued in connection with transfers.

Michigan Steel Earnings Expand

DETROIT, July 20.—Estimated earnings of Michigan Steel Corporation for six months ended June 30 are placed at $1,185,000 after all charges including taxes equal to $5.40 a share, on 220,000 shares common stock outstanding. Such earnings set a new record and represent a 13 per cent increase over $1,049,902 or $4.47 a share reported for the entire year of 1928.

Actual earnings to May this year amounted to $1,003,150 after all charges equal to $4.55 a share.

Current operations are running over rated capacity according to George R. Fink, president. Though last year the company increased its plant capacity 75 per cent, a further increase will be essential this year, Mr. Fink declared.

Mr. Fink also heads the $20,000,000 Great Lakes Steel Corporation, which is mentioned in rumor will be consolidated with Michigan Steel.

DEBT INTEREST REDUCED

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Interest rate on the public debt for 1929 fical year showed a slight reduction from the preceding year. Average rate on public debt securities outstanding in 1929, fical year, based on the amounts and rates of securities outstanding at the close of each month, was 3.898 per cent, which compares with 3.901 per cent in 1928 fiscal year.

Although change in rate in past fical year was slight, it was the seventh consecutive year to show a decrease in average rate of interest paid as compared with preceding year. Decrease in interest payments during 1929 fiscal year was due more to a redemption of high rate bonds than to a lowering of interest rate, although the latter has been a contributing factor since 1922, when interest rate reached its high mark at 4.29 per cent.

Mid-West Carbide Company Formed

NEW YORK, July 20.—Mid-West Carbide Corporation has recently been organized by National Lead Company and Shawinigan Products Corporation of New York, a subsidiary of Srawinigan Water and Power Company of Canada, for purpose of carrying on manufacture of calcium carbide at Keokuk, Ia. Heretofore conducted by United Lead Company, a subsidiary of National Lead, new company will have benefit of technical skill and experience of Shawinigan interests in Canada, as well as that of former United Lead Company personnel.

SUMMER LULL IN STEEL PASSES

Any Further Decline in Output May be More Or Less Permanent

By B. E. V. LUTY.

The time is now passed for the usual summer dip in steel production, and there has been virtually none. In the last four years the decrease from the high month to the low month has ranged from 16 to 27 per cent. It is possible that the official report of steel ingot production this month may show a decrease of 5 per cent or a trifle more from the May rate, which was record high, but that would be ascribable chiefly to physical causes, hot weather and an unusual number of failures of open-hearth furnaces after nearly six months of exceptionally hard driving.

JULY INCREASE

Thus far the rule has been invariable, that when there was a dip and a subsequent recovery the increase in steel production began not later than the middle of July. Last year, in fact, June was the low month instead of July. In 1927 there was no recovery at all. In 1923 production continued declining until the end of the year. Precedents therefore would indicate that if there is any decline in production after this month it will be of a more or less permanent character. Obviously that is possible, since production in the last 12 months has been exceptional, far above the general trend line of the last few years, while it has been well above its former relation to general industrial activity as measured, for example, by the Federal Reserve Board's index of industrial production, including manufacturing and mining.

The natural question is why has there been no summer dip this year, violating all precedent? The most plausible theory is that the dips in former years were made chiefly by buying habits, customers of the steel industry, and their customers in turn, anticipating summer requirements in preparation for vacations. This year anticipation was impossible, for everyone was so busy that deliveries during the second quarter were barely adequate, and steel producers and their customers alike reached July 1 with a large supply of actual shipping orders on books.

MODERATE FALL IN BUYING

All told, there was a moderate decrease in the volume of steel buying beginning about June 1, but mills were so well provided with shipping orders that no material decrease in production occurred, deliveries continuing and becoming less deferred. In some cases mills practically caught up with their orders. On the whole, buying seems to have been heavier since July 1 than in the same period of June. There is certainly more buying than conservative sellers had expected, for they were fearful that the shortening in delivery times would have an adverse influence.

DELIVERIES CAUGHT UP

Merchant bar mills are practically caught up in deliveries, delays in filling a mixed specification simply involving the time necessary to get around to rolling the various sizes required. Plate mills are several weeks behind hand in deliveries, while four months ago Pittsburgh plate mills were not particularly busy. The change occurred by plate business overflowing from the West. Shape mills have a large tonnage of business scheduled for delivery, but are not really behind hand as they are meeting the requirements of the fabricating shops. Some of the sheet mills are a few weeks behind in delivery on certain descriptions of sheets, chiefly blue annealed, but in general the sheet industry is meeting all obligations as promptly as consumers desire. Throughout the season the tin plate mills have been making fully adequate deliveries. In wire and pipe mills have been far from fully occupied and no serious question ever arose about deliveries.

Generally the best criterion as to steel mill prospects is the condition and prospects of the steel consuming industries, if they can be observed. There has been no adverse change except that in rails and automobile steel there is a seasonal decrease. Automobile production has had just a trifle more than its average seasonal decrease to date. In the last five years production has averaged 18 per cent decrease from the first half to the second half, and of course one should not expect a smaller decrease this year. Regularly rail production runs lighter in the second half of a year, but deliveries on old orders are being completed somewhat later than usual and the present supplementary rail buying movement is expected to be heavier than last year.

AGRICULTURAL STEEL

The agricultural implement industry, which has been swinging from one season to another in the character of implements made, now counts upon heavy production for at least three months to come. The freight car shops have a fair amount of business ahead and should continue at their present rate for several months. Fabricated structural steel lettings have been running very heavy and the shops are full of business. Lettings reported in the past week totaled only 26,000 tons, making a light week after several very heavy weeks, but new business coming out for bidding totaled about 75,000 tons. A large volume of line pipe business is on books and some particularly large projects are being seriously considered.

FINISHED STEEL PRICES

In the main, finished steel prices are firm, but there is an increasing list of irregularities in less important items, in lines that are frequently irregular. There has been shading in wire nails in some sections for several weeks. Galvanized sheets began weakening about a month ago and are now showing a little additional weakness. In black sheets, hitherto quotable at 2.85 cents to 2.95 cents, efforts to obtain 2.95 cents have practically been abandoned. Since the first of the month cold rolled strips have been somewhat easy, small lots frequently not commanding their usual advance over large lots.

Naturally, the steel company earnings reports now coming out are very favorable. There was 9 per cent increase in steel production from the first quarter to the second, when the last four years averaged 7 per cent decrease, while production in the second quarter of this year was 23 per cent above the second quarter of last year.

Stock Market Financed By Industry

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

INDUSTRIAL companies and other non-banking organizations are carrying more than half the burden of stock market financing. Brokers' loans have reached new high ground without the help of the Federal Reserve system. In short, American business has shown itself capable of providing for expanding speculation and investment. This has been the net result of the Federal Reserve policy.

The announcement that brokers' loans had increased $58,000,000 to $5,813,000,000 in the week ended July 17 created very little comment in comparison with the wide discussion of the loans earlier in the year. On Friday the stock market was strong and call money closed at 7 per cent after a renewal rate of 8 per cent.

The lack of nervousness over the expanding total may be attributed to the fact that the Federal Reserve Board has no grounds for becoming alarmed about it.

Bank Loans Off

THE total loans were $483,000,000 over the amount at the beginning of the year but the entire source of new credit has been in "loans for others." At the beginning of the year New York member banks and out-of-town banks were supplying 59 per cent of the stock market credit. The last statement showed them to be carrying only 48 per cent of it.

Not only have non-banking lenders supplied the increased demand, but the amount of credit made available by the banks has declined sharply since the beginning of the year. The loans of New York member banks for their own account have dropped $380,000,000. The loans for out-of-town banks increased only $29,000,000. While this has been going on the "loans for others" have expanded $836,000,000.

Decline Large

THE loans made by New York banks were at their high level for all time on January 2. Those for out-of-town banks, while showing little change from the beginning of the year are now $255,000,000 below their high on February 6, just before the famous Federal Reserve warning.

At their total of $3,002,000,000 the "loans for others" are only slightly below their peak level of $3,042,000,000 reported for May 22. Since that time the amount of credit given to the stock market by non-banking organizations has shown little variation.

That the present demand for Federal Reserve credit is not heavy may be seen by the fact that the system's holdings of redicounted bills decreased $31,000,000 during the last week reported and its bills bought in the open market declined $24,900,000.

Warning Effective

SO FAR as the Federal Reserve Board is concerned, its warning appears to have been entirely effective. It has accomplished the result of reducing the amount of reserve system credit used by the stock market.

Instead of crippling speculative and investment activity, however, it has merely increased the cost of money. New sources of credit have been tapped. The enormous profits secured by American industry during the past year have supplied a large share. The great investment trust organizations which have sprung into being have supplied another reservoir since these organizations at various times have large proportions of their funds in liquid form.

Higher money rates have undoubtedly drawn much foreign money to this country but it is difficult to make any estimate of the extent of this support to the credit structure.

Postpone Allied Packers Sale

NEW YORK, July 20.—The special master's sale of Allied Packers, Inc., has been postponed to August 7.

It is the intention of the committee representing security holders of Allied Packers, Inc., which has been in hands of federal receiver since January, to bid in the property at this sale and to turn it over to Hy-Grade Food Products Corporation.

No Decision Yet on Electric Bond Case

WASHINGTON, July 20.—The Federal Trade Commission has as yet reached no decision as to the action to be taken regarding the recent Federal Court opinion relative to the Electric Bond and Share Company and the investigation which the commission is making into the affairs of that corporation. The commission is at present without a quorum in Washington and considerable time must necessarily elapse before any definite action can be taken on behalf of the commission.

TRADE INDEX RECEDES

WASHINGTON, July 20.—The volume of money turnover during the week ended July 13, as indicated by check payments, was lower than in either the preceding week or corresponding period of 1928, according to the weekly statement of the Department of Commerce. Operations in steel plants were on a somewhat lower level than in the preceding week but were considerably more active than at this time a year ago. The production of bituminous coal during the latest reported week showed a decline from the preceding week but was higher than a year ago. Crude petroleum production showed gains over both periods.

The general level of wholesale prices showed a fractional decline from the preceding week and was more than 1 per cent lower than a year ago. Prices for iron and steel were somewhat lower than in the preceding week but were higher than a year ago. Cotton prices, showing no change from the previous week, were lower than a year ago. Loans and discounts of Federal reserve member banks showed practically no change from the preceding week but were higher than at this time last year. Interest rates on time loans showed no change from the previous week while call loan rates showed a decline. Interest rates on both time and call funds were higher than a year ago. Bond prices showed no change from the previous week but were lower than last year. Prices for stocks showed further gains over both periods. Business failures were more numerous than in the preceding week but showed a decline from the corresponding period of 1928.

Receipts of cotton during the latest available week showed a gain over the corresponding week of last year. Cattle receipts showed a decline from a year ago, while receipts of hogs showed a gain. Wheat receipts were considerably greater than in the corresponding week of 1928.

Sun Oil's Income For Half Year Up

PHILADELPHIA, July 20.—The Sun Oil Company reports consolidated net income of $3,637,540 for six months ended June 30, equal, after preferred dividends, to $2.68 a share on 1,299,934 common shares, against $2,513,929, or $1.96 a share on 1,206,196 common shares in the same period in 1928.

WESTERN UNION PROSPECTS IMPROVE

Record Earnings Expected For Year; Net to Exceed $15,467,000 Reported '28

NEW YORK, July 20.—Western Union enjoyed one of the best six months' earnings in the history of the company with an estimated net income of $7,508,533 after charges and federal taxes, equivalent to $7.33 a share on 1,023,781 shares of capital stock and compared with $7.32 a share on 997,877 shares the first half of 1928.

Incidentally the June quarter showed net income of $3,922,339 after above charges, equal to $3.83 a shares on 1,023,781 shares, compared with $3,586,194, or $3.50 a share, on $1,023,781 shares in preceding quarter and $4,385,451, or $4.40 a share on 997,877 shares in second quarter of previous year. It is obvious that the company is enjoying one of the best years in its long history and with the largest six months to hear from it would appear that the company will show earnings of more than $16 a share or twice the current dividend requirements.

$15.10 LAST YEAR

In 1928 net was $15,467,659, or $15.10 a share on 1,023,781 shares.

Company did a gross business of $72,610,036 for the six months which was more than $5,000,000 above the total for the same period last year. It is apparent that the company's effort in making the telegraph and cable a more popular medium of communication is bearing fruit with the growing gross totals which registered new records every quarter. The night letter, day letter and week-end letter, both for cables and telegrams, have a tremendous vogue throughout the country.

DIVIDEND OUTLOOK

Western Union capital stock, currently selling at a high of 228, compared with the low of the year at 179¾, has attained a large portion of this year's advance in the last month based on Street gossip to the effect that the directors were considering a capital readjustment. It is true that from time to time some directors have discussed capital adjustment, stock dividends, split-ups, etc. It is also a fact that today there are some inside interests as well as large stockholders who would favor a split-up with an increased cash dividend. At the moment the Street is talking of a 3-for-1 splitup with the new stock being placed on a $3 basis, which would mean $9 for the old stock.

SPLIT-UP UNLIKELY

The management of the corporation, as represented by Newcomb Carlton, president, has always deprecated such rumors and is known to be against stock dividends, believing in a more permanent and definite cash disbursement. When the current reports were brought to the attention of Mr. Carlton he said that his policy had not changed and that neither a split-up nor a stock dividend were under consideration. It is more likely that later in the year, if business continues at the present prosperous rate, the cash rate may be increased.

Newcomb Carlton has always favored increased competition both from radio and other telegraph companies. He has stated that it increases volume of business and so it has proved. Competition has been getting stiffer and stiffer with both the Postal and the Radio Corporation and now these companies are planning wireless short wave length intercity communication which will be a further basis for competition.

MEETS COMPETITION

On the other hand Western Union still holds about 90 per cent of the land line facilities of this country and a goodly share of the cable communications. It has thus far successfully met competition, often enough leading in the matter of cutting rates. The company has always been successful in keeping a firm grip on expenses and it has been this factor, plus the fact that it has ploughed back at least $100,000,000 into plant in the last decade to bring its cables and land lines up to the minute, that has made it possible to hold the forefront of the communications lines in its particular field without any difficulty.

Detroit Aircraft Output Schedule

DETROIT, July 20.—Manufacturing operations of Detroit Aircraft Corporation on a "line" method similar to that employed in the automobile industry will begin immediately in the former Studebaker plant here, E. S. Evans president, announced. Approximately 50,000 square feet of floor space has been leased. Mr. Evans stated the executive offices will also be located in the vacated auto plant.

Associated Gas Sets New Output Record

NEW YORK, July 20.—Associated Gas and Electric System, including General Gas and Electric and Rochester Central groups, had June electric output of 211,480,051 killowatt hour, a new record, and an increase of 27,910,632 killowatt hour or 15 per cent.

The system's June gas output was 1,191,322,248 cubic feet, and for 12 months exceeded 15,000,000,000 cubic feet.

Sheet Glass Firm Stock Split Approved

TOLEDO, O., July 20. — The Libby-Owens Sheet Glass Company stockholders have approved an increase in capital stock to $2,500,000 no par shares from 1,000,000 shares, thus paving the way for an exchange of stock on the basis of four new shares for each share held.

It was also voted to change the name of the company to Libby-Owens Glass Company.

THREATEN NEW GAS LAW

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—With the physical operation of California's natural gas conservation law scheduled within the next 45 days, a growing number of observers close to the industry are of the opinion that the law is unconstitutional and will not stand up under a test case. No test action is contemplated by the major operators who are generally favorable to the new law, but it is believed that its constitutionality may be challenged by some of the smaller operators who will be affected.

Operators have definitely abandoned any attempt to control oil production through proration agreements and the gas conservation law which would indirectly control crude production is looked upon with favor by the majority of the larger companies.

Secretary of the Interior Wilbur recently stated that he considered the California law a model and had recommended it for consideration to Wyoming, Texas and Oklahoma. In view of this statement, any breakdown of the California law would tend to nullify a number of the good results of the Colorado conference called by Presidnt Hoover. If the California law is dclared unconstitutional, it is regarded as probable that the national government will feel sufficient cause to enter actively in legislation to control waste of natural gas.

WOOL DEMAND BROADENS

BOSTON, July 20.—(AP.)—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say:

"There is a broader inquiry for fine wools and a little more business in such wools at prices which seem to have crystallized about on the basis of last week's sales, medium wools are firm. In the west, buying is scattered and consignments more general, with no change in price basis.

'London has been irregular but seems to be steadier towards the weekend, at no change in values. Withdrawals have been fairly considerable thus far.

"Tropical Worsted openings are made at prices unchanged to 10 cents a yard lower than last year and reveal a shortage of such goods in the market, which has resulted in better business for the mills and better prices for medium wools.

"Mohair is quiet but steady.

"The rail and water shipments of wool from Boston from January 1, 1929, to July 18, 1929, inclusive, were 98,247,000 pounds against 87,941,000 pounds for the same period last year, the receipts from January 1, 1929, to July 18, 1929, inclusive, were were 179,242,685 pounds against 197,645,500 pounds for the same period last year."

Apartment Building Figures Increase

NEW YORK, July 20.—A substantial gain in apartment house projects brought the new construction total in the past week to $63,150,000, compared with $47,050,000 in the preceding week and $57,650,000 in the same week a year ago, says the McGraw-Hill Construction Daily.

Proposed work in the heavy construction field in the recent period showed the following totals: Apartments and hotels, $23,850,000; commercial buildings, $8,100,000; educational buildings, $4,600,000; public works, $4,000,000; industrial projects, $3,800,000; railroad improvements, $1,850,000; hospitals, $1,500,000, and unclassified, $15,450,000.

JONES LAW HIT IN 2 COURTS

CHICAGO, July 20.—(AP.)—Constitutionality of the Jones prohibition enforcement law was attacked almost simultaneously yesterday in federal courts in Omaha and Chicago. Decision in both cases was withheld.

George Meacham, president of the Omaha Bar Association, representing 20 defendants in liquor cases, argued before Federal Judge J. W. Woodrough that if the Jones law is upheld "it opens the way for Congress to pass additional laws which may bring about complete abolition of the jury trial system."

The attack in the Chicago court of Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward was in the form of a petition filed in behalf of Ira Goldman, Chicago druggist, who has started serving a one-year sentence on liquor charges to which he pleaded guilty.

The petition charges among other things that the law under which Goldman was sentenced is unconstitutional and void because it permits the courts to pass upon facts which heretofore have always been in the province of the jury, that the sentence was excessive, and that the court which tried and sentenced him was without jurisdiction.

Sinclair's First Term Expires; Still In

WASHINGTON, July 20.—(AP.)—Harry F. Sinclair, oil magnate, ends today his three months' sentence for contempt of the Senate, but the prison doors will not open for him until November 22, at the earliest, as since that term started a second of six months for jury-shadowing in the Fall-Sinclair conspiracy trial has been imposed. With good behavior allowance he will be free before Thanksgiving.

SCOOTER PICNIC WEDNESDAY

Th first of a series of three great picnics for boys and girls on "Whoopee" scooters will be held at Idlewild Park, July 24.

Details concerning proposed races will be in tomorrow's Sun-Telegraph.

Watch for the announcement of these races. Keep track of the winners. Prizes will be offered by the Sun-Telegraph.

The first races will be announced in tomorrow's Sun-Telegraph.

Takes Two Years To Serve 60 Days

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., July 20.—Isaac Nicholson, of Camden, was out of the Lewis county jail at Weston after taking two years to complete a 60-day sentence.

Originally he was jailed on a prohibition count, but he escaped from custody three times, each escape bringing an additional jail sentence.

After his last escape, officers told Nicholson's wife that he would be in trouble if he did not return, and the next morning he was sitting on the jail steps when the sheriff came down to breakfast.

The Interstate Commerce Commission in Washington yesterday authorized the Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railway to intervene in the plans of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad to acquire controlling stock in the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh. A hearing on the application will be held in Washington next Wednesday, when it is expected the plans will be opposed by the Pittsburgh and West Virginia.

It was announced last night that the B. & O. has decided to eliminate the Chicago, Indianapolis and Louisville from the list of roads it proposed to acquire under its unification plan.

Blame Peace Sect For Burning Schools

BEMITO, Manitoba, July 20.—(AP.)—Schools in this district have been placed under armed guard following the burning of 12 school houses.

It was said here that residents had appealed to the authorities for protection. The buildings destroyed were situated on both sides of the Manitoba-Saskatchewan border.

Another element of unrest in the vicinity has been demonstrations by the so-called "Sons of Freedom," who have paraded and nailed up posters denouncing war and advocating disarmament. One poster read:

"This ground is the gift of God. It can neither be bought nor sold because the kingdom of God is here."

This sect has at times objected to sending its children to school.

CHANCE FOR DAVIS CUP AFTER ALL

EVEN though Tommy Loughran, forced to relinquish the world light-heavyweight crown because he can no longer make the class limit of 175 pounds without endangering his health, may fail to get anywhere in his proposed invasion of the heavyweight division, he is entitled to a great deal more credit than the average retiring scepter-holder as he passes out of the throne room.

Tommy Loughran.

The class that he led may not hold the public's attention to the same degree as some of the others, and Loughran, as its leader, may have lacked the color and popular appeal usually found in men who run more to the slugging or knockout type.

But Tommy has been a real champion and a credit to the ring sport, for all that, not only because he gave all rival title aspirants a chance and fought everybody who came along, successfully defending his honors seven times in 21 months, but because throughout his career he has lived up to the highest ideals of clean sportsmanship.

WHEN Loughran fought Mickey Walker in Chicago under an odd agreement that meant Tommy would receive $40,000 more if defeated than he would get for a victory, many of the wise boys scented a job and picked Walker to win. But Loughran fooled them. He fought an honest fight and won.

And now in his withdrawal as light-heavyweight champion, the Philadelphian sets another example of honesty and sportsmanship that stands out strikingly in these days of shady fistic "business arrangements." He defeats his most dangerous title rival and one day later throws up his championship, when he might have "lost" it at a profit, if he were of the crooked kind, and then attributed his downfall to weakness resulting from making the weight.

THE selling of a ring championship wouldn't be new. Don't think for a minute that it hasn't been done. Not all fighters are Loughrans, more's the pity.

Speculation as who will succeed Tommy as champion of the 175-pounders is now in order. The consensus of opinion is that his defeated opponent of Thursday night, James J. Braddock, is the best qualified man to take his place.

Bob Fitzsimmons.

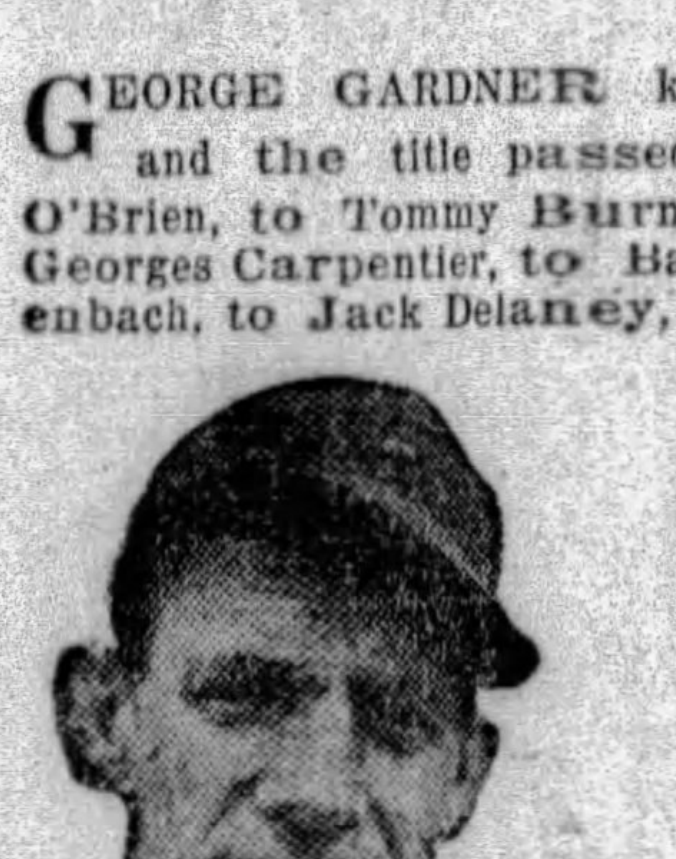
THE situation causes the older members of the Queensberry fan fraternity to look back over light-heavyweight history and wonder what a former leader of the class, Bob Fitzsimmons, would have done to the champions who came after him. An attest of that terrific puncher's durability and general class is the fact that he was 41 years old when he won the light-heavyweight honors from George Gardner in 1903.

FITZ, of course, had passed his peak then, but the chances are that in the earlier days of his greatness he would have beaten all of the other light-heavy champions of history in a row. Lanky Bob had more than the hardest punch ever carried by a man of his pounds. He was awkwardly clever and a master of every trick of the game.

Lou Houseman, of Chicago, established the light-heavy class in 1903, when he put up a championship belt for competition to back Jack Root against any man in the world at 175 pounds.

GEORGE GARDNER knocked out Root, Fitz defeated Gardner, and the title passed along from Fitz to Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, to Tommy Burns, to Jack Dillon, to Battling Levinsky, to Georges Carpentier, to Battling Siki, to Mike McTigue, to Paul Berlenbach, to Jack Delaney, back to McTigue when Delaney gave it up for weight reasons, and then to Loughran.

Gene Tunney and Harry Greb were only champions of America in that class and never held the world title.



Heinie Meine.

AFTER holding first place steadily since the morning of the Fourth of July, the Pirates find their National League leadership at stake today on the outcome of their double-header with the Giants and the Cubs' final bill with the Robins. A double victory for Chicago and an even break for Pittsburgh would put the Bruins in front by three points. Two winning Buccaneer slab streaks also are on trial today. Heinie Meine has won five straight games and has yet to be defeated, and Burleigh Grimes has beaten the Giants six times without once losing to them since they traded him to Pittsburgh after the 1927 season.

CLARENCE DeMAR and other veteran distance men in various parts of the country have demonstrated that age does not act as a cure for running fever. Now comes an old-timer of this section to contribute further evidence. He is Everett C. McClelland, Sr., residing near McDonald, in his day one of the best in the game.

McClelland is 66 years old and started his racing career half a century ago, but he isn't ready to quit. On the contrary he challenges any distance runner in the country not less than 50 years old to meet him in a 25-mile race. The veteran has run more than 1,700 races in his time, and declares that the only one he ever lost was a mile event in which he was defeated by Peter Priddy, once famous athlete of Pittsburgh.

AMERICAN turfmen had hoped to prevail upon the Earl of Derby to show some of his race horses in competition during his coming visit to this country. They were disappointed when informed that none of the English runners would be shipped.

However, the present Earl, to whom the title has passed down from the founder of the great English Derby dating back practically a century and a half, says he will remain in the United States to witness the running of the 1930 Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs next spring.

Francis T. Hunter.

THAT the American tennis chiefs knew what they were about when they selected Big Bill Tilden and Francis T. Hunter, instead of the youngsters, George Lott and John Hennessy, to oppose Germany in the singles of the Davis Cup zone finals, was made clear yesterday by the manner in which the veterans made victory practically certain for the United States, sweeping the two matches and losing only a single set against six won. It looked like a time when experience would count for more than youthful dash, and the result showed the wisdom of the selections. In view of the form shown by Tilden and Hunter Uncle Sam may have a chance for the cup after all in the challenge round with France, particularly if the French team loses the services of Rene Lacoste through illness, as is reported probable.

YANKS FAVORED IN DOUBLES TODAY

BERLIN, July 20.—(AP.)—Germany's rapid rise in international tennis came to an abrupt but not unexpected halt against the more seasoned skill of the American stars, William T. Tilden and Francis T. Hunter, in the opening singles matches of the interzone finals for the Davis cup yesterday.

Tilden, playing in fine form, disposed of the methodical Hans Moldenhauer in straight sets, 6-2, 6-4, 6-4. Hunter, after looking like a loser for the first 15 minutes, defeated Daniel Prenn, German national champion, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3.

CAN WIN TODAY

Thus, with two victories down on their slate, the Americans need only one of the three remaining matches to become challengers again for the trophy they lost to France in 1927. The Americans may clinch the series today as the youngster doubles team, John Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison, Wimbledon champions meet Prenn and Moldenhauer. The final two singles matches, with Tilden meeting Prenn and Moldenhauer playing Hunter, will be held tomorrow.

Tilden had no easy job of it in beating Moldenhauer. The German was never brilliant, but he did plug away steadily and compelled the tall Philadelphian to call on almost every stroke in his repertoire. The Teuton seemed afflicted by stage fright at the start and dropped the first two games to a more composed opponent without much of a struggle.

GERMAN ACE RALLIES

Once he got his nerves steadied, however, Moldenhauer fought hard. In both the second and third sets the German moved into the lead only to have Tilden draw upon the reserve of strength and strategy he so often seems able to summon when games are going against him. Tilden polished off his man on the last point with one of his famous cannonball aces, drawing a great cheer from the crowd.

Tilden delivered himself of only one audible remark during the match. That was a complaint that the line judge hadn't spoken distinctly. The judge had said "out" and had said it in English, but Tilden on having it repeated plainly showed he thought the ball was in.

To please him Moldenhauer let the next serve whiz past without swinging at the ball, whereupon Tilden, not to be outdone in courtesy, purposely served a double fault.

Hunter's match with Prenn was a bang-up battle from start to finish. Errors were few; placements were many, both men scoring frequent passing shots from midcourt.

PRENN STARTS WELL

Prenn began in magnificent style, taking the first set in such a manner that the crowd had high hopes of seeing the first day's honors divided, but Hunter got better and better as the match progressed and with an opponent fully worthy of his racquet the American was not far from his best form when the last set was being fought.

Prenn, perhaps, was scarcely at his best. The German star strained a ligament last Sunday in his five-set match with H. W. Austin, of the British team. He was still limping some yesterday.

A crowd of 5,000 filled all the public seats of the redclay court of the Rotweiss Club. The American ambassador, Jacob Schurman, and Gen. Heye, chief of staff of the German Army were among the notables in the guest chairs.

MONDAY—HOW THE LITTLE CHURCH AROUND THE CORNER GOT ITS NAME.

BURKE ACCEPTS BOOSTER DAY INVITE

James Francis Burke has accepted the invitation tendered him by the committee to boost the Pirates for boosting Pittsburgh, and will deliver the address of welcome to the Corsairs at the breakfast in the William Penn Hotel next Monday morning. Burke yesterday wired his acceptance from the White House in Washington, D. C. He is legal advisor of the Republican National Committee and is a close personal friend of President Hoover.

A second telegram received yesterday, from Sam Watters, secretary of the Pittsburgh Baseball Club, announced that the Pirates would arrive at the Union Station at 8:45 Monday morning, and that all of the Bucs would attend the breakfast in their honor.

EXPECT BIG CROWD

Thousands of baseball enthusiasts in addition to members of a brass band, are expected to greet the Corsairs at the station, and more than 600 fans already have made reservations for the breakfast, at 9:15 o'clock. It is likely that the capacity of the Pirate room, which appropriately has been selected for the breakfast, will be tested. This room is on the lower floor of the hotel and is reached from the main entrance in William Penn way, directly across the lower corridor. Mine host, Gene Eppley, who is an enthusiastic Pirate rooter, has decided to decorate the Pirate room as it was decorated for the Pirate ball, one of the social events of the early spring.

HILL, TURPIE REACH FINAL

DENVER, July 20.—(AP.)—Having beaten back the challenge of a 17-year-old girl who carried her 22 holes, Miss Marion Turpie, of New Orleans, remains as the last barrier for Mrs. O. S. Hill, of Kansas City, who today defends her title as women's trans-Mississippi golf champion.

Mrs. Hill advanced through the semi-final round yesterday by beating Miss Ruth Replogle, of Oklahoma City, 8 and 6, while Miss Turpie, never ahead after she won the first hole, climaxed her gruelling battle with Miss Phyllis Buchanan, of the Lakewood Country Club, Denver, by pitching an approach out of a sand trap at the twenty-second dead to the pin. The Southern girl waged a seemingly hopeless struggle through the first nine holes and was three down at the turn.

LOSER INEXPERIENCED

Inexperience at tournament play told on Miss Buchanan on the incoming nine, however. Still three up at the eleventh, the Denver Miss lost the next two holes, getting into traps on each. At the thirteenth she had a 30-foot putt for a half and the ball stopped at the lip of the cup.

Miss Buchanan won the advantage back at the sixteenth when her opponent three putted, but Miss Turpie squared matters on the next hole when she pitched out of a trap and rolled only six inches from the cup.

She went under her drive to the 175-yard twenty-second and was short with her approach. Miss Turpie drove to a trap to the right and missed her first pitch. Her next was only two feet away and Miss Buchanan's 20-foot effort was wide, although she missed a stymie by a matter of about two inches.

MRS. HILL AT BEST

Mrs. Hill's game was at its best against Miss Replogle. The champion was out in 36 to be five up. She was outdriving the Oklahoma youngster and that was about the whole story.

FAVOR OSMAND IN HANDICAP

CHICAGO, July 20.—(AP.)—Misstep, fleet chestnut son of Upset, was the favorite of the West to repel a powerful eastern invasion headed by Joseph E. Widener's Osmand, in the Arlington handicap, $20,000 added for three-year-olds and up today at Arlington Park.

The stake, a mile and a quarter test, and the second richest stake offered at Arlington Park, had attracted 20 of the outstanding horses of the country, and shaped up as the biggest handicap event of the season. Misstep, from the Lamar stable of Kentucky, was the overnight favorite in the betting, being quoted at 5 to 2, while Osmand was the second choice at 3 to 1.

Besides Osmand, the East had Sun Edwin, Sun Beau, Display and Sun Sife, while Misstep was accompanied by such western stars as Dowagiac, Canaan, Buddy Bauer and Montanaro.

LOSS OF PIE TOUGH BLOW TO BUCS

By STAFF CORRESPONDENT.

NEW YORK, July 20.—It would be a sorry day for the Pirates if they are advised upon reaching home that Pie Traynor is out for any great length of time. Since the gallant captain left the lineup the club has dropped three games, these being the only setbacks sustained on the trip.

The nine-game winning streak which preceded the departure of Traynor and Grantham saw the club in one of the prettiest strides exhibited by any Pittsburgh team over a period of 15 years. The Pittsburgh machine was operating in such a smooth manner and the club's morale was so good that the close observers were thrilled daily.

PIE IS MISSED

Traynor is the type of star who is not given sufficient credit until he is missing. It just seems that Pie should be at third base, regardless, and when he does fall the prey to physical disabilities the club becomes a bit sour.

Pie has been having his banner year under handicaps of a very severe nature. His bat has been operating better than ever before, especially in regard to rapping out line drives. Traynor has driven in almost 70 tallies and everybody who has the interest of the club in mind realizes his value in other departments. He is one of the best baserunners on the club, for example.

BUCS PLAY BRIDGE

Some of the baseball stars find it a bit difficult to enjoy themselves in an off day in New York. Many of the players are fed-up on theaters and others do not care to put out the wherewithal for the admission tickets. So the old-time

NEW YORK, July 20.—The Polo Grounds is likely to be the mecca for more than 40,000 baseball lovers this afternoon when the Pirates and Giants tangle in what may be a dramatic doubleheader. A Saturday twin ball featuring the first-place Buccos ought to appeal to the fans of the metropolis and in the event of clear skies, a big audience and much excitement are assured.

The Pirates don't look the same with Capt. Traynor almost 500 miles from the scene, yet there was a spirit of determination in the camp of the Buccos this morning as they looked forward to the eventful day.

Traynor has come to be a Pittsburgh institution at the home of the Giants just as was Honus Wagner, Fred Clarke and other Pirate luminaries of days gone by. The Somerville Greyhound seems always to be at his best when he appears in New York, so that he is likely to be missed, even by the most rabid of the Giant partisans.

GRIMES TO PITCH

Manager Bush is so anxious to have his club make a showing this afternoon that he will use Burleigh Grimes in one of the fights, despite the fact that Burleigh has had only two days of rest since he performed against the Braves in Boston. Heinie Meinie is down for the other contest. Manager McGraw, of the Giants, may counter with Southpaw Bill Walker and Fred Fitzsimmons.

The Pirates go into action with a lead of one game over the Cubs, who also are slated for a double-header in the Flatbush. The rain of yesterday caused a postponement of the baseball doings on Long Island as well as in the Bronx.

Lloyd Waner has been ill since the Pirates were in Boston, but it is assumed that the little fellow will be at his post today. Lloyd often has gone to his task when ailing and it isn't likely that he will be on the sidelines for these important games. Sparky Adams will be at Capt. Traynor's position and Sparky will lead off.

GIANTS DETERMINED

The Giants, by the way, are far from being counted out, despite the margin of six games that separates them from the leaders. With Traynor out of action here, the Men of McGraw naturally feel that they have a better chance to subdue the Bushwhackers. They were able to gain a victory in the only game of the series played thus far and this success may have added something

RUMSON, N. J., July 20.—Rumson defeated Cleveland, 8 to 5, in the opening match of the national junior polo tournament here yesterday.

N. L. TEAMS PLAY DOUBLE BILLS TODAY

Associated Press.

A rain, more or less welcomed by Eastern teams in the National League, caused an enforced armistice all along the Atlantic seaboard yesterday as the Athletics took another step toward making the American League safe for the house of McGillicuddy. Behind George Earnshaw's crafty pitching, the Athletics handcuffed the Tigers by 4 to 2, while the Yankees were dividing a doubleheader in Cleveland. The champions won the opener by 7 to 2, but the Indians rushed back to take the second decision, 11 to 3.

The combination of results consolidated a theoretical advantage the Macks had gained 24 hours earlier by winning from Detroit as the Yanks lay idle in Cleveland. The champions yesterday lost the game which corresponded with that odd Philadelphia triumph, and the Macks edged one notch further ahead in the games-lost column. The Athletics now lead by nine games even.

EARNSHAW STRONG

Earnshaw yielded an advantage of one run to the Tigers in the fifth when McManus tripled and scored on an out, but his support quickly turned this deficit into a profit. Owen Carroll was assaulted for two runs in the sixth and two more in the seventh, after which the Macks stood on their achievement and waited for the end of the game. The Bengals got a consolation marker in the ninth when McManus doubled, scoring Heilmann, who had walked.

Earnshaw allowed just five hits, while Carroll gave the Athletics nine, one of them a double.

After the veteran Tom Zachary had outpointed Willis Hudlin and others by a wide margin in the opener at Cleveland, George Pipgras endeavored to make it a double for the champions. Wesley Ferrell was much too strong for the champions, and Pipgras soon faded from the picture under the pressure of Indian bats. Henry Johnson tried his hand for awhile, and then gave way to Nekola, the Holy Cross left-hander, who made his major league debut. Nekola gave only one hit in two and two-thirds innings.

GHERIG TAKES LEAD

Lou Gehrig hit his twenty-third homer, taking the league lead from Ruth, with whom he had been tied. The blow added a decorative run to the Yankee total in the sixth inning of the opener with Jimmy Zinn in the box. Bib Falk hit for the circuit in the second game.

Alphonse Thomas pitched the White Sox to a 2-to-1 victory over the Red Sox in Chicago, and the Browns downed the Senators by 7 to 2 in St. Louis, completing the American League program.

Double-headers will be encountered at almost every turn in the National League today as a result of yesterday's rain. Only the Cards and the Braves are failing to double up. In Greater New York the lead will be at stake as the Pirates make a double assault upon the Polo Grounds while the Cubs eagerly engage the Brooklyn Robins in a bargain attraction. The Pirates lead the Cubs by one game, represented by a difference of two in the games-won column.

Meet Again

TOMMY CLIFFORD

JOHNNY RAY

Back in 1913, at Johnstown, Johnny Ray boxed Tommy Clifford in a six-round bout for which Clifford received $6 and the gloves he used and Ray $7. Now Clifford is back in the game as matchmaker of a club which will stage bouts at the Jeannette baseball park, and he will feature Ray's boxers on his first card.

FORMER RIVALS NOW FRIENDS

When the new boxing club that plans to stage semi-monthly shows under the auspices of the Jeannette Baseball club, of the Mid-Atlantic League, in the Jeannette baseball park beginning early next month, gets under way two former rivals in the ring will meet in different roles.

Back in 1913, Johnny Ray, who was destined to become one of Pittsburgh's best featherweight and lightweight boxers, went to Johnstown to box Tommy Clifford, of Greensburg, in a six-round preliminary to a bout between Mickey Rodgers and Frankie Dailey. For that battle Ray received $7 and Clifford $6 and the gloves he wore. It was a hard-fought tilt.

Now Clifford is the matchmaker of the new boxing club at Jeannette and he will feature Ray's boxers in his first show. They haven't been able to agree yet as to which won their bout at Johnstown, a no-decision affair, but they are friendly on all other points.

Clifford resides in Braddock, but is familiar with the Jeannette territory, and, with his partner, Patsy Cuifo, hopes to make a go of his boxing club. He has kept his hand in the sport as secretary and boxing instructor of the North Braddock A. C. He never weighed more than 105 pounds when he was boxing and scales only 118 now. He quit boxing because of the difficulty of getting matches at his weight.

Prentice Cup Play Halted by Rain

NEWPORT, R. I., July 20.—(AP.)—A steady rain prevented the Oxford-Cambridge tennis team from staging its doubles play with the Harvard-Yale combination here yesterday at the Casino, although six of the pairs were brave enough to make our attempt. When the play was halted, the visitors led the Prentice Cup Play, seven matches to two.

Russell Young, leader of the Oxfor-Cambridge forces, and his partner, E. R. Avory, a light blue, disregarded the downpour and started their doubles match against B. H. Whitbeck, Jr., Captain of the Crimson-Blue team, and Arthur Ingraham, Jr., of Harvard. They were able to complete four games, which they divided, before the rain rendered the court unfit for play.

The postponed matches will be played today.

YACHTS START RACE

CHICAGO, July 20.—(AP.)—Twenty-two yachts were to set forth late today on the twenty-second annual Chicago-to-Mackinac race of the Chicago Yacht Club. While the 331-mile race was a matter for settlement between the Chicago boats, it also was a battle against a fleet of yachts from the Bay View Club, which was to leave Detroit at approximately the same time. The prize for the intercity competition is the Sheldon Clark-Aaron Deroy trophy.

SPEEDWAY CLUB OUT OF LOCAL PICTURE

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

With the Bridgeville Speedway boxing club suspended until the return of Commissioner Havey J. Boyle from Paris, early next month, local fans will concentrate their attention on the Meyers Brothers' Bowl, in North Braddock, and the new outdoor arena of Jim McGirr, at Cycler Park, McKeesport, which will be thrown open next Friday night.

The Bridgeville Club was set down for its loose methods of conducting business, involving financial difficulties and announcing bouts without first obtaining the consent of the commission to the matches. The breaking point was reached with the announcement from the ring of the pairing of George Godfrey, the Black Shadow of Leiperville, with Eizear Rioux, the Canadian woodchopper, for next Thursday night. The commission is on record as stating that, as a result of several debacles involving Godfrey, he will have to box none but worthy opponents if he is to appear in this state and the official foot was immediately put down on the Rioux bout.

WINDUPS ONE-SIDED

The Bridgeville club has held only two shows, in each of which it offered a lopsided main bout. Cuddy DeMarco was knocked down five times and finally out of the ring in the third round by Sergt. Sammy Baker in the first windup, last week, and, on Thursday night of this week Rudy Ceder, of Tarentum, was knocked down 11 times by Baby Joes Gans. The possibility that a Godfrey bout with a mediocre opponent might produce another such poor exhibition hastened the finish, at least for the present, of the new venture. The club, known as the Keystone Arena, has a fine spot for the staging of shows, but has shown gross inexperience in the handling of its affairs, and it perhaps is just as well that it is to be discontinued until the commission can get a firmer grip on the situation.

Mickey Solmen, of New Castle, has been matched to box Steve Pollock, former Marine welterweight in the second bout of six rounds on the Tiger Joe Randall-Dominick Profio card at Cycler Park, McKeesport, next Friday night. Mike Cima and Joe Colombo are in the eight-round semi-final.

DI VODI HERE TOMORROW

Andy Di Vodi, of New York, will arrive here tomorrow morning for his 10-round bout with Dick Ramies Mexican welterweight, of Cleveland, in the Meyers Bowl Monday night. He is anxious to atone for his knockout defeat in three rounds by My Sullivan at St. Paul last Tuesday night and for the questionable outcome of his bout with Buck McTiernan in the Meyers Bowl recently, which was awarded to him on a foul. Ramies has been training in Cleveland and will come here tomorrow night. Ray Newton, of Mansfield, O., is due today for his eight-round semi-final with Frankie Nanci, of Swissvale.

What may be the first appearance (believe it or not) of two crack Filipinos against each other in a main bout in this country is scheduled for the New Castle Jolly Bowl Monday night, when Frisco Grande, of Buffalo, meets Luis Carpentero, of Toledo, over the 10-round route. Both have shown to advantage before in the bowl.

U. S. Carpentier, of New Kensington, who defeated Frankie Rio, of Cleveland, in the main bout at Conneaut Lake last Wednesday night, meets Joe Boychan, of Steubenville, at Dover, O., next Friday night.

RODGERS TO GO EAST

Jackie Rodgers, local Negro bantamweight, who lost to Benny Schwartz, clever Baltimorean, in one of the 10-round bouts at Bridgeville Thursday night, is anxious to meet his vanquisher again and will leave next Tuesday for New York to train under the tutelage of Baby Joe Gans for a few weeks before showing here again. The rematch may be made for the Meyers Bowl. Schwartz, by th way, received offers from two district promoters before returning to Baltimore yesterday. He showed so much class in beating Rodgers that it is a foregone conclusion that he will be brought back almost immediately.

WALKER CLAIMS TOM'S TITLE

PHILADELPHIA, July 20.—(AP.)—Jack Kearns, manager of Mickey Walker, world's middleweight champion, announced today that he would relinquish the 160-pound crown.

The middleweight titleholder is booked to meet Leo Lomski, Aberdeen, Wash., in a 10-round bout at the Municipal Stadium here August 19.

"Walker and Lomski gave Loughran his hardest battles," Kearns said. "The decision in the Loughran-Lomski bout met with the approval of the fight experts, but this was not the case in the Loughran-Walker fight. The concensus favored Walker.

"In view of these facts, I am firm in the belief that Walker should be recognized as the world's light heavyweight champion, and he will be in the ring here on August 19 defending the crown against Lomski."

Johnson Ordered To Quit Baseball

ALLENTOWN, Pa., July 20.—(AP) Russell (Jing) Johnson, leading pitcher of the Allentown club of the Eastern League, and last season with the Philadelphia Athletics and Baltimore Orioles, has been ordered to quit baseball by his physician because of a leaking heart. Johnson has gone on the voluntary retired list.

Johnson said he was first troubled after pitching a game in Providence on a warm day three weeks ago and that he pitched four games in the next eleven days. Since that time, he says, he has had a pain over his heart and went to see the physician who called in a specialist and Johnson was ordered to quit baseball immediately.

DARK HORSE METRO LEADER

LONG BEACH, N. Y., July 20.—(AP.)—Arthur D. Potter, a stocky 24-year-old former caddy of Brooklyn, tossed a golf monkey wrench squarely in the center of the machinery of the Metropolitan Open championship yesterday afternoon when he drifted calmly in from the eighteenth green of the difficult Lido course and nonchalantly announced he had compiled a score of 64 in his second round.

As the former ball hawk of the Marine and Field Club, Brooklyn, had a score of 80 yesterday, his 36-hole total of 144 placed him in the lead for the first two rounds, wresting the honor from Leo Diegel, whose 145 was compiled through a par 72 Thursday and not quite so good 73 yesterday.

Diegel's lead had stood most of the day and seemed safe from attack in any quarter when Potter reported with a card showing 33 out and 31 in, made up of 10 fours and eight threes.

The amazing score is eight under par and clipped six strokes from the course record in competition held jointly by MacDonald Smith, Bobby Jones and Jack Forrester. Smith and Jones made theirs in qualifying rounds for the United States Open while Forrester's was scored Thursday in the current competition.

Diegel and Wild Bill Mehlhorn played together and finished all square for the day with a pair of 73's and were only a stroke apart for th two rounds, Mehlhorn standing at 146 after a bad finish.

In a triple tie for fourth place at 148 stood Long Jim Barnes, Bobby Cruickshank and Crac Wood.

Commy did a fadeout and then the young miss learned that there was no signature on the check.

Burleigh Grimes finally solved the mystery. With many in an uproar around the office, Grimes examined the scroll on the note and remarking that he could see "bow legs all over it," he had Comorosky summoned to the bar. Commy had neglected to sign his name.

Section II.

Wilkinsburg at Westinghouse; Mount Lebanon at Philadelphia Company; College Avenue at Minnetonka.

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Six fracases grace this afternoon's card of competition in the Pittsburgh Tennis Association Inter-Club League race. The contesting, however, is unlikely to exert immediate influence upon the order of standing, for unless the dope goes completely awry, favorites are due to maintain their positions.

The powerful Edgewood host, conqueror of the champion P. A. A. array, will invade University Club in a feature tussle on the Section I slate. Edgewood seems headed for titular laurels and will take no chances with Don Mattern's outfit which, though reposing in last place, packs plenty of wallop, with Frank McClintock, Charley Woods and Wally Arensberg in the lineup. Stanton Heights, with an eye to unseating the unscheduled Winged Head contingent from the number two post, will engage Westinghouse on the Heights. The Electrics overwhelmed University Club a week ago, though, and will offer the Stantonians exceedingly stiff opposition, particularly with Toots Davis still off the Black Street starting list. In the remaining upper division battle, South Hills will invade Beaver Falls to take on College Hill in a joust that looms as a rather close affair.

PACE SETTERS CLASH

Wilkinsburg and Westinghouse Seconds, pace-setters in Section II., top the lower half program. The Holy Citians sport a five-match lead over their rivals from farther out the line, so that it is improbable that they will find themselves in extreme jeopardy in the course of the milling, though cavorting on their home lot may be of aid to the Electricians.

Mount Lebanon meanwhile will seek to ease back into the running at the expense of Philadelphia Company on the latter's triangles, with College Avenue journeying to Minnetonka for a fray with the McKay combine.

* * *

Stump Friedrichs, B. F. Arkle, and various other Wheeling racqueters of ability and note, will drive to Pittsburgh tomorrow for an informal tilt with Steel City talent, according to J. Howard Moore, former P. T. A. president and presiding captain of the College Avenut squad.

Austin Famariss, College Avenue southpaw now located in Fairmont, W. Va., is prime mover in the melee. Precisely where the get-together will be held has not yet been determined, but it is assured that Dr. John O'Loughlin, P. A. A. ace, will head the local delegation. Friedrichs will be remembered as a star of W. & J. from 1922 to 1925. Arkle shone for Pitt Freshmen about three years ago.

STARS RETURN

Dave O'Loughlin and Jack Lauler, P. A. A. luminaries, who have been attending the Medical Corps R. O. T. C. Camp at Carlisle, Pa., for the past month or more, will return to Pittsburgh next Thursday. Invitations are out for Lauler's marriage to Miss Ruth Crandall, of Saratoga Springs, N. Y., on August 10. O'Loughlin will serve as best man. The ceremony will take place at Saratoga Springs.

Pare Lone Barrier To Coast Net Stars

CHICAGO, July 20.—(AP.)—Emmett Pare, Chicago's youthful veteran, today stood as the only obstacle to an all-California final in the western tennis championships.

The Chicago star, defending champion and national clay court titleholder, was to meet Ellsworth Vines, of Pasadena, who was out to join Keith Gledhill, of Santa Barbara, in the final round. Gledhill reached the championship test only after a battle with Clifford Sutter, of New Orleans, that required all his skill and endurance.

The semi-final round of the women's singles was to bring together Carolyn Swartz, of Los Angeles, and Ruth Bailey, of St. Louis, in the top bracket, and Clara Louise Zinke, of Cincinnati, and Catherine Wolf, of Indianapolis.

Burke Wins Prince Of Wale's Trophy

BISLEY CAMP, England, July 20.—(AP.)—Lieut. Desmond Burke, of the Governor General's Foot Guards, Ottawa, Ont., won the Prince of Wales' prize at the National Rifle Association meet today. He will receive $500 and the badge.

Burke, winner of the King's prize in 1924, was awarded first place after a tie with Lieut. Andrews, of the Seventeenth London Regiment. Master Gunner H. Collings, Royal Canadian Artillery, Esquimault, B. C., was third.

MERCUR, DOEG IN NET FINAL

BROOKLINE, Mass., July 20.—(AP.)—Two former Longwood bowl tennis tournament winners, Fritz Mercur, of Bethlehem, Pa., and John Doeg, of Santa Monica, Cal., won their semi-final matches in the thirty-seventh annual play here and will clash for the right to have their names inscribed a second time on the historic cup.

William T. Tilden, II, winner in the Davis cup play today in Berlin against Germany, is the only player to have two legs on the present cup, the eighth Longwood bowl. Mercur, former Lehigh player, seventh in the national ranking, was seeded first in the tournament and Doeg, Stanford University sophomore, ranking eighth nationally, was seeded second.

In the hardest match yesterday Doeg came from behind after trailing two sets to one at the rest period to defeat Gregory Mangin, Georgetown University student, of Newark, N. J. The scores were 6-4, 5-7, 5-7, 6-3, 6-3.

Mercur dropped the first set of his match with J. Gilbert Hall, of South Orange, N. J., 10-8, after leading 4-1, but he ran over the next three sets easily, 6-4, 6-2, 6-4.

The West will meet the East also in the finals of the women's singles as the result of the semi-finals in the Longwood Cricket Club tournament. Miss Dorothy Andrus, of Stamford, Conn., won a three-set match from Miss Margaret Blake, of Lenox, 6-4, 2-6, 6-4, while Mrs. Lawrence A. Harper, of San Francisco, defeated Miss Ethel Burkhardt, of the same city, 7-5, 6-3. They will clash in the finals today.

PIRATES FACE GIANTS TWICE

to the morale of the Broadway outfit.

The Pirates have won nine and lost three games on the jaunt to date. If they are fortunate enough to split even with the Giants in the four games they would travel homeward tomorrow in the knowledge of having had a remarkable jaunt. But there is considerable of a task ahead for the remaining two days, it would seem.

Correct Baseball Scoring

PLAY NO. 16.

Malone is pitching for Chicago and the score is 2 to 0, favoring Chicago in the last half of the ninth with none out. Malone walks Douthit and High and Frisch beats out a bunt. Nehf relieves Malone on the mound and strikes out both Bottomley and Hafey, then Orsatti hits for three sacks to clear the bags.

What goes in the box score and summary?

ANSWER.

Credit Douthit, High and Frisch with runs. Douthit and High are not charged with being at bat. Charge Frisch a time at bat and give him a hit. Charge Orsatti a time at bat and credit him with a three-base hit and with batting in three runs. Charge Malone with two bases on balls. Credit Nehf with two strikeouts and give the catcher two putouts. Star total putouts of losing team. *Two out when winning run scored. In summary put Losing pitcher—Malone. Left on base, 1.

Chief error in scoring: Charging Nehf with the defeat instead of Malone. Malone was responsible for putting the winning tally on the bag, therefore he is charged with the loss of the game.

Watch for Play No. 17 Monday.

BLACK SOX WIN SECOND, 6 TO 2

ST. CLAIR RETAINS CROWN

BEAVER VALLEY YOUTH LOSES IN FINAL

By VERN SWARTSFAGER.

All this talk about the medalist being too "jinxed" to keep on going through to cop a championship is the bunk. Denny St. Clair, Kiski golf team captain, has proved it twice, during the Western Pennsylvania junior championship matches last year at Shannopin and yesterday at the Longue Vue Club. On both occasions he grabbed off the medalist honors and continued through to knock off the titular laurels.

St. Clair's match in the final yesterday afternoon against the golden-haired Bill Addenbrook, of Beaver Valley, in which Denny won out by a 4 and 2 score, wasn't the most perfect golf the game has seen by any means, but it was an interesting contest from start to finish. The Kiski boy was up on his Beaver Valley foe before they hit a ball from the tee, if one must take into consideration seasoning in tournament experience—Denny is a hardened old-timer; Addenbrook is a comer, just a youngster feeling his oats. But don't think Beaver Valley Bill doesn't have the game; he has it, and he is developing it.

TAKES EARLY LEAD

At the outset of the interesting final, it appeared that St. Clair was going to win by a one-sided margin regardless of whether he played up-and-up golf or not. He was 3 up on the fifth tee, but it was his putting that put him there. And when Addenbrook had evened the match on the eighth hole, St. Clair's ragged putting was almost as much responsible as Bill's fine playing. Going out, St. Clair eked out a bare 1 up advantage—and it took him six more holes to complete his task. Addenbrook fought doggedly to the last as the two-year-in-a-row champion tightened up his game and won with flyinñ colors.

On the first hole both were off of the green with their second. After chipping up, St. Clair won with a long pütt after Addenbrook failed to drop his first attempt.

Two marvelous shots out of sand bunkers saved the second hole for St. Clair. Addenbrook was well down the middle after Denny had poked his drive into a trap on the left. His out-shot was splendid, but it fell short of the green and into a sidelie in another sandpit guarding the green's entrance. Addenbrook pitched a neat shot on, but was well away from the pin. St. Clair flipped his ball from the trap, and after Addenbrook blowed his first putt, Denny sank his for a 4 and a half. It was Addenbrook's hole all of the way, on the merit of good golf—but it's hard to beat a one-putt champion. Heart-breaking for any opponent, in fact.

DRIVES TO GREEN

On the third, St. Clair planted his tee-shot on the green, while Addenbrook's was short and to the right. After Bill's chip they both needed two putts, which gave the hole to Denny, 3 to 4, and made him 2 up.

St. Clair went 3 up on the fourth when Addenbrook found trouble on his second, landing in a trap to the rear of the green, and then overplaying his out-shot. St. Clair was down in two putts for a 4, and Bill registered a 5.

And then the tide of the battle turned. Both were hole high, but in the rough on the right of the fifth green, Addenbrook had the worst of it, being well back in the woods. He was short with his recovery shot, while the Kiski star was beyond the pin with his second. Bill planted a beautiful pitch within three feet of the cup, and no one was more surprised than St. Clair when he needed three putts from 15 feet while Addenbrook took two. Denny's three-foot putt for a win slid six inches past the cup.

Addenbrook then evened matters by winning the next three holes in a row. They were both on the sixth green with their second stroke, but Denny blew another short putt and made it three putts together to nail a 5, while Addenbrook took his time and sunk his ball after two taps. Bill's straight second shot was a beauty.

TROUBLE ON SEVENTH

St. Clair found more trouble awaiting him on the seventh. He was in the rough with his drive, over the green with his second and into a sand pit, wasted a stroke trying to get out, and finally wound up with a one-putt 5. Addenbrook's drive also found the rough but his pitch was splendid — and he only needed two putts to win the hole in 4.

Both played poor golf on the eighth—St. Clair getting a buzzard 7 and Addenbrook winning the hole with a 6. Addie's drive was sky-high, barely clearing a gully and, luckily, leaving him a good lie. His spoon shot out was a fine stroke, and it helped make up for his dubbed drive. St. Clair hit a long hook into a wash-out in a ditch paralleling a roadway. He spent his second and third shots without even touching the little white pill, but his fourth was out on the fairway. Rather flabbergasted at this turn of affairs, Denny nonchalantly sent a beautiful iron fifth short of the green. In a word, Addenbrook needed two putts while St. Clair holed his first—and it was a long one at that.

And thus ended the fighting Beaver Valley boy's reign of supremacy.

ON WITH SECOND

On the ninth, St. Clair was on with his second, while Addenbrook was short. A splendid pitch over the trap guarding the green put Bill within putting distance, but he needed two putts just the same as Denny, and lost with a 5 to a 4. St. Clair therefore was 1 up going out, his medal card being 41 to Addie's 42.

They were both on the tenth green with pitched second shots, and St. Clair appeared to have the advantage after his first putt, but if he did, he lost it when he three-putted while Bill took a legitimate two for a 4. That evened the match again.

They both had good drives on the eleventh, St. Clair making a short-out over the trees on that dog-leg hole with his second, and Addenbrook playing a spoon that went on and then off of the green. They both chipped up, and Bill lost a half when he missed a three-foot putt for a 4.

Both over-played the twelfth green, Addenbrook being in the sand on the left. St. Clair was 15 feet from the pin with his pitch—and holed it. Bill was too strong with his, and then needed two putts. Result: St. Clair, 2 up.

Addenbrook won one back on the thirteenth when St. Clair found first a ditch and then a trap, taking two putts for a 4 to Dering's 5.

On the fourteenth, St. Clair laid his second on the green, while Addenbrook was just short and to the right. Bill was too strong with his approach, and lost, 5 to 4, as they both took a pair of taps.

On the 544-yard fifteenth, St. Clair got away a fine drive, while his opponent didn't hit his tee shot so well. Addenbrook tried a spoon second out of the rough, and the ball cut across the fairway and landed in a sand bunker. Playing safe, St. Clair smacked a beautiful mid-iron up the right side of the fairway. Bill's shot out of the trap was a beauty, it being only a few yards short of the green, and drew applause from the gallery. St. Clair played a nice pitch to the green, and so did Addenbrook. Any chance Bill had of halving the hole was lost when he again dubbed his putting stroke, and needed three to Denny's two—taking a 6 to the eventual winner's 5, and making the match dormie.

The sixteenth and last hole was all the champion's, no mistake about that. St. Clair's drive was smack on the back of the green. Not to be short in any event, Addenbrook's tee shot was strong, and rolled over into a trap in the rear of the green. His out-shot also was strong. Bill's long putt for a half, which would have only availed him a slightly lessened beating, stopped on the lip of the cup, and when Denny was down in two, he had won the match in great style, 4 and 2. Their cards:

John Graham of South Hills and Oakmont, president of the Western Pennsylvania Golf Association, under whose auspices the event was staged, refereed the contest.

George A. Ormiston, of Oakmont, secretary of the Western Pennsylvania Golf Association, presented to St. Clair for a second year in a row the coveted Percy Preston Memorial Trophy, emblematic of the W. P. G. A. junior championship. It was St. Clair's last chance to play for the cup—for next year he will be too old to defend his crown.

Bill Addenbrook celebrated his eighteenth birthday yesterday, which was a feature aside from the match and, for sentimental reasons, it might have been nice for him to have won the honor—but he was beaten by a worthy competitor, and he did anything but disgrace himself in his own performance.

BALL MORE OFF RIGHT FOOT—AND ON FRONT OF THE TEE

To what extent should a player change his game when the wind is high?

Answered By LAURIE AYTON

Always a consistent place winner in the big tournaments—Famed for his accuracy and steadiness under fire.

The first thing for the average player to do when playing in a high wind is to curtail the backswing, because this will give better balance and will make for more accurate shots into the wind. When teeing the ball for a drive place it on the front of the tee, so it "hangs down" over the tee. This will keep the ball from lofting and aids the golfer to get overspin. Modify the stance so the ball is played more off the right foot than usual, as this will prevent "sky-hooking." I believe that mesh marked balls are most satisfactory to play with in a high wind.

HELEN REVIEWS VISIT TO ENGLAND

LONDON, July 20.—(AP.)—On the eve of sailing for home today on board the Aquitania, Helen Wills, American tennis queen, talked with antimated pleasure about her visit in England.

She disclosed that she was invited to visit the picture galleries at Buckingham Palace, and went yesterday. She saw the King's collection, containing many famous old masters and appreciated them fully.

"They are really marvelous," Helen said.

Apropos of pictures, she remarked that her own drawings had been a success in London and that she had sold half she had done here.

Among other London experiences which she mentioned was a visit to Parliament where she had a talk with Premier Ramsay MacDonald. This, she said, she felt was a "great honor."

VISITS VILLAGES

For the last two weeks she has been motoring about England seeing the country at its summer best. She was particularly charmed with the rural villages and she said she wondered why foreign people came to see London instead of seeing all the country.

Miss Wills was not definite as to her future plans. She said she might come to England next year, but that she had made no plans for tennis after she was married.

The British Wightman Cup team is sailing for the United States on the same steamer with the American star. The team was comprised of Mrs. B. C. Covell (captain), Mrs. M. Watson, Mrs. L. R. C. Michell, Mrs. D. C. Shepherd Barron and Miss Betty Nuthall.

BETTY TO PREPARE

Miss Nuthall said that she would try to get some practice with men players in the United States before the Wightman matches. "I know we have a difficult job ahead and I may have to meet Helen Wills on the first day," she added.

Mrs. Covell appeared to think that much depended upon the two matches against Helen Jacobs, American player, andt hat victory in one of these matches might keep the cup for England.

Plan Blue Ridge, Mid-Atlantic Series

HAGERSTOWN, Md., July 20.—(AP.)—Plans for a post-season series between leaders of the Middle Atlantic and the Blue Rirdge leagues were outlined here yesterday by President J. Vincent Jamison, Jr., the latter circuit's chief.

Jamison said that officials of the two leagues had been discussing the plans, and believed that, with the better brand of ball and the higher salaries being paid in the Blue Ridge this season, the post season conflict would not be so one-sided as it was in 1928.

Last year the Hanover, Pa., team of the Blue Ridge League won the pennant, and met Fairmont, W. Va., of the Middle Atlantic circuit, with the West Virginians taking four straight games.

Both leagues are playing split seasons, and, possibly a different team will win each half, necessitating a playoff to decide the season league leader. The two leagues close five days apart, the Middle Atlantic on Labor Day.

N. Y. TO LOSE MAX, JACK GO

NEW YORK, July 20.—(AP.)—The Madison Square Garden Corporation plans to stage the Max Schmelling - Jack Sharkey fight "somewhere outside New York," in spite of objections to this procedure by the New York State Athletic Commission.

This has been made clear in a statement issued by William F. Carey, president of the corporation, and designed as a reply to the commission's attitude in suspending Schmeling. No information was forthcoming as to when and where the bout may take place.

The understanding is that Soldier Field, Chicago, scene of the second Dempsey-Tunney fight, is favored as a site, but Boston and either Detroit or Windsor, Canada, are believed to be still under consideration.

EQUALS JUMP MARK

Richard Beatty, an 18-year-old senior at the Wilmington, Del., High School, leaped 5 feet 9 inches recently in his stocking feet to squal the school record in the high jump.

BABE HERMAN, MANUSH SWAT LEADERS

NEW YORK, July 20.—(AP.)—Babe Herman, the Brooklyn slugger, remains at the top in the National League batting list, but with an average swelled to .404 as a result of steady pounding against Western pitching at Ebbets Field in the last fortnight. Herman's margin, however, is none too wide, as Frank O'Doul, of Philadelphia, is holding his ground at .393. The averages, issued today, include games of last Wednesday.

Melvin Ott, of New York, who yielded the home run crown to Charley Klein, of Philadelphia, in the course of the week, leads the league in scoring with 85 runs and in runs batted in with 94. Bill Terry, of New York, sets the pace in total hits with 136, while Johnny Frederick, of Brooklyn, and Chick Hafey, of St. Louis, are tied for the top in doubles with 27 apiece.

L. WANER LEADER

Lloyd Waner, of Pittsburgh, has hit 14 triples to lead, while Klein's 28 home runs top Ott's crop by three. Cuyler, of Chicago, still leads in steals with 26.

Following Herman and O'Doul in the batting averages are these regulars: Terry, New York, .373; Klein, Philadelphia, .373; L. Waner, Pittsburgh, .361; Traynor, Pittsburgh, .360; Hornsby, Chicago, .358; Frisch, St. Louis, .355; Hafey, St. Louis, .353, and Stephenson, Chicago, .351.

The defeat of Burleigh Grimes at Boston on Wednesday cost him the pitching lead. Guy Bush, the Chicago ace, slipped into first place with 12 victories and only one defeat for a percentage of .923, while Grimes fell back to second with 15 games won and two lost for .882. Henry Meinie, of Pittsburgh, is the nominal leader with five games won and none lost, but of course, cannot be classed as a regular.

The Phillies lead in team batting, with a margin of .309 to .307 over Pittsburgh. The Giants are third with .305 and the Cubs fourth with .303, rounding out the largest list of teams ever seen in the .300 class at this stage of the season. The Giants and the Cubs are tied for the top in fielding with .974. The Reds are third with .972.

MANUSH SETS PACE

CHICAGO, July 20.—(AP.)—The job of setting the pace for American League batsmen, handled during the last seven weeks by Jimmy Foxx, of the Philadelphia Athletics, passed into the practiced hands of Meinie Manush, St. Louis Brown outfielder, during the thirteenth week of the campaign, unofficial averages including Wednesday's reveal.

After leading the younger circuit for nearly two months, the sensational first baseman of Connie Mack's league leaders slipped just enough to permit Manush to top by the scant margin of one point. Manush had compiled a mark of .391 to .390 for Foxx.

On the whole the week was not so good for the 10 leaders, only two, Al Simmons, of Philadelphia, and Earl Combs, of the Yankees, improving their averages. Behind Manush and Foxx were Fothergill, Detroit, .385; Simmons, Philadelphia, .362; Lazzeri, New York, .361; Fonseca, Cleveland, .355; Combs, New York, .352; Cochrane, Philadelphia, .351; Heilmann, Detroit, .350; Ruth, New York, .348.

Along with Foxx, the Athletics as an organization failed to maintain their hitting pace and dropped into second place behind the Detroit Tigers. The Macks fell from .309 to .303, while Bucky Harris' team retained their average of .308. Detroit also led in runs scored with 554, and the Athletics continued to be most difficult to score upon, having held opponents to 331 runs.

GROVE TOPS HURLERS

Bob Grove, the Athletics' star southpaw, was credited with one victory during the week and topped the list with a recordof 15 victories and two defeats. He also continued his reign as strikeout ruler with 112 in 22 games. His teammate, George Earnshaw, was second among hurlers working in turn with a mark of 12 triumphs and four defeats. Tom Zachary, of the Yankees, was the only undefeated pitcher in the league, having been credited with four victories.

The Athletics' fielding held up better than their hitting and they led with a percentage of .975. St. Louis and Washington were tied for the runnerup position with .974.

Other leaders:
Runs batted in—Simmons, Philadelphia, 92.
Hits—Manush, St. Louis, 137.
Home runs—Ruth and Gehrig, New York, 22.
Triples—Miller, Philadelphia, 12.
Doubles—Gehringer and R. Johnson Detroit, 32.
Stolen bases—Gehringer, Detroit, and Cissell, Chicago, 13.
Double plays—Cleveland, 95.
Triple plays—Chicago, New York and Detroit, one each.

HAWKINS STOPS HARRIS

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—(AP.)—Long Tom Hawkins, 229, San Diego, knocked out Seal Harris, 227, Chicago, in the first round of their 10-round bout here last night. The two negroes started out with a rush and threw punches from all angles. Hawkins landed a left to the jaw that dropped Harris for a two count and knocked him out in the next exchange.

Radio Offers Many Bills Of Exceptional Merit

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Sun-Telegraph Radio Editor.

NINE O'CLOCK of a Saturday night has become a triangle puzzle for the "best bet" picker. Like 9:30 on Monday night it has become the most popular hour of the evening with all three local stations presenting class A entertainment. This period takes three of the "best bets" with the Nit Wits, General Electric Hour and Detroit Symphony.

"Chicago Celebrities" has been substituted by the NBC over KDKA for the regular Saturday night "Classic Gems" at 8 p. m.

From the pioneer station at 11:05 we will hear an interesting program. Howard Havelock Cox, of South Kensington, London, who in 1926 was secretary to Commander Byrd, will send greetings to the famous explorer. The talk will be augmented with dance and marimba music.

BOOST TRAINING CAMPS

Citizens' Military Training Camps will be given a boost over WCAE at 7:15 by the page clerk of the House of Representatives and at 10 o'clock on the WJAS National Forum by Col. Patrick J. Hurley, assistant secretary of war. We attended the first citizens' military training camp in 1923 at Camp Meade and we can heartily recommend anything these speakers say in favor of the movement. Our only disappointment was the failure of Col. Wheat and other high officers to recognize a Napoleon in the making. Nevertheless we came out with a bag full of medals and a voracious appetite that has never been satiated.

"A good time for all" was promised by the government and where the government neglected to carry out its promise we faithfully "carried on." A march through Baltimore streets and a trip to Washington, D. C., to cash in a $20 gold note for the real coin furnished thrills, not to mention the time our hands itched to touch the $25,000 gold braid chain which surrounds the resting place of John Paul Jones at the Naval Academy in Annapolis.

CIRCUIT CLOSES AT KALAMAZOO

KALAMAZOO, Mich., July 20.—(AP.)—Kalamazoo's twenty-second consecutive Grand Circuit meeting closed yesterday afternoon, four events being raced off to complete the card. Followers of the Royal Lady received a setback when that erratic daughter of Grattan Royal was clearly outpaced by Courtney Burton and several others in the Reno Derby consolation. The Royal Lady failed to win a heat.

Courtney Burton took the first and third and Twinkling Joe the second. The times for the mile were 2:03¾, 2:04¼ and 2:03¾.

Dewey McKinney won the 2:05 Kalamazoo Ice and Fuel sweepstakes and the cup awarded by Gov. Fred W. Green. Only three horses, Sam Williams and Donald A, in addition to the winner, started. Winnipeg was not called on to exert himself to win the free-for-all pace. He took the first and second heats in 2:03¾ and 2:02¾. Hollyrood Volo took the third heat in 2:05¼. There were five starters.

The Young Senator was the best thing in the 2:22 trot. Peter Sloan landed second money. There were 10 starters. The summaries:

2:13 pace, purse $2,000, for starters not finishing better than sixth in the $25,000 pace Tuesday—

Jones Beats Fuente In Erie Battle

ERIE, Pa., July 20.—(AP.)—Billy Jones, Philadelphia, won a decision here last night in 10 rounds over Tony Fuente, Mexico. The bout was hard fought and close all the way. Jones went down twice for a count of two and no count, but piled up enough points to take the verdict.

Johnny Piai, Greenville, won from Billy Edwards, Savannah, Ga., in six rounds. The decision was decidedly unpopular with the fans, although the Greenville lad scored two knockdowns in the first round.

Leo Mozdy, Erie, was given a decision over Johnny Edwards, Columbus, O., in a fast bout.

The only knockout of the evening came when Carl Scalise, Erie, stretched out Tom Hardy, Columbus, O., in the last round of their four-round go.

In the curtain-raiser, Jimmy Dean, Erie, won from Johnny Horvath, Erie. Dean broke Horvath's jaw in the second round, but the latter remained in the ring until the end of the four-rounder.

Baumer Seeks Safety in Coffin When Cemetery Is Made Target

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Paul and his three comrades—Kropp, Muller and Leer—hardened for the front by the abuse and persecution of their training camp corporal, Himmelstoss—are now at rest five miles behind the lines. Kemmerich, their friend, lies in the dressing station dying of wounds. One leg is gone and Muller seeks his high Russian boots. Paul tries to raise the hopes of the dying man. He shakes his head—"You can take my lace-up boots for Muller." Kemmerich dies and his bed is quickly taken by another. Paul carries the boots to Muller. Katczinsky and Kropp wager a bottle of beer on the outcome of an airplane fight overhead. Kropp loses when the German plane is shot down. The four comrades waylay Himmelstoss in the dark and give him a severe beating. They are ordered on a wiring party. Leaving the motor trucks, they make their way over the shell-torn earth. Then a heavy bombardment thunders over them.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY..

CHAPTER VII.

AT regular intervals we ram in the iron stakes. Two men hold a roll and the others spool off the barbed wire. It is that awful stuff with close-set, long spikes. I am not used to unrolling it and tear my hand.

After a few hours it is done. But there is still some time before the lorries come. Most of us lie down and sleep. I try also, but it has turned too chilly. Near to the sea one is constantly waked by the cold.

Once I fall fast asleep. Then waking suddenly with a start I do not know where I am. I see the stars, I see the rockets, and for a moment have the impression that I have fallen asleep at a garden fete. I don't know whether it is morning or evening, I lie in the pale cradle of the twilight, and listen for soft words which will come, soft and near—am I crying? I put my hand to my eyes, it is so fantastic; am I a child? Smooth skin;—it lasts only a second, then I recognize the silhouette of Katczinsky. The old veteran, he sits quietly and smokes his pipe—a covered pipe of course. When he sees I am awake, he says: "That gave you a fright. It was only a nose-cap, it landed in the bushes over there."

I sit up. I feel myself strangely alone. It's good Kat is there. He gazes thoughtfully at the front and says:

"Mighty fine fireworks if they weren't so dangerous."

One lands behind us. Two recruits jump up terrified. A couple of minutes later another comes over, nearer this time. Kat knocks out his pipe. "It makes a glow."

Then it begins in earnest. We crawl away as well as we can in our haste. The next lands fair among us. Two fellows cry out. Green rockets shoot up on the sky-line. Barrage. The mud flies high, fragments whizz past. The crack of the guns is heard long after the roar of the explosions.

Beside us lies a fairheaded recruit in utter terror. He has buried his face in his hands, his helmet has fallen off. I fish hold of it and try to put it back on his head. He looks up pushes the helmet off and like a child creeps under my arm, his head close to my breast. The little shoulders heave. Shoulders just like Kemmerich's. I left him be. So that the helmet should be of some use I stick it on his buttocks—not for a jest, but out of consideration, since that is his highest part. And though there is plenty of meat there, a shot in it can be damned painful. Besides, a man has to lie a whole month on his belly in the hospital, and afterwards he would be almost sure to have a limp.

It's got someone pretty badly. Cries are heard between the explosions.

At last it grows quiet. The fire has lifted over us and is now dropping on the reserves. We risk a look. Red rockets shoot up to the sky. Apparently there's an attack coming.

Where we are it is still quiet. I sit up and shake the recruit by the shoulder. "All over, kid! It's all right this time."

He looks round him dazedly. "You'll get used to it soon," I tell him.

He goes off. Things become quieter, but the cries do not cease. "What's up, Albert?" I ask.

"A couple of columns over there have got it in the neck."

The cries continue. It is not men. They could not cry so terribly.

"Wounded horses," says Kat.

It's unendurable. It is the moaning of the world, it is the martyred creation, wild with anguish, filled with terror, and groaning.

We are pale. Detering stands up. "God! For God's sake! Shoot them!"

He is a farmer and very fond of horses. It gets under his skin. Then as if deliberately the fire dies down again. The screaming of the beasts become louder. One can no longer distinguish whence in this now quiet, silvery landscape it comes; ghostly, invisible, it is everywhere, between heaven and earth it rolls on immeasurably. Detering raves and yells out: "Shoot them! Shoot them, can't you? Damn you again."

"They must look after the men first," says Kat quietly.

We stand up and try to see where it is. If we could only see the animals we should be able to endure it better. Muller has a pair of glasses. We see a dark group, bearers with stretchers, and larger black clumps moving about. Those are the wounded horses. But not all of them. Some gallop away in the distance, fall down, and then run on farther. The belly of one is ripped open, the guts trail out. He becomes tangled in them and falls, then he stands up again.

Detering raises his gun and aims. Kat hits it up in the air. "Are you mad—?"

Detering trembles and throws his rifle on the ground.

We sit down and hold our ears. But this appalling noise, these groans and screams penetrate, they penetrate everywhere.

We can bear almost anything. But now the sweat breaks out on us. We must get up and run, no matter where, but where these cries can no longer be heard. And it is not men, only horses.

From the dark group stretchers move off again. Then single shots crack out. The black heap is convulsed and becomes thinner. At last! But still it is not the end. The men cannot overtake the wounded beasts which fly in their pain, the wide open mouths full of anguish. One of the men goes down on his knees, a shot—one horse drops—another. The last one props himself on his forelegs and drags himself around in a circle like a merry-go-round; squatting, it drags round in circles on its stiffened forelegs, apparently its back is broken. The soldier runs up and shoots it. Slowly, humbly it sinks to the ground.

We take our hands from our ears. The cries are silenced. Only a long-drawn, dying sigh still hangs on the air.

Then again only the rockets, the singing of the shells, and the stars—and they shine out wonderfully.

Detering walks up and down cursing: "Like to know what harm they've done." He returns to it once again. His voice is agitated, it sounds almost dignified as he says: "I tell you it is the vilest baseness to use horses in the war."

* * *

We go back. It is time we returned to the lorries. The sky is become a bit brighter. Three o'clock in the morning. The breeze is fresh and cool, the pale hour makes our faces look grey.

We trudge onward in single file through the trenches and shell holes and come again to the zone of mist. Katczinsky is restive, that's a bad sign.

"What's up, Kat?" says Kropp.

"I wish I were back home." Home — he means the huts.

"It won't take much longer, Kat."

He is nervous. "I don't know, I don't know—"

We come to the communication-trench and then to the open fields. The little wood reappears; we know every foot of ground there. There's the cemetery with the mounds and the black crosses.

That moment it breaks out behind us, swells, roars, and thunders. We duck down—a cloud of flame shoots up a hundred yards ahead of us.

The next minute under a second explosion part of the wood rises slowly in the air, three or four trees sail up and then crash to pieces. The shells begin to hiss like safety-valves—heavy fire—

"Take cover!" yells somebody—"Cover!"

The fields are flat, the wood is too distant and dangerous—the only cover is the graveyard and the mounds. We stumble across in the dark and as though spirited away every man lies glued behind a mound.

Not a moment too soon. The dark goes mad. It heaves and raves. Darkness blacker than the night rushes on us with giant strides, over us and away. The flames of the explosions light up the graveyard.

There is no escape anywhere. By the light of the shells I try to get a view of the fields. They are a surging sea, daggers of flame from the explosions leap up like fountains. It is impossible for anyone to break through it.

The wood vanishes, it is pounded, crushed, torn to pieces. We must stay here in the graveyard.

The earth bursts before us. It rains clods. I feel a smack. My sleeve is torn away by a splinter. I shut my fist. No pain. Still that does not reassure me: wounds don't hurt till afterwards. I feel the arm all over. It is grazed but sound. Now a crack on the skull, I begin to lose consciousness. Like lightning the thought comes to me: Don't faint, sink down in the black broth and immediately come to the top again. A splinter slashes into my helmet, but has traveled so far that it does not go through. I wipe the mud out of my eyes. A hole is torn up in front of me. Shells hardly ever land in the same hole twice, I'll get into it. With one bound I fling myself down and lie on the earth as flat as a fish; there it whistles again, quickly I crouch together, claw for cover, feel something on the left, shove in beside it, it gives way, I groan, the earth leaps, the blast thunders in my ears. I creep under the yielding thing, cover myself with it, draw it over me, it is wood, cloth, cover, cover, miserable cover against the whizzing splinters.

I open my eyes—my fingers grasp a sleeve, an arm. A wounded man? I yell at him—no answer—a dead man. My hand gropes farther, splinters of wood—now I remember again that we are lying in the graveyard.

But the shelling is stronger than everything. It wipes out the sensibilities, I merely crawl still deeper into the coffin, it should protect me, and especially as Death himself lies in it too.

Before me gapes the shell-hole. I grasp it with my eyes as with fists. With one leap I must be in it. There, I get a smack in the face, a hand clamps on to my shoulder—has the dead man waked up? The hand shakes me, I turn my head, in the second of light I stare into the face of Katczinsky, he has his mouth wide open and is yelling. I hear nothing, he rattles me, comes nearer, in a momentary lull his voice reaches me: "Gas—Gaas—Gaaas—Pass it on."

Nancy Repulses Beamer's Affectionate Embraces At Costume Ball

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Nancy Hollenbeck, young, beautiful and romantic, becomes cynical when her mother warns her against marrying a poor man. She causes comment when she gives up Mat Tulley and accepts the ardent attentions of Jack Beamer who plans to divorce his rich wife to marry Nancy. On a mountain trip with relatives, Nancy toys with the affections of a handsome ranger, Roger Decatur. In spite of her expressed desire to marry for riches only, she suddenly gives way to Roger's passionate love-making and marries him. At first she is happy in his mountain cabin, but when he leaves on a long trip, she flees to her home. Without informing her family of her marriage, she re-enters the old social life. At a party, Jack Beamer monopolizes her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXV.

"WHAT do you want to do, capsize this canoe?" Jack Beamer demanded in genuine panic.

"That's just what I was going to ask you," Nancy returned with spirit.

"My God, girl you ought to know better than to wiggle like that in a canoe! Good job we didn't go overboard."

Nancy, the first panic over, giggled. "I wouldn't mind for myself, but it would be tough on Grandmother Peebles and Aunt Ellie!"

"On wh-at?"

"On Grandmother Peebles and Aunt Ellie. I'm made out of the defunct Grandma Peebles best silk petticoat, and Aunt Ellie's parasol. I borrowed it from her—she's still alive, drat her—for the lace and I have to sew it all on again?"

He didn't laugh. He paddled softly for the island where a gently sloping natural beach made an ideal landing. "It makes me sick to hear you talk about living like that. . . You, who ought to have everything. Clothes from Paquin—"

"Is that where your wife gets hers?"

"Yes, Anita has the best," he said easily. And then after a little pause. "Was it because of Anita that you acted like a little fool when I wanted to kiss you?"

Nancy winced in the darkness. "I told you not to," she said evasively.

"But good God, girl I didn't think you meant it! What's a kiss? Haven't we—"

"Jack—please—" she begged. I asked you not to talk any more about—about—"

"Look here, Nancy, I don't understand you." Back came his arm again. "Don't you like me any more?"

She made another movement to free herself. "Of course. Don't be silly."

"Nancy, some one has been talking to you. You've been listening to what some damned gossip has had to say. God! I'm disappointed in you. I thought that you—"

"No, no. It isn't that. I don't care what people say, I don't really. But it's just as I said in my letter. You're married and I—I don't want to break up—to—to—" She floundered for the right word. She couldn't talk about breaking up his home when all the world knew he had none. Oh to be out of this mess! To be free from him . . . from Roger . . . from everybody. . . . Just to be herself again, Nancy Hollenbeck . . . to begin again . . . differently. . . . Her chin quivered, she looked longingly toward the shore. But she couldn't get away, she was in a canoe with Jack Beamer. The swift current was sweeping them down stream. The dark water swirled about them. Even the sky was dark. Clouds had covered the moon.

He took her cold hands in his. "I'm not going to force myself on you, dear. I've never done that with any woman." He grinned in the dark—he'd never had to. "But I'm going on with my plans, I'll be free in January—February anyway—"

"Please, Jack—not on my account—please—"

"Can I stop loving you because you tell me to?"

She wept then. Thinking of Roger. Roger whom she couldn't stop loving, even when she wanted to. Stop, it's no use! I'm married—it's too late! she wanted to scream, but something . . . caution, fear, she didn't know what, kept her from it. She couldn't tell him.

"Please take me back," she said instead. "My head aches so, and I'm so unhappy. Forgive me, I . . . I've made an awful mess of everthying—"

Whistling thoughtfully, he paddled back to shore.

"Goodbye, Jack!" she said shakily, at the landing.

"Goodbye?" he asked, smiling. "Goodbye?"

"Yes—please, I'd much rather have it that way. You mustn't think of me any more—"

He laughed then. Looked down into her lovely woe-begone face with ill concealed desire.

Try and stop me. You're going to belong to me, Nancy Hollenbeck. You're going to be the second Mrs. Beamer, and don't you forget it!"

* * *

The crowd was beginning to thin out. Motors were humming. "Goodbye—goodbye—we've had a wonderful time!"

The elder Neals had long since left. The elder Craigs, tired and happy, were trying to stifle almost overpowering yawns. Oscar and the new butler were ministering to six of the fallen in an improvised dormitory in the basement billiard room. "Be sure there's enough gin, daddy!" May Belle had insisted. There had been more than enough. May Belle herself was a bit unsteady, and the happy bridegroom-to-be wandered from friend to friend with the glad tidings that he was perf'ly sober, 'spite of the hic, happy 'casion, hic!

"Well, thank God that's over!" May Belle sighed when they had speeded the last departing guest

"But it was a wonderful party, May Belle—a perfectly wonderful party!" Louise Hollenbeck cried.

"Why Lou, did you really think it was a success?" Enthusiasm from Louise was rare enough to mean something. May Belle beamed upon her, and noticed for the first time what a really charming gown she was wearing. It was made of some deep purple stuff, heavily shirred and corded, that had begun life 30 years ago, as a ball dress for mamma. Curtain ring earrings, and two dozen brass bangles from the ten cent store were supposed to lend the Venetian touch. Surprisingly, they did. "Why you look beautiful!" May Belle exclaimed. Astonishment glowed on her piquant, freckled face.

A warm, bright blush mounted to the roots of Lou's dark hair. "Do you really think I look nice?" Her eyes searched the mirror over the buffet. Had she really looked lovely to Mat? Hadn't he missed Nancy at all? Nancy . . . she hadn't seen her for hours. . . . The bright blush faded, the old strained look about the mouth and eyes came back. "Has anyone seen Nancy?" she asked nervously, looking from one to the other of the little group beginning to mount the stairs.

"Nancy?" May Belle remembered she had not seen her for hours either.

"Yes, what did happen to Nancy?" Mr. Craig mumbled.

"Oh, Nancy went to bed hours ago," Mrs. Craig said complaisantly. "She came to bid me goodnight. She had a horrible headache. That wild dance she did was probably too much for her. . . I thought at the time . . . by the way, whoever invited that Beamer person? May Belle, did you?"

"No, I didn't," May Belle yawned, waving goodnight to Lou who hurried on ahead. "By the way, Mamma, did you ever see Lou Hollenbeck look so nice?"

"No, I never did," her mother agreed acidly. "Of course you know why?"

"Why?"

"Matthew Tully! He spent every minute with her! I don't believe he paid the least attention to you—at your own party!"

"She can have him," May Belle announced magnanimously through yawns. "I've got my Gil, the sweet thing. But Helen Heffinger will fix her. Here she got herself up like a plush horse for him, and he never saw her. Serves her right; she's such a cat. I'm glad old Lou got a break . . . ooh! I'm sleepy. Let's talk tomorrow. Lou! Where's Lou?"

Lou had already closed and locked the door of the room she was to share with Nancy.

Sayings of Mrs. Solomon

By HELEN ROWLAND

Sidelights on Men

MY DAUGHTER, heed my maxims and scorn not my wisdom. For the dumb may learn from experience, but the wise prefer to start with a working knowledge of the game.

* * *

Go to. It hath been said that a man possesseth a keener sense of humor than a woman, but what doth it profit him?

* * *

For, when a brother-man is being played by a woman and made a fool of by a damsel, he perceiveth it plainly and is scornful. But when he, himself, is dangled and made to look foolish, he is blind to his own folly. He seeth not the joke.

HELEN ROWLAND

* * *

Verily, a bachelor under thirty must be enticed with subtlety and fed only with disguised and diluted flattery. He is filled with suspicion.

* * *

But when a man's years are more than forty he can swallow thine applesauce STRAIGHT. For discretion is not IN him, and strong meat, a strong drink and highly seasoned food and women are required to give him a kick.

* * *

I charge thee, make not the path of love TOO easy, nor the way of a lover too smooth. For love without danger is, to a woman as breakfast food without cream or spaghetti without sauce—insipid. Yea, it is as spinach for dinner three times a week.

* * *

But the wise woman that knoweth how to invent an imaginary obstacle, and filleth his way with fancied difficulties, arouseth his FIGHTING spirit. And lo, he is determined to HAVE her, if only to prove his prowess and to show the world.

* * *

My daughter, beware the pitfalls of jealousy for it is as tar to the feet and garlic in the roast.

* * *

When a dumb but beauteous damsel smileth upon thy beloved and regardeth him with admiring eyes across the room, be not moved. For tomorrow he will forget her.

* * *

But when his eye followeth the office siren, and he findeth her full of "helpfulness" and understanding, prepare thou for secret battle. For her knife is at thy throat and her weapon is propinquity.

* * *

Verily, not every man that weareth a cute mustache and a whoopee hat is a sheik; nor is every man that sporteth a coonskin coat and a battered flivver collegiate.

* * *

But he that adorneth the country club piazza, clad always in his riding breeches, beware of him. For he knoweth their charm and is aware that his boots are irresistible. And the game which he pursueth is not always a fox.

* * *

Likewise he that is always immaculate in white knickers and sport shirts, hath an eye to something besides his golf score.

* * *

Go to, my daughter; ask me not what maketh a man dangerous to women. For a woman, to be accounted dangerous, must possess many charms—even a cute nose and perfect legs and a skin of ivory and plenty of "IT." But a man that standeth six feet high and possesseth a magnetic VOICE may take his pick among women, though he have the face of a cartoon! SELAH.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Contented Mind a Factor in Health

CHEERFULNESS is a cause and an effect. It promotes good digestion, ease of labor and contentment of mind. It is a habit which should be cultivated.

Success in business, a gratified appetite and freedom from pain are effected by cheerfulness and joy. There can be no doubt that happiness and contentment of mind are real factors in life.

DR. COPELAND

Some folks are miserable and cranky on "Blue Monday." They have formed the habit of "blowing off steam" on Monday. They clean house with their tempers on Monday.

This is a bad habit. It is an unnecessary habit. It is an inexcusable habit.

I look with pity upon a man who has everybody in a ferment of misery, because he chooses to vent his feelings on his associates. A business man who growls at his clerks all through the first half of the day, is equaled in manners only by the clerk who "snaps the head off" the customer.

Why give way to such emotions? It shows as little character as to yield to the temptation to steal, or to commit some other crime of impulse.

I confess I feel more or less hypocritical in preaching a doctrine which I do not practice fully. At least, however, I can admit that I know better and that I am ashamed after I have yielded to the bad habit of depression, crustiness, or open ugliness of spirit and action.

Such habits undermine the health. They produce indigestion, headache, eyeache, temporary blind spots, and all sorts of nervous symptoms.

If you have no regard for the feelings of your neighbors, you should cultivate the habit of cheerfulness. That habit, studiously practiced, will add to your health, to your efficiency, and to your length of life.

Fear of disaster, fear of the poorhouse, fear of failure—every sort of fear is fatal to cheerfulness. You must have faith in God, in your fellow men, and in yourself, or else you will have gloom of spirit, with all its evil effects upon your soul and mind and body.

Every doctor will tell you that a contented mind is better than great riches. The Psalmist sang it; the doctors preach it; now go thou and practice it!

When you have converted your crankiness of soul into cheerfulness of spirit, you will have better health and serve society as you have never served it before.

Horoscopes

Sunday, July 21.

SUNDAY'S horoscope is a forecast of rather conflicting conditions. While there is promise of favors, honors, promotion, with substantial recognition for fidelity and service, yet there are frictions, inharmonies and personal unhappiness. Avoid extravagance and quarels.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of advancement or substantial returns for labor and employment, yet there may be contention, inharmony and losses in personal matters.

A child born on this day may be industrious and faithful in work and employment, but its disposition may be peevish and impetuous, which may cause it much personal friction and unhappiness.

Every real prayer is answered.
—William Frederick Keeler.

Monday, July 22.

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is for important honors, growth of substance and happy fulfilments of cherished hopes and wishes. These may involve a change of environment, position or call for travel, but all of an unforseen or abrupt nature. All should flourish despite some small annoyances or delays.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a flourishing and happy year, attended by change, removal or travel. But honors, increase of money, and growth of business are promised, albeit there may be small annoyances or delays.

A child born on this day may be clever, original, ambitious and should attain success and prosperity as well as place and popularity in life.

New honors, like our strange garments, cleave not their mould but with the aid of use. Shakespeare.

ANTICIPATION

Drawn by Dorothy Flack

THESE vacation days are hectic times in the lives of each and every one of us. The anticipation of the lazy, carefree days to do with as we please is a joy and delight and a comfort through long days of irksome duties. True, the anticipation is different in each case.

Some there are who can think of nothing but the good time they are going to have. The dancing, the peppy times, the on-the-go-every-minute times that are the very breath of life to them. Is that a real vacation? Of course, each to her taste, but for my part the anticipation from which I get the biggest kick is the thought of quiet, lazy, restful days in the country. Far from the "madding crowd." Vacation time is rest time for a lot of girls who take these days to get away from themselves and everything that has been crowding on them through the rest of the year. And this is the anticipation that brings the greatest happiness.

The dictionary says that a vacation is "an intermission of procedure." Therefore, why plan all sorts of wild things that will only tear down your health and happiness instead of enchancing it?

Make it a real vacation, girls. For your own sake and for the sake of the Love that will soon be yours, for Love seeks the quiet, restful people—not the jazz mad babies who never want to be still a second.

LOVE'S AWAKENING

A Continuation of Love's Embers

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge and Lillian Succeed in Quieting Mary

MARY'S hysteria was rapidly rising. I could tell that from the sounds which came through the thin door separating her closet from that of her grandmother. There was no time to lose in getting to her and Lillian and I noiselessly took down Mother Graham's gowns from the hooks and laid them carefully upon her bed. I impressed upon my trained memory—my most precious mental possession—the exact order in which they were hung and hoped that my captious mother-in-law might not discover that they had been disturbed. She attaches so much value and dignity to her personal possessions, that I knew if she did suspect our presence she would at once demand the sealing up of the door so that no similar entrance or exit might ever be attempted.

When the door was finally bare, I signaled Lillian to stand close behind it, and turning the knob I pushed it open as far as it would go, some object, which I guessed was a suitcase, barring its full opening.

I could see nothing of Mary, but what appeared to be a tumbled heap of blankets on the bed was stirring violently, while from it came the sobs, almost shrieks now, and the laughter which we had heard through the closet door.

She apparently had not heard my entrance, and with a swift movement I plucked the blankets away and disclosed Mary's slender figure racked with great choking sobs, with her face so flushed and distorted by her keeping it tightly under the bed clothing that it was hardly recognizable.

I wasted no time in questioning her. Instead, I stopped and taking her by the shoulders dragged her to a sitting position.

"Mary, stop this at once," I commanded sternly.

But the tactics which always succeed with Katie's mild tantrums failed utterly. Mary's only answer was a vacant stare at me, followed by a burst of laughter so raucous that I was afraid it would be heard downstairs, although I knew that Katherine could be depended upon to keep the doors of the library closed.

"He's so——funny——," she gasped and went off into another paroxysm of laughter while her body shook violently.

"Come," I called softly, and as Lillian came into the room I signaled to her to bring me the water carafe which I had seen was half full. My friend set it down within easy reach of my hand, and stepping up to Mary placed her hands beside mine on the girl's shoulders.

"You're a better pitcher than I am," she said softly, "and I have nothing on that will hurt."

There was so much firmness in her voice that I knew there was nothing to do save yield to her dictum, so without further protest I let go Mary's shoulders and stepping back, I raised the carafe and dashed some of its contents directly into Mary's face.

It was not the first time I had so treated a girl with hysteria, but never before have I been so alarmed at the result. Strangling, coughing, almost collapsing into a swoon, she had both Lillian and me thoroughly frightened by the time we had her quieted and had removed her wet clothing, rubbed her vigorously and put her into night attire and a warm bathrobe.

She was not able to stand—her knees buckled under her when she attempted it—so we put her into an easy chair and pushed it by slow stages out of her room and across the hall into mine. There we got her into my bed, where she lay, inert, silent and exhausted, but so patently coming back to herself that I shook my head when Lillian in pantomime suggested calling Katherin's trained assistance to our nursing.

"Please see to those soaked things in her room, and close the door of that closet again," I murmured. "But don't touch Mother Graham's dresses. I know just the way they go back and I'll go in before she gets upstairs."

"I'm not anxious to see the 'little green door'," she said grimly, and hurried out of the room. I watched Mary silently for a few minutes and then brought a tiny glass of water into which I had stirred a few drops of a remedy I always kept at hand for fear of nervous shock to my frail old mother-in-law.

"Drink this, dear," I said tenderly, and she obeyed me mutely, with no hint of expression in her face. But it was only a few moments later when I saw remembrance and poignant anguish creep into her eyes. Then she put her hand up feebly and caught at mine.

"It's all over, Aunt Madge," she whispered. "Noel——he——"

Her voice trailed away as if she had not the strength to finish the sentence. But her eyes were fixed on mine imploringly.

Household Hints

A cake which sticks to the tin may be loosened by placing the tin over a bowl of boiling water.

The problem of weighing the baby can be solved by stepping on a pair of scales with him and then stepping on again without him.

Velvet can be cleaned by rubbing with a cloth dipped in powdered magnesia.

Old lisle or silk stockings make excellent dust-cloths if several are padded together.

Beautiful Face and Figure, But— Whole Appearance Spoiled By VARICOSE VEINS

Never Can Wear Sheer Hose or Appear at Beach in Bathing Suit Because Legs Look So Hideous With Enlarged and Swollen Veins.

Start Today—Reduce These Swollen, Bulging Veins to Normal.

It's nothing more than human nature for people to admire beautifully shaped and attractive legs.

No matter how pretty a woman's face or how stunningly she is gowned—glances are bound to be directed at her legs and woe betide her if they are disfigured by swollen, bulging veins and bunches.

Poor woman—doesn't anyone ever stop to consider the pain and terrible soreness these enlarged veins cause—must folks think merely how hideous and ugly her legs are!

A 2-ounce bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil at May's and Liggett's Drug Stores all over Greater Pittsburgh, or any drugstore, brings immediate and blessed foot and leg comfort—tortuous pains stop, soreness disappears. And joyous wonder—it quickly helps reduce the swollen and bulging veins to normal. You'll be able to wear the finest and sheerest stockings, the shortest skirts—appear at beach in bathing suit because no longer will you be embarrassed by legs covered with unsightly Varicose Veins.

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Dinner Etiquette for the Parentless Family

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. We are a parentless family of sisters and brothers, all over 21 years of age and single. We keep up a home and have a housekeeper. Is it correct for the maid to hand the principal course to one of the brothers (not the oldest) and for him to carve and serve the meat at table?

2. Then should the maid pass the vegetables around?

3. Should one of the sisters serve the dessert and cakes?

L. H. P.

YES.

2. Yes.

3. Yes.

Hostess Hospitality.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

The boy I intend to invite to my high school senior prom. is a senior in college, and not at present, I am sure, able to pay for a taxi to and from the hotel where the prom. will take place. Since the girl is doing the inviting, would it be wrong for her to hire a car for the purpose? My girl friends think it would not be correct. I am inclined to agree with them, but at the same time hope that it won't be "too wrong"—for if it is I don't know what to do. If you think it is proper, please tell me the most tactful thing to say in explaining it to the young man.

IF THIS expense will not strain your budget, it would not be at all out of order for you to hire a car for the evening, if you wish to, and if your parents do not object. Since you are the hostess, it is your prerogative to provide as many details for your hospitality as you wish. I see no reason at all for "explaining" the car. Just take it for granted that, for the evening, it is your own car, and you would not explain your own car.

A Parental Gesture

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I am going to be married and my mother, of course, is going to send out announcements. Should they read "Mr. and Mrs. Smith announce" and so forth? Now this is why I am asking for your advice. Mother and father are separated. I live with my mother.

B. V. K.

IF your mother and father are not divorced, and if they agree to having the announcements sent out in their joint names (and I hope they do), this is the best form and the best taste.

DAILY SHORT STORY
Mark's Mistake

By H. LOUIS RAYBOLD.

THE mellow warmth of late June lay upon the campus. Crowds of gaily gowned women and darked garbed men formed in groups, lingered, dissolved, only to form again in new kaledioscopic patterns.

Now and again one caught a "Well, if isn't Bob!" or "Bless my heart, the same old Judy!" and variations of the same.

Mark Royal felt very much out of it all. Back for the first time in 14 years, he had found few familiar faces. For one thing, his was not a reunioning class this year and only an occasional classmate who lived near had come around.

Mark himself was back for a degree. An honorary degree.

Yes, he was the Mark Royal whose designs were contributing something new and fine to skyscraper architecture and now his alma mater was going to honor him. Few knew it because of the fondness of universities for keeping secret the names of those upon whom they plan to bestow their awards until the actual moment of presentation. The bigger the name, the greater the secret. Mark would have rated somewhat lower than a President of the United States, slightly higher than a member of the faculty.

As long as he was returning at all, Mark had decided to take in the whole business—baccalaureate, class day, alumni day and commencement. Yet already he was regretting his decision. And, at the bottom of his heart, he knew this attitude came from missing Anne.

Everything spoke to Mark of Anne. The old Memorial Library, whose dusty alcoves had provided many a trysting place for a brief chat. The little path beneath the maples which he and Anne had trod daily on their way to History V. The steps of old Maxey, where she had sat with him on the evening of class day while a thin silver of moon vied with the strings of paper lanterns and every impulse of spring and youth urged him to say, "I love you, Anne."

But he had not said it. He had kept a tight rein on his emotions and had spoken very coolly. "I have my work to think of. I must let nothing interfere with it. However, we will keep right on with our friendship, Anne."

But they hadn't. A few letters, one call from Mark as he passed through Anne's home town on his way to execute a commission in Los Angeles, a card at Christmas —and otherwise silence.

He wondered if she had married. Hardly imagined she could have escaped, so pretty was Anne, so companionable, so deferential with others. Why did the thought of her belonging to somebody else give his heart a twinge? As if he had any right—

It was at that instant he saw her coming slowly towards him down the path with an attentive, masculine companion on either side of her.

He would have known her anywhere. In some way she was the same old Anne, with the same old laughing eyes, curved, come-hither mouth, and superb yet delicate lift of the head. Yet there was about her a certain assurance, a poise, that might have come with years or, possibly, with marriage. He wondered if either gentleman were her husband.

Then Anne saw Mark. She stopped short, took a little step forward, and held out both her hands.

"My dear Mark!" she cried, "now the old campus seems familiar at last!"

They dined together that night at the local inn and exchanged confidences—to a certain extent.

Anne, it seemed, already knew all about the success that had come to Mark and quite naturally he told her about his coming recognition from the university.

"Splendid!" cried Anne. "You—you don't know," she added shyly, "how much I have treasured the memory of our old friendship through all these years. And now I feel highly honored that I know you."

So she had really thought of him sometimes. So she felt "highly honored."

Mark preened himself a little inwardly. His success had surely justified itself and his abandonment of love and marriage.

"I am surprised," he said presently, thinking over what little information Anne had vouchsafed about herself, "that you have never married."

"The right man must have missed me!" she told him with a frank, gay smile.

He wanted to make arrangements for another meeting the following day, but Anne was to be busy from breakfast straight through lunch and ball game and president's reception. However, after a moment's hesitation, she agreed to let him call for her for the banquet on the evening of commencement day.

The old white meeting house, scene of immemorial commencements, was crammed to its window sills the following Wednesday.

Mark, when his great moment was over, leaned back in his seat to enjoy more calmly the rest of the program. Suddenly, he leaned forward in excitement.

Surely that was Anne, going slowly up the steps with slender, gracious dignity!

"—on behalf of the Board of Fellows—Miss Anne Devrons, better known, perhaps, as Allison Cary—distinguished poet—degree of Doctor of Letters—"

His Anne the famous Allison Cary whose exquisite love lyrics had brought this well-earned mantle of fame to her slender shoulders! How had she learned to do it? What experience had taught her the gift?

He was very humble that night. "You must forgive me, Anne," he was beginning when she made a gesture of protest.

"On the contrary," she said, "I should be thanking you. You see," she paused, seemed about to consider what she was going to say, then continued, "I am being very frank. I was terribly in love with you at the time we graduated. I hoped you would ask me to marry you. When you didn't, because of your work, I resolved that I, too, would accomplish something. The very feeling I had for you and its frustation matured me and set my feet on the emotional path of a poet. So that is why I say 'Thank you.'

Suddenly Mark saw in Anne's eyes, not the poet, Allison Cary, but the little wistful girl who had once been his Anne.

"Anne," he said huskily, "I don't deserve—could it possibly be that you still care?"

He didn't deserve it, but she did!

GIRL, 12, KILLS HER FATHER

KEYPORT, N. J., July 20.—(AP.)—Catherine Crawford, 12, and small for her age, yesterday shot and killed her father, because, she said, he attempted to attack her.

Catherine's mother put up $2,500 bail and obtained the girl's release, but the child will have to go before the grand jury next Thursday and tell her story. She is charged with manslaughter.

Prosecutor John J. Quinn indicated that he would not ask for an indictment.

Little Catherine's father, George, 39, was a constable, her mother worked also, and was away when Catherine killed her father.

"I picked up his gun from the dresser and shot him," the child said, "and he ran out into the hall, yelling for my little brother, Buster. Then he fell down.

"I went next door to the neighbors and told them and then I called up mama on the telephone and told her what I'd done to daddy and she cried, too."

The mother told Prosecutor Quinn that Catherine's father had annoyed the child before, and that their eldest daughter, Ann, 18, had been living in Asbury Park for some time because of trouble with the father.

VALLEY MILLS KEEP ACTIVE

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 20. — Production schedules for the last full week in July by Valley iron and steel companies continue high rate of recent weeks, with some moderation indicated. Is is certain July production of steel ingots and finished steel will set a new high for this month.

There is speculation as to how much of a decline August will produce, as it is generally conceded that conditions in the trade will be easier than they have been.

July output averages fully 20 per cent above last year in most semi-finished and rolled steel products.

On black sheets, two digerent sets of prices appear to prevail, one of 2.85c per pound for large consumers, and the other of 2.95c, the nominal market, to the smaller buyers.

Operations have been curtailed somewhat in hot mills because of weather conditions, but more moderate weather has prevailed this week in the Youngstown district.

In scrap metals, some buying of heavy melting is being done by steel companies, with the price ranging from $18 to $19.

BUGS BAER Says

SOME VERBAL SIDESWIPES

"Bugs" Baer

ONE feature about motoring we have never understood is the happy dialogue chauffeurs passing each other at the rate of 60 miles an opposite direction.

Let's say you are driving your own car with the help of the citizens of the back seat. You are spinning along getting about 10 evaporated gallons to the mile.

Your crown fenders are spread proudly over the right-of-way. You are holding her down to 50. Along comes another car going the other way for no reason at all.

As you pass each other with all the dignity of laughing freight trains, you lean out and yell at him:

"Get over you big bum."

That's the clubby spirit that has made us the nation we are today.

Gratified by the reciprocal proceedings, the other chauffeur leans out at the same time and howls a terrific mumble at you.

You can't hear what he said. Which is probably all for the best.

He hasn't heard what you said, either. But he knows that it wasn't any congratulations on his golden wedding anniversary.

Then you turn around to the folks on the rear shelf and say:

"Well, I told that purple beezark what I thought of him."

And he is doing the same thing in his car. He is remarking to a friend of his broaher-in-law who happened to be along because he couldn't be insulted:

"That's the way to talk to them road hogs. I'll bet that guy's ears are so hot that they is curling his hair."

As a matter of fact, not one word of this boulevard conversation has been preserved for the archives. It's just as much wasted energy as trying to sell pajamas to a night watchman.

Another form of highway elocution is forward instead of sideways. This is the driver who is always cussing the car ahead.

Nobody ever wastes recrimination and bitter sarcasm on the car behind. But the boat in front gets plenty of scalding rhetoric.

Here's just a few testimonials from the diary of a touring valedictorian:

"Why, you big rat, you eat cheese. Why don't you trade that tin can in for a bath tub? They ought to lock them Sunday drivers in the cellar on Saturday night and then bust the water pipes."

"Hey, why don't you stick out your mitt, you double-barreled bum. That's what I thought. It's a woman driving. Well, the best thing about the last war was it kept the women on the back porch knitting sweaters."

While you are berating the driver ahead, the driver in THE REAR is broiling your back to a white blister. Which just about makes it an endless chain of loud-mouthed links.

Fortunately, not a word is ever heard, and these high-powered debates serve a purpose. They certainly increase the children's vocabulary.

Relieving the Farmer

Would It? NO!

The new tariff puts a tax of 10 per cent on hides "to relieve the farmer."

He raises cattle that supply hides, so he, of course, will get the difference.

He is told that, and believes it.

BUT will the farmer really get the money from that tax which will cost the people of the United States about $70,000,000?

If the farmer could get it, nobody would complain.

BUT the hide from a 1,000-pound steer is worth about $9.

The animal sells, hide and all, for $150. A 10 per cent tax on a $9 hide would be 90 cents. Would the packer buying the steer insist on paying the farmer $150.90 instead of $150 flat because he expected to get 90 cents more for the hide? He would NOT.

He would continue to pay his 15 cents a pound for the animal on the hoof and the extra value of the hide would go to him.

Whoever doesn't know that doesn't know much.

A Fortunate Ex-Kaiser

$150,000,000 Is Real Money.

Germany's "Who's Who" of millionaires says the former Kaiser is the richest man in Germany, his fortune over $150,000,000.

Starting with the avowed intention of hanging him, the Allies and the people whom he led to defeat have not even taken his gigantic fortune.

The fact that he is a first cousin to the English King would save him from the hanging.

Germany's sense of justice preserves his fortune.

And the generosity of Holland, where he lives and spends his money, keeps him from taxation there.

Trick Architecture

It Should Be Discouraged.

An eastern radio manufacturing concern has engaged architects to plan a gigantic office building shaped like a radio tube.

Such an announcement is depressing.

Radio tubes should not be built to look like buildings. And buildings should not be built to look like radio tubes.

Trick architecture should be discouraged. There is already enough ugliness in the world. And ugliness causes considerable pain.

QUANTUM THEORY

By Archibald Henderson

THE theory of relativity has attracted world-wide popular interest during recent years. Innumerable books and monographs have been written on the subject. The fundamentals of relativity are not difficult to understand. The difficulties largely lie in the mathematical machinery, which is highly complex. A much more difficult conception is the quantum theory, put forward by Prof. Max Planck in 1905.

A quantum may be interpreted to mean a small quantity, bundle or package. A quantum of energy is just a little bundle of energy.

It is not difficult to imagine that matter is made up of particles of positive and negative electricity. We have in the sun and the earth the analogy of the proton, or central nucleus, and the single electron which revolves about it. Such a form of atomicity is easy to understand. But not so the form introduced in the idea of a quantum of energy. It would have been easier for Pythagoras to grasp it than for a contemporary physicist. Things come out a particular way, but just why, no one knows. It is as if one said, an aviator can travel at 100 miles an hour or 125 miles an hour, but cannot travel at 110 miles an hour.

The quantum theory is concerned with what is called frequency of vibration. According to modern theories, light consists of waves of vibration in what is known as the electromagnetic field. Imagine now the waves in the ocean and let us call the number of waves which pass a given point in one second the frequency of that system of waves. Consider next a molecule which, when excited, vibrates with a certain number of definite frequencies. We know that a system of light-waves of definite frequency corresponds to a definite color in the spectrum. Consequently a molecule can radiate light of certain definite colors, that is to say, of certain definite frequencies.

If we accept the notion that nature is essentially continuous, we should naturally expect that each mode of vibration could be excited to any intensity. This would mean that when the energy carried away by light of the frequency, associated with that particular mode of vibration, could be of any amount, whatever. The astounding thing is that this is not the case.

In his brilliant book, "Science and the Modern World," Whitehead has illustrated the quantum theory in a very simple way. He says:

"The case is analogous to that of a citizen of the United States who, in paying his debts in the currency of his country, cannot subdivide a cent so as to correspond to some minute subdivision of the goods obtained. The cent corresponds to the minimum quantity of the light energy, and the goods obtained correspond to the energy of the exciting cause. This exciting cause is either strong enough to procure the emission of one cent of energy, or fails to procure the emission of any energy whatsoever. In any case the molecule will only emit an integral number of cents of energy.

"There is a further peculiarity which we can illustrate by bringing an Englishman onto the scene. He pays his debts in English currency, and his smallest unit is a farthing, which differs in value from the cent. The farthing in fact is about half a cent. In the molecule, different modes of vibration have different frequencies. Compare each mode to a nation. One mode corresponds to the United States, and another mode corresponds to England. One mode can only radiate its energy in an integral number of cents, so that a cent of energy is the least it can pay out; whereas the other mode can only radiate its energy in an integral number of farthings, so that a farthing of energy is the least that it can pay out.

"Also a rule can be found to tell us the relative value of the cent of energy of one mode to the farthing of energy of another mode. The rule is childishly simple: Each smallest coin of energy has a value in strict proportion to the frequency belonging to that mode. By this rule, and comparing farthings with cents, the frequency of an American would be about twice that of an Englishman. In other words, the American would do about twice as many things in a second as an Englishman. I must leave you to judge whether this corresponds to the reputed characters of the two nations."

Can we revise our physical concepts so as to include some theory of discontinuous existence? This is one of the baffling riddles of present-day physics.

THE HEARST PAPERS DEMAND FOR AMERICA

1—SCHOOLS—MORE schools—BETTER schools—MORE ADEQUATE and more MODERN school buildings; the best TEACHERS and the best COMPENSATION for teachers; a SCHOOL SEAT and a LIBERAL EDUCATION for every child in America, native or foreign born.

AMERICA is the great melting pot of the world, and the product of the melting pot must be competent, educated, loyal, moral AMERICAN CITIZENS.

That is America's duty to itself and its contribution to the social organization.

2—No politics in the schools, no race antagonism in the schools, no religious prejudice in the schools.

THE schools are for all children; and all the children should there be taught and trained and graduated in that KNOWLEDGE WHICH IS POWER and in an enlightened understanding of AMERICAN PRINCIPLES AND IDEALS.

THE government of a Democracy reposes in the hands of the people, and the success of that government, the progress, the prosperity, the perpetuation of the nation depend upon the EDUCATION of the people, and the ABILITY OF THE PEOPLE TO GOVERN.

SCHOOLS are the foundation stones of the republic. Make them STRONG and SOUND and SUFFICIENT.

Bible Passages

God's Love Omnipotent

(Romans 8; 32-39)

HE that spared not his own Son, but delivered him up for us all, how shall he not with him also freely give us all things.

Who shall lay anything to the charge of God's elect? It is God that justifieth.

Who is he that condemneth? It is Christ that died, yea rather that is risen again, who is even at the right hand of God, who also maketh intercession for us.

Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? Shall tribulation, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril or sword?

As it is written, For thy sake we are killed all the day long; we are accounted as sheep for the slaughter.

Nay, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him that loved us.

For I am persuaded, that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come,

Nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord.

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS.

THERE was a high school boy that found himself away downtown in New York one day. He couldn't get into the subway without a nickel, so he got on a trolley car going north. The car was crowded, but after half a mile the conductor put him off. He got back on, and after five or six blocks the conductor threw him off, and gave him a kick as he went. After six more blocks the conductor found him on the car again, and kicked him off awful hard. But the guy would run around to the other side of the car and crawl on again.

The next time the conductor saw him he dragged him to the edge of the car and got his foot ready for another big kick.

"How long are you going to keep this up?" he says.

"Till I get to Yonkers, if my pants holds out," says the young man.

ALL IN ONE LIFETIME

By Herbert Kaufman

IF you are FIFTY years old, you can remember when there weren't a hundred telephones in town and none of 'em in PRIVATE households.

In all probability there wasn't a piece of sanitary plumbing among the homes in your immediate block, and it's just as likely that the neighborhood drew its water from backyard wells or corner pumps.

You were possibly ten before a member of your family had ever traveled in a Pullman, or on a "CABLE-CAR."

And you CERTAINLY recall the wide gap between the sputtering arc light and Mr. Edison's first little bulb lamps.

About which time you dropped a nickel in a slot, put a pair of rubber dinguses to your ear and heard his wax cylinder phonograph wheeze John McCullough's ravings or the Blue Danube Waltz.

A few years later the Kinetoscope crudely presented pictures in motion by swiftly riffling a series of progressively taken photographs.

Your Christmas stocking oranges still came from Spain or Italy.

PAINLESS dentistry was undreamed of, Koller hadn't discovered the anesthetic property of cocaine in eye operations, newspapers were set entirely by hand and halftone illustrations remained unknown.

There were cranks who DARED to prophesy that Jules Verne's imaginary submarine would EVENTUALLY turn true, but no one took their predictions SERIOUSLY—any more than the late '80s ever expected inventors to perfect a horseless wagon or a flying machine.

You observed the trolley make its bow to America, and were QUITE a lad when the safety bicycle hove into sight.

Half your life was lived without the slightest suspicion of Hertzian or X-rays, radium, commercial aluminum, power cranes, pneumatic riveters or acetylene welding.

You reached maturity without once glimpsing an automobile, and hadn't entirely recovered from your early admiration of George Eastman's marvelous kodak when the Twentieth Century, opening her bag of tricks, started to show the past how to achieve practically EVERYTHING that had previously been held IMPOSSIBLE.

AS if by magic, outhouses and plagues disappeared, traffic dived into subways and under river beds, motor cars, overnight, replaced carriages, and rutty country roads changed to paved highways.

A pole in Ireland hurled a telegraphic spark to another in Newfoundland and blazed the way for actual trans-Atlantic conversations, fast followed by television and, hard on its heels, telephoned images in full action and color.

Radio, pure food and blue-sky laws, packing house control and statutes prohibiting the fraudulent use of the mails, are contemporaries of yours.

So are bloodless surgery, specifics for syphilis and hookworm, diphtheria, typhoid and scarlet fever antitoxins and the Pasteur treatment.

Iceless refrigeration, electro-hydraulics, vacuum cleaners, correspondence schools and mail order selling grew up with you.

YOU watched the cinema break shell at "The Great Train Robbery" and you have seen it learn to talk and sing and sprout peacock feathers.

Aviation, bone transplanting, cataract removal, the harnessing of Niagara and the conquest of the Imperial Valley—the rise of the skyscraper and the evolution of the tenement into the apartment house—all transpired under your eyes.

You have counted the fall of a dozen kingdoms and the passing of twenty ancient dynasties—the banishment of yellow fever and malaria—the creation of the Panama Canal—the abolishment of child slavery and the enfranchisement of women.

And yet the next man who proposes to accomplish something, that prevalent opinion finds unfeasible, will doubtless find you betting IT CAN'T BE DONE, with the same fervor that the Council of Salamanca jeered the harebrained dream of a certain Christopher Columbus. . . . .

⁂ LISTEN, WORLD! ⁂

By Elsie Robinson

SOMEBODY hurt you?

Want to get even?

Of course you do. There never yet was a human who didn't want to get even at frequent—red hot—intervals. But take a tip from a friend—it doesn't pay! Revenge is just about the poorest use you can make of your time and energy, no matter how great the injury that has been dealt you.

I didn't believe that once. Pacifist advice always gave me a severe pain. There was a verse in the Bible concerning forgiveness which I particularly detested—

"Unto him that smiteth thee on the one cheek offer also the other," it read. "And him that taketh away thy cloak forbid not to take thy coat also."

This I considered about the most sappy suggestion on record.

Turn the other cheek?

NOT IF I KNEW IT!

Take my coat also?

TRY 'N' GET IT!

Forgiveness? Pooh! Not for me! Rows were my meat. No olive branches in mine!

So I went booming through life, busting into scraps, and usually winning them. But even when I won them, something seemed wrong—even when I had won, I came out sorer than I had gone in. And gradually I realized what the trouble was.

I MIGHT DEMOLISH MY ENEMY, BUT I DIDN'T DEMOLISH MY OWN HATE . . . AND MY HATE DID SOMETHING TO ME THAT MY WORST ENEMY COULDN'T DO . . . MY HATE GOT UNDER MY GUARD AND STAYED THERE AND SICKENED ME AND SAPPED ALL MY STRENGTH.

That old Bible verse wasn't so silly after all. I had thought it cowardly, but it wasn't cowardly, it was canny.

"Turn your other cheek—give him your coat, too," it said.

And that was good sense. For it was easier to let him have your cheek than your peace of mind—and what was your coat compared to your goat.

One's peace of mind—that was the greatest thing on earth. Out of it proceeded all the strength and wisdom and beauty that a man could know. And that peace was constantly being menaced by a thousand irritations. If those irritations once broke through then strength and wisdom and beauty were wiped out for the time. And of course the people who quarreled with me WANTED them to break through. They wanted to see me wiped out. And every time I prolonged a quarrel, every time I abandoned myself to hate I joined forces with the enemy.

So I've stopped trying to get even.

Interesting to Irishmen

And to All That Religion Interests.

PONTIFICAL HIGH MASS IN DUBLIN.

The Archbishop of Armagh, Primate of Ireland, recently celebrated Pontifical high mass in the open air in Phoenix Park, Dublin, in commemoration of the "hundredth anniversary of Catholic emancipation."

This interesting photograph shows some of the thousands that knelt in the open air on that occasion.

After the celebration of the mass the Host was borne in solemn procession through the city of Dublin, with Cosgrave, president of the Irish Free State, and Mr. De Valera helping in turn to carry the canopy.

This picture, showing so many kneeling men and women, emphasized the deeply religious character of the people of Ireland.

It emphasized also the folly, from every point of view, of seeking to suppress a religion in Ireland or anywhere.

DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

LOS ANGELES, July 20.—The New Yorker's most distinct impression of California is the warmth of the friendliness. After playing around Manhattan for several years he becomes accustomed to the cold eye, the elbow jab in the ribs or the kick on the shin. The metropolitan credo is "Hands Off."

So what might be taken for a pocket picking gesture in the East is just the stranger's way of greeting a fellow out here. He may engage you in conversation on the street or in the hotel lobby without waiting for the formal introduction. It is often called "the western spirit."

In my opinion people are merely being themselves. There is none of the crepitant starchiness expressed in a stepladder handshake, a property smirk or other upstage blah. You may regard it as so much popcorn, but it tickles up the ego just the same. And they always come back for more.

The climate is not the sole attraction out here. There are countless thousands who came here merely as tourists, but were caught in the spell of this easy going amiability and remained. Boosting is a diversion, like playing bridge or any other popular game.

The puffery comes from odd quarters. Hotel patrons whose names are listed in the hotel arrivals are likely to receive a batch of letters signed with such anonymity as "L. A. Booster," "From an Unknown Friend in God's Country" and such. And there will be pages of epistolary eulogies of the climate and scenery.

Yesterday morning I was walking in a rather select home section of Beverly with my dog. I stopped to admire a lawn of flowers. A white-haired gentleman came down from his awning porch and showed me another flower garden in the rear and invited me to share in a pitcher of lemonade. To an Easterner, that was impressive.

I often watch the aloofness of strangers thrown together in New York. It may take a magnum of gin to make them unbend. They laugh in suppressed little trills and shrink to far away corners. Here as soon as everybody arrives at a party they start right off laughing and talking familiarly. Whoopee!

From a special delivery letter: "How would you like to join us in a deep sea fishing trip? We all get deathly sick and everything."

Ain't you the one?

A curious commercial complexity is being ironed out in the compact business section of Los Angeles. Everybody owns—at least they've made a payment or so—an automobile and parking conditions are intolerable. So downtown shops are moving to the suburban districts where there is more room. Several of the big department stores are also to join the caravan and others are establishing branches in the residential area.

* * *

Gasoline stations are free information bureaus. Nobody asks a policeman a direction. Attendants are schooled in an extremely rare brand of courtesy. Every effort is made to win the stranger for competition in the industry is razor edge keen. Every few months there is a price war and motorists get their gas as cheap as 10 cents a gallon.

Los Angeles is filled with hotels of the type flourishing 20 years ago. Their lobbies are flush on the street with a row of window chairs to watch the passing parade. The clerk on duty and the key rack back of him are plainly visible from the street. In the evenings chairs are pulled out to the curb where the loungers in shirt sleeves continue their squatting until bed time.

The Peacock Alley of Los Angeles is in the Biltmore Hotel. A seat in it is somewhat like a chair in front of the Cafe de la Paix. Today while seated there a gentleman plopped beside me, and in California fashion began to converse. Suddenly his face took on the surprised expression you see in a flashlight photograph. Fifteen years ago I was one of 10 friends he touched for $150 to make us all rich. I think I was more confused than he as he hurried off.

* * *

I might say—in fact I will say it, I'm running this column—that in those days $150 represented almost the life savings for many of us. But we really owe him a big debt. We were cured of the desire to get rich quick.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

Prayer

THEY err who think that suppliant words
Make prayer; that, winging up like birds,
They soar to some celestial place
To seek an all-absolving grace
They err, for prayer means many things
That have no part in joyous wings.

Who cooks a meal for friends to share,
Who scrubs a floor, may make a prayer
If in her humble task she finds
Some vestige of the Love that binds
All men in unity of toil
Since Adam tilled the primal soil.

Not only from a candled shrine
Must supplication's incense twine;
But every kindly deed and thought
Of prayer's blest essences is wrought.
Each task well done, each toil men share,
Becomes an offering of prayer.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

IF YOU take pride in your work, you are doing something worth while.

If you are convinced that you can do your work a little better than the average in your line, you will rise above the average.

To have a high standard and work to keep it up is incentive to keep on trying.

If you are satisfied with the mediocre you will not advance beyond that point.

To be contented with results of that which requires the least possible thought and physical effort, produces of itself an obstacle hard to overcome.

Just as long as you keep your ideals fine and your ambition is for something above the ordinary, you are on the up-grade.

As soon as you reach the "what's-the-use" stage, you retrograde.

Effort which is only sufficient to get by is the first step toward failure.
